Violence In Congo

Students Assault U.S. Consulate In Elisabethville

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, the Congo (AP)—University students, shouting "Down with Kennedy!" and "Bash the consul's head in!" stormed into the grounds of the U.S. consulate today, ripped down the American flag and broke all the windows.

A small shack on the grounds was set afire and windows of Consul Jonathan Dean's parked car were broken by stones.

Dean and his staff watched the demonstration from a balcony but withdrew later to escape the rocks.

The students organized the demonstration after an announcement in New York that the United States will supply more military equipment to bolster the U.N. campaign to end Katanga's secession.

President Moise Tshombe's guards, called to the scene, dispersed the demonstrators. About 150 of the students, African and European, came back and broke through the police cordon again. They finally were scattered by a platoon of special police, but one of the demonstrators said, "There is not enough damage. We will be back."

The student attack came after anti-American blasts by Tshombe at a news conference at which he threatened again to "apply the scorched earth policy" in Katanga rather than give in to military pressure.

Dominicans Vote In Bid For Stability

Brief Riots Quelled As Country Ballots In Free Elections

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Dominicans by the thousands voted today in their first free election in 38 years. The turnout in the early hours of balloting appeared to dash predictions of a light vote.

The fledgling democracy was picking leaders to guide it in the next four years. The nation has been ruled by a provisional government since the fall of the Trujillo dictatorship in 1961.

Most Dominicans had hopes the election results, expected to be known by Christmas, would give the nation a Yule present of stable representative government after long years of dictatorship.

Despite trouble in the final days of the campaign, few police were on hand to maintain order. There are 500 electoral units throughout the country.

The closing campaign hours were marked Wednesday night by a brief outbreak of rioting in the capital. Riot police quickly restored order after three persons were injured by rocks.

Young agitators from the 14th of June Movement, a pro-Castro group, were in the middle of the rock-throwing, pistol-firing melee with followers of the conservative National Civic Union.

Dr. Viriato A. Fiallo, 67, of the Civic Union, and Juan Bosch, 53, of the left-of-center Dominican Revolutionary party, were leading candidates for president in a five-man contest.

Bosch was a narrow favorite. The chief question was whether his peasant followers had remained in his camp after a Jesuit priest made and retracted the charge that the party is Communistic. Bosch dropped demands for a postponement of the election when the charge was withdrawn.

The voters also balloted for a vice president, a Congress of 74 deputies and 26 senators, and local and city officials.

The Congress will draft a new constitution.

NATO Gets Review By 2 Leaders

'No Deadlock,' Say Reports As Parley Seeks Compromise

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — An overload of nuclear strategy problems centering about the British-American wrangle over the Skybolt missile has forced President Kennedy and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan to extend their little summit meeting for an additional day.

The two leaders were reported to have "some prospect of a compromise which will satisfy both sides" in the missile dispute. Their spokesmen said there definitely was no deadlock. But the spokesmen said the original two-day conference timetable had not proved sufficient for discussion of the Skybolt controversy, problems revolving about it and the whole spectrum of cold war issues.

Kennedy and Macmillan added morning and afternoon sessions Friday to their schedule. The President planned to leave about 5 p.m. Friday for Palm Beach. White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said a communique will be issued after the final session.

The reason for prolonging the conference, Salinger said, was "not just the Skybolt, but it is all of the NATO defense matters as well."

"There is no question that we are making good progress," Salinger said. "The agenda was just too great to be handled in two days."

Still to be discussed were such cold war matters as the aftermath of the Cuban crisis the Chinese-Indian conflict, Moscow's ideological battle with the Red Chinese and the variety of puzzles it presents.

Nuclear problems, Skybolt and the prospects of a new Soviet-sparked crisis in the Congo gobbled up the two leaders' time Wednesday. The most nagging question was Britain's resistance to U.S. plans to scrap Skybolt,

Burned Mail Returned For Identification

15 To 20 Pieces To Be Checked; Some To Be Forwarded

Some 15-20 pieces of mail, damaged when a mail truck en route from East Liverpool to Steubenville caught fire Tuesday night, are being returned here for postal workers to try to identify the senders, Postmaster Samuel W. Brown said today.

Two pieces were returned this morning and the remainder will be sent back as quickly as possible, the postmaster said.

Clerks were able to identify one of the senders as an Avondale St. family and it will be turned back to them so they can prepare it for remailing.

Other local mail in which the mailing addresses are distinguishable will be placed in franked envelopes at Steubenville and forwarded to their destinations, Brown said he was told by postal inspectors.

Local business firms have been contacted about the mail which was lost so they can check their correspondence and prepare duplicate copies for remailing, the postmaster continued.

The damaged mail from East Liverpool included about half a pouch of air mail and a pouch of

Rhodes Fills Highway Post

Masheter Selected Highway Director

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—P. E. Masheter of Columbus was appointed today as highway director in the administration of Gov.-Elect James A. Rhodes.

The 61-year-old director-designate served the highway department from 1923 to 1959, when he he left to open his own engineering consulting service.

Masheter will take over the $22,500 post Jan. 14, the day Rhodes will be inaugurated.

He is a native of Athens County and was reared in Fairfield County.

Masheter is a 1924 civil engineering graduate of Ohio State University. In 1929, he became assistant engineer of design and construction for the highway department in Chillicothe and in 1935, became engineer in charge of location and plans in the department's bureau of location and design.

In 1949, he became assistant construction engineer for the department and in 1957, was named deputy director of design and construction.

2 Appointed To Cabinet By Scranton

New Governor Fills Mine, Agriculture Positions For Staff

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Governor - elect William W. Scranton Wednesday appointed two new members of his cabinet, both on the faculty of Pennsylvania State University.

H. Beecher Charmbury, head of the university's Department of Mineral Preparation, will serve as Secretary of Mines.

Leland H. Bull, assistant director of Agriculture and Home Economics, will become Secretary of Agriculture.

Charmbury, 48, an expert on coal chemistry, is a native of Hanover. Bull, originally from Watertown, N. Y., has supervised extension activities in 17 western Pennsylvania counties.

They are scheduled to assume duties when Scranton takes office Jan. 15.

Chamber To Check Request For Plant

A request from a Steubenville man seeking a building for an industrial operation was received by Chester Council Wednesday night and referred to the East Liverpool Area Chamber of Commerce.

City Clerk Roy Cashdollar read a letter from S. D. Drake of Steubenville, who said he would employe over 500 unskilled men and women on a production line if he could acquire a building with 100,000 square feet of space with additional room for expansion.

E. R. Chandler, secretary-manager of the Chamber, said efforts will be made to contact Drake immediately.

Hancock Hearing Held

Commissioners' Dispute Now Has Dec. 28 Deadline

Circuit Judge Ralph E. Pryor Wednesday night set Dec. 28 at noon as the date for final briefs to be filed by counsel for Lyle Virden and James Finley, Hancock County commissioners, who seek a writ of mandamus against William C. Graham of Chester, president of the County Court, to compel him to sign checks for the purchase of two cruisers for the sheriff's department.

Judge Pryor set the deadline following an unusual 2½ - hour night session of Circuit Court in New Cumberland at which Atty. William Moore of Weirton, Graham's counsel, filed a 14-point demurrer and an answer to the mandamus petition.

The judge indicated he will make a decision by Dec. 31 when he leaves the Hancock County bench.

Graham's fellow commissioners filed for the writ for payment to the Hilltop Motor Sales Co. of Weirton for two Studebaker Lark cruisers.

According to the County Court's minutes, Hilltop Motors bid was $2,793.11 for 1963 model and $1,748 for the second cruiser with an allowance of $1,225.11 for a trade-in of a 1961 Chevrolet.

The Highland Motor Co. of Weirton offered Pontiac cruisers to the county with a bid of $2,900 for a 1963 model and $1,800 for the second vehicle with the trade-in of the present cruiser.

The bids were submitted Sept. 4 and Virden and Finley voted that the offer of Hilltop Motors be accepted. Graham apparently was absent as his vote is not recorded in court records.

Graham, commissioner for more than 16 years, has objected that

Colder Weather Due With White Yule Seen

Prospects for a White Christmas are brighter with cold weather due to return with light snow Friday.

Any appreciable amounts of snow that may fall tomorrow could be preserved for the holidays as the colder temperatures apparently will last for several days.

Only dirty patches of snow remain from the heavy snow of two weeks ago as temperatures ranged into the 50's Wednesday. The overnight low was a freezing 32.

The new cold spell, setting the stage for the official arrival of winter Saturday, will move into the district this afternoon, accompanied by winds. The mercury may tumble to the 20's this afternoon then drop to a low range of 14 by tomorrow morning.

T-Agents Hit 'Pay' Pinball Over Nation

Raids Made To Get Stamp Revenue Not Paid By Operators

WASHINGTON (AP) — Internal revenue men have stormed into club rooms, taverns and amusement halls across the nation in a series of raids that netted hundreds of pay-off pinball machines.

The Internal Revenue Service said Wednesday night its agents had seized 648 machines in raids on 448 establishments. The crackdown came in 112 cities in 20 states.

Tax agents confiscated machines which did not bear $250 federal gambling tax stamps. A federal court in Kansas last April upheld an IRS regulation declaring the existence of pinball devices without the gambling stamp violated the law. Before that decision, the government had to get evidence of a payoff to move against pinball machines.

In Wednesday's raids, agents seized 175 pinball devices in Galveston County, Tex., on the Gulf Coast; and 105 in more than 80 Virginia establishments.

They confiscated 82 pinball machines in raids on 50 spots in Illinois; 51 in the Pittsburgh, Pa., area and 27 in and around Philadelphia.

35 Machines Nabbed By IRS Men In Ohio

By The Associated Press

The U.S. Treasury Department, figuring it had $5,500 in federal wagering stamp taxes coming from the 22 establishments it hit, confiscated 35 pinball machines in five Ohio counties as part of Wednesday's nationwide raids.

Internal Revenue Service agents who took part in raids said each machine is valued at $750 to $1,600 and each one removed had been adapted to make payoffs. That made them gambling devices, but the agents said proprietors of the

Goodballet Sets Third Term Bid

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet announced today he will seek nomination for a third term in the Democratic primaries in May.

First to announce for the 1963 municipal elections, the mayor said he has obtained a petition for a ballot place at the County Election Board's office and it now is in circulation.

MAYOR Goodballet's second term will end Dec. 31, 1963. He became mayor Jan. 1, 1960, replacing Fred P. Lawrence. His second term began last Jan. 1.

The mayor's career in public service covers 19 years. He served in Council a total of 16 years—11 as First Ward councilman and five as president.

He was appointed Council president in 1952 by the late Mayor Arnold W. Devon, filling out a year in the unexpired term of W. A. Southan, who became a county commissioner. He was elected to two more terms as president.

Born in East Liverpool in 1904, he is a son of the late Conrad and Alice Reed Goodballet. He was employed 36 years at the Homer Laughlin China Co.

GOODBALLET first was elected to Council in 1938. He has served on the City Planning Commission, the War Rationing Board and the Municipal Civil Service Commission.

While a member of Council, he served for many years as chairman of the finance committee and a member of the Police Pension Board. Married and the father of three sons, he resides on Martin St.

Committee Reports

Oral Vaccine Use Urged By U.S.; 'Risk' Is Cited

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans are urged to use the Sabin oral vaccine against polio—but with a warning of a "very small risk" for adults.

The report came Wednesday from U.S. Surgeon General Luther L. Terry and his special advisory committee on the vaccine which for months has been pondering the question of hazard.

Committee experts estimated the chances at a million to one that the vaccine's live viruses might cause paralytic polio in persons of all ages. The odds, they said, were only slightly higher for adults, especially for those over 30.

Terry and the committee urged communities to go on with planned vaccination programs with the three types of Sabin living viruses, with special emphasis on vaccination of children and young adults.

"In the oral (Sabin) and Salk (injected) vaccines we have two established weapons against polio, and we can, I believe, look forward to the day when polio is finally eliminated in this country," Terry said in a statement.

"With a total of around 650 cases reported this year, compared to almost 58,000 a decade ago (when vaccines were not available), it is clear we are well on our way," he said.

On Sept. 15 and again on Oct. 2, the special panel on the Sabin vaccine reported the problem that some cases of polio appeared to

Donovan Set To Push Barter For Prisoners

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Will a mounting stack of American drugs and food buy freedom for 1,113 Cubans held prisoner by Fidel Castro since their 1961 invasion failed to liberate their homeland?

James B. Donovan, the man who may have the answer, plans to return to Havana today after a flight to Miami. Donovan, a New York attorney, is the chief negotiator for the Cuban Prisoner Families Committee. He has said previously he hopes to free the men by Christmas.

He expressed continuing optimism before departing Havana for a quick trip to Miami Wednesday night. Donovan said he had submitted to Castro a preliminary list of medicines and drugs already contributed to the American Red Cross for shipment to Cuba.

Ash Spreader Bought For Chester's Use

Council Authorizes New-Type Lights At Schools, Churches

Purchase of a cinder spreader for Chester streets and the installation of new mercury vapor lights at churches and schools were authorized at a meeting of Council Wednesday night.

The spreader was obtained from the Brinker Equipment Co. of Pittsburgh for $337.

Fred Brinker of the firm explained the operation of the spreader, which is pulled by a truck and scatters cinders through a chute at an adjustable width.

He said the spreader will reduce the time required for ashing icy streets by 75 per cent over shovel methods, would provide a more even distribution and need less cinders.

Councilman Carl Graham chairman of the street committee, said he believes the equipment would be a "big help" in the job of cindering the town.

The spreader was delivered last night, and will be available for operation later this week.

Council also voted to replace ten 250 - endlepower lights at churches and schools with 700 - cnndlepower mercury lights, at a cost of about $260 more a year.

Councilmen said the additional illumination will be an asset to the community and provide more convenience and protection for

Burglars Fail To Get $1,800 'Yule Bonus'

Burglars fled with a clock and a camera from the F. J. Dando Fire Brick Co. at Hammondsville Wednesday night as their reward for prying open a safe — but overlooked $1,800 in cash scheduled to be paid to employes as a Christmas bonus.

Jefferson County deputy sheriffs said the money included $150 in a petty cash drawer and $1,650 in new bills wrapped in paper and unmarked.

The safecrackers picked a lock to gain entry to the office and then used a large die taken from a toolshed adjoining the office to pry open the 8-foot upright safe containing drawers and compartments, deputies said.

The burglary was discovered at 11:30 p. m. Wednesday by Myron Coleman, co-owner of the plant, and his wife.

Driver's Foot Slips, Causes 3-Way Crash

A Salineville man's foot slipped off the brake of his auto Wednesday afternoon in East End, causing a crash that damaged his car heavily and resulted in less severe loss to two other cars, police said.

There was heavy damage to the front of a 1962 model two-door driven by Paul Clapsadle, 46, of 8 Lincoln St., Salineville, officers said.

In the crash at 2:33 p. m. on Pennsylvania Ave. near Virginia Ave., there also was damage to a 1951 model auto operated by Paul Jarvis, 42, of 302½ Broadway, Wellsville, and a 1957 model station wagon driven by Thurman Spurlock, 38, of Shadyside Ave., police said.

The Jarvis and Spurlock cars were stopped in a line of traffic when Clapsadle's auto hit Spurlock's and drove it forward into the Jarvis auto, police said. There was damage to the rear of the Jarvis car and both bumpers of the Spurlock car. All three were headed east.

Hancock Hearing Held

Commissioners' Dispute Now Has Dec. 28 Deadline

Circuit Judge Ralph E. Pryor Wednesday night set Dec. 28 at noon as the date for final briefs to be filed by counsel for Lyle Virden and James Finley, Hancock County commissioners, who seek a writ of mandamus against William C. Graham of Chester, president of the County Court, to compel him to sign checks for the purchase of two cruisers for the sheriff's department.

Judge Pryor set the deadline following an unusual 2½ - hour night session of Circuit Court in New Cumberland at which Atty. William Moore of Weirton, Graham's counsel, filed a 14-point demurrer and an answer to the mandamus petition.

The judge indicated he will make a decision by Dec. 31 when he leaves the Hancock County bench.

Graham's fellow commissioners filed for the writ for payment to the Hilltop Motor Sales Co. of Weirton for two Studebaker Lark cruisers.

According to the County Court's minutes, Hilltop Motors bid was $2,793.11 for 1963 model and $1,748 for the second cruiser with an allowance of $1,225.11 for a trade-in of a 1961 Chevrolet.

The Highland Motor Co. of Weirton offered Pontiac cruisers to the county with a bid of $2,900 for a 1963 model and $1,800 for the second vehicle with the trade-in of the present cruiser.

T-Agents Hit 'Pay' Pinball Over Nation

Raids Made To Get Stamp Revenue Not Paid By Operators

WASHINGTON (AP) — Internal revenue men have stormed into club rooms, taverns and amusement halls across the nation in a series of raids that netted hundreds of pay-off pinball machines.

The Internal Revenue Service said Wednesday night its agents had seized 648 machines in raids on 448 establishments. The crackdown came in 112 cities in 20 states.

Tax agents confiscated machines which did not bear $250 federal gambling tax stamps. A federal court in Kansas last April upheld an IRS regulation declaring the existence of pinball devices without the gambling stamp violated the law. Before that decision, the government had to get evidence of a payoff to move against pinball machines.

In Wednesday's raids, agents seized 175 pinball devices in Galveston County, Tex., on the Gulf Coast; and 105 in more than 80 Virginia establishments.

They confiscated 82 pinball machines in raids on 50 spots in Illinois; 51 in the Pittsburgh, Pa., area and 27 in and around Philadelphia.

The mayor's career in public service covers 19 years. He served in Council a total of 16 years—11 as First Ward councilman and five as president.

He was appointed Council president in 1952 by the late Mayor Arnold W. Devon, filling out a year in the unexpired term of W. A. Southan, who became a county commissioner. He was elected to two more terms as president.

Born in East Liverpool in 1904, he is a son of the late Conrad and Alice Reed Goodballet. He was employed 36 years at the Homer Laughlin China Co.

GOODBALLET first was elected to Council in 1938. He has served on the City Planning Commission, the War Rationing Board and the Municipal Civil Service Commission.

While a member of Council, he served for many years as chairman of the finance committee and a member of the Police Pension Board. Married and the father of three sons, he resides on Martin St.

Committee Reports

Oral Vaccine Use Urged By U.S.; 'Risk' Is Cited

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans are urged to use the Sabin oral vaccine against polio—but with a warning of a "very small risk" for adults.

The report came Wednesday from U.S. Surgeon General Luther L. Terry and his special advisory committee on the vaccine which for months has been pondering the question of hazard.

Committee experts estimated the chances at a million to one that the vaccine's live viruses might cause paralytic polio in persons of all ages. The odds, they said, were only slightly higher for adults, especially for those over 30.

Terry and the committee urged communities to go on with planned vaccination programs with the three types of Sabin living viruses, with special emphasis on vaccination of children and young adults.

"In the oral (Sabin) and Salk (injected) vaccines we have two established weapons against polio, and we can, I believe, look forward to the day when polio is finally eliminated in this country," Terry said in a statement.

"With a total of around 650 cases reported this year, compared to almost 58,000 a decade ago (when vaccines were not available), it is clear we are well on our way," he said.

On Sept. 15 and again on Oct. 2, the special panel on the Sabin vaccine reported the problem that some cases of polio appeared to

Donovan Set To Push Barter For Prisoners

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Will a mounting stack of American drugs and food buy freedom for 1,113 Cubans held prisoner by Fidel Castro since their 1961 invasion failed to liberate their homeland?

James B. Donovan, the man who may have the answer, plans to return to Havana today after a flight to Miami. Donovan, a New York attorney, is the chief negotiator for the Cuban Prisoner Families Committee. He has said previously he hopes to free the men by Christmas.

He expressed continuing optimism before departing Havana for a quick trip to Miami Wednesday night. Donovan said he had submitted to Castro a preliminary list of medicines and drugs already contributed to the American Red Cross for shipment to Cuba.

Ash Spreader Bought For Chester's Use

Council Authorizes New-Type Lights At Schools, Churches

Purchase of a cinder spreader for Chester streets and the installation of new mercury vapor lights at churches and schools were authorized at a meeting of Council Wednesday night.

The spreader was obtained from the Brinker Equipment Co. of Pittsburgh for $337.

Fred Brinker of the firm explained the operation of the spreader, which is pulled by a truck and scatters cinders through a chute at an adjustable width.

He said the spreader will reduce the time required for ashing icy streets by 75 per cent over shovel methods, would provide a more even distribution and need less cinders.

Councilman Carl Graham chairman of the street committee, said he believes the equipment would be a "big help" in the job of cindering the town.

The spreader was delivered last night, and will be available for operation later this week.

Council also voted to replace ten 250 - cndlepower lights at churches and schools with 700 - cnndlepower mercury lights, at a cost of about $260 more a year.

Councilmen said the additional illumination will be an asset to the community and provide more convenience and protection for

Burglars Fail To Get $1,800 'Yule Bonus'

Burglars fled with a clock and a camera from the F. J. Dando Fire Brick Co. at Hammondsville Wednesday night as their reward for prying open a safe — but overlooked $1,800 in cash scheduled to be paid to employes as a Christmas bonus.

Jefferson County deputy sheriffs said the money included $150 in a petty cash drawer and $1,650 in new bills wrapped in paper and unmarked.

The safecrackers picked a lock to gain entry to the office and then used a large die taken from a toolshed adjoining the office to pry open the 8-foot upright safe containing drawers and compartments, deputies said.

The burglary was discovered at 11:30 p. m. Wednesday by Myron Coleman, co-owner of the plant, and his wife.

Driver's Foot Slips, Causes 3-Way Crash

A Salineville man's foot slipped off the brake of his auto Wednesday afternoon in East End, causing a crash that damaged his car heavily and resulted in less severe loss to two other cars, police said.

There was heavy damage to the front of a 1962 model two-door driven by Paul Clapsadle, 46, of 8 Lincoln St., Salineville, officers said.

In the crash at 2:33 p. m. on Pennsylvania Ave. near Virginia Ave., there also was damage to a 1951 model auto operated by Paul Jarvis, 42, of 302½ Broadway, Wellsville, and a 1957 model station wagon driven by Thurman Spurlock, 38, of Shadyside Ave., police said.

The Jarvis and Spurlock cars were stopped in a line of traffic when Clapsadle's auto hit Spurlock's and drove it forward into the Jarvis auto, police said. There was damage to the rear of the Jarvis car and both bumpers of the Spurlock car. All three were headed east.

An auto drifted out of a privately-owned parking lot at W. 5th

Water Authority Buys Chemicals

The Midland Municipal Authority Wednesday night approved contracts totaling $23,645.50 for chemicals for next year and authorized payment of $250 costs for a $25,000 guarantee towards purchase of a second parking lot.

The chemicals were purchased on bids recommended by Granville Kester, Michael Baker Jr., Inc. consulting engineer, of Rochester.

ONE HUNDRED tons of lime was purchased from Macin of Ellwood City for $2,022. The remainder of the chemicals were purchased through Opalco Laboratories of McKeesport. They are: 2,000 pounds of sodium chlorite $1,025; 1,000 pounds of aluminum sulphate, $2,420; 25 tons of activated carbon, $4,024.50; 340 150-pound cylinders of liquid chlorine, $3,230; 16-one ton cylinders of liquid chlorine, $1,520; 240 100-pound units of potassium permanganate, $8,064; and 100 100-pound units of sodium hexametaphosphate, $1,340.

In paying bills, approval was also given for payment of costs of a $25,000 bond to guarantee payment the courts may set for two lots of the Angelina Sferra estate.

THE AUTHORITY had the two lots condemned at a viewer's hearing Dec. 4 and plans to use them as a second parking lot in the business district. The 24-x100-foot lots are located next to the Steelworkers Building.

The $25,000 bond is about double the market value of the property. The authority gave Kester approval to ask bids for construction, which are to be opened at the February meeting.

Concerning the first metered parking lot constructed on Midland Ave. in the 800 block, Kester reported $1,100 is being withheld until the contractor cuts some curbs and installs bumper blocks.

R. E. Steebner, borough engineer, reported that the Kountz Equipment Co. of Pittsburgh will install meters on the lot as soon as weather permits. The meters arrived recently. Dr. Zanvel Sigal, chairman, and other authority members agreed that Kountz should be contacted to install the meters as soon as possible. The Baker firm was asked to supervise the installation.

Sigal reported arrow signs are being obtained for directing traffic into the lot from Midland Ave. and also to indicate the exit on Railroad Ave. He said bids will be asked for a larger sign, indicating authority parking.

Don Craik, manager, reported he had obtained bids from six companies, ranging from $92.50 to $155, for a fence to separate the parking lot and property of the Isaly Dairy store building. The bids were referred to Michael Baker Jr., Inc., for study and recommendation.

THE AUTHORITY also referred to the engineers for study and action, along with Atty. Robert Masters, solicitor, the matter of electrical service on buildings of Lester's Bakery and the dairy store which are on the parking lot property. The owner of the dairy building has given permission for a service line to run across part of the store property to the light for the lot.

Kester, also reported on additional work for the grit chamber at the sewage treatment plant and on the new hi-service pump at the water department.

Craik submitted names of 38 persons delinquent in their water bills. Their water has already been shut off. Craik asked that their names be taken from the books. Dr. Sigal asked that Craik and Atty. Masters go over the names and the list will be acted on at the next meeting Jan. 16.

IT WAS pointed out that some of the bills might be paid if the authority posts the name and $10 with a justice of the peace for collection.

A list of 16 complaints and six recommendations, concerning the operation of the sewage treatment plant, as submitted by the two operators, will be discussed at a special meeting to be set later. Councilmen are expected to meet with the authority members also concerning the matter.

Danny Orlando and Sam Jarovich, operators, were present and asked if they might attend a meeting on the complaints and recommendations.

Rudolph Presutti, labor chairman, reported some progress is being made in contract talks with the representative of the water department employes' union. He said a special meeting of the authority and the representative will be set later. The contract covering about 10 employes expired Oct. 1.

APPROVAL was given to ask Snodgrass & Co. of Pittsburgh to make an annual audit of the authority's books in January. The organization meeting is set for Jan. 10.

The authority has received no official word yet concerning its request for a $140,000 grant under the federal accelerated public works program for a proposed expansion of the water department.

Mail

mail for Harrisburg, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York state and some New England states. No parcel post from the East Liverpool office was included in the loss.

The air mail was the residue of mail deposited at the local office between 4 and 6 p. m. Tuesday, Brown said.

Two pouches of air mail and two full sacks of air parcel post had been sent to Chester prior to the truck's departure for forwarding to Pittsburgh.

An estimated 10 sacks of mail from this area were damaged but it was only a small portion of the load carried by the leased truck driven by William Bowersock of Steubenville R. D. 1 when the fire was discovered about two miles south of Toronto.

Bowersock had loaded 115 sacks of parcel post and 35 pounches of first class mail here and had also picked up mail in Wellsville, Salineville, Hammondsville and Irondale.

Although there's plenty of mail to process, the Christmas rush appears to be slackening, Brown said.

He suggested residents use air mail or special delivery for cards or parcels to be certain of delivery.

British Industry Puts Cork On Yule Parties

The Ford Motor Co., the Glaxo Pharmaceutical group, the Dunlop Tire Co. and several other major firms have told employes: No office whoopie this Christmas.

U.S. Plays Down Role In Cuban 'Deal'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration is playing a passive role onstage in the negotiations for the release of 1,113 Bay of Pigs prisoners, but it is moving with full force behind the scenes.

The involvement of the U.S. government in the negotiations can be demonstrated by any close check of the statements and activities of negotiators and government officials since negotiations began shortly after the abortive invasion of Cuba in April 1961.

Reports from Havana indicate the negotiators may be very close to securing the release of the Cubans captured in the U.S.-directed invasion. Fidel Castro, in exchange for 53-million worth of food, drugs and equipment, may send the men back to the United States before Christmas.

President Kennedy has tried to disassociate himself from the negotiating committee's efforts. "This is being done by the private committee," he said at his Dec. 12 news conference, "and I am very sympathetic to their efforts."

But the committee, to stage the kind of operation the exchange involves, would need more than sympathy from the President.

The American Red Cross has reported that railroads, airlines and trucking firms are working round-the-clock to push the thousands of pounds of food and medicine into Florida for quick shipment to Cuba in case the deal is completed.

There have been reports that the President's brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, is directing the government operation in support of the committee and its chief negotiator, lawyer James B. Donovan.

In New York, business sources said that Atty. Gen. Kennedy had made the requests for some of the food and drugs being readied for shipment to Cuba.

These sources said Kennedy described himself as acting as a private person, rather than as an administration official. Kennedy told the sources they said, that the operation had the full support of the President but there were legal objections to his direct participation.

They said the attorney general also told them Castro might raise his price if he believed the government, rather than private parties, was supplying the food and drugs.

Edwin Guthman, public information officer for the Justice Department, acknowledged Wednesday night that it and the Internal Revenue Service made staff members available to advise lawyers working with Donovan on tax questions and similar matters.

"We have been expediting rulings and assisting it in an advisory way, but it is entirely a committee operation," he said.

Guthman was asked for comment after Dr. Arnold Beckman, president of Beckman Instrument Co. of Fullerton, Calif., said a Washington attorney called him from the Justice Department and asked for $60,000 worth of equipment.

Beckman called the exchange "Castro blackmail—not in keeping with the dignity of the United States."

Guthman said private lawyers working on the exchange had used Justice Department phones, but that the committee would pay for the calls.

Beckman said some of the requested instruments have been considered of strategic importance and shouldn't be sent to a Communist country. Guthman commented that any goods that might be sent to Cuba would be cleared first by the Commerce Department.

Drug industry sources said in New York initial contacts on the exchange were made with individual companies in October by Donovan.

Lincoln White, press officer of the State Department, declined comment Monday when asked if the government itself was donating money or food or drugs to the negotiating committee.

The Internal Revenue Service ruled Wednesday night that any person or any firm that donates medicine or food in the prisoner exchange may list the value as a charity tax deduction.

Hancock

the bids submitted by Hilltop can be beat by some $600 by more competitive bidding.

Graham claims there is a market difference in price of about $500 between Studebaker Larks offered by Hilltop and Pontiacs offered by Highland Motors — yet the bids are virtually the same.

Most of the contentions of both Moore and Prosecutor Floyd R. Tarr contain technicalities of law and hinge on interpretation of the state code.

At a hearing last Friday, Tarr contended that once two members of the County Court agree upon a decision to make a purchase the president has only the administrative duty to sign the checks and has no authority to prohibit the purchase.

However, Moore's demurrer, which was read to the court in its entirety, contends four basic points.

Judge Pryor said the main contention in the demurrer is that Virden and Finley made their decision to purchase the cruisers after the regular meeting on Sept. 4 was adjourned and without the knowledge of Graham.

The other three contentions are: That a 1961 Chevrolet cruiser, which was offered to Hilltop Motors as a trade - in on the new cruisers, is valued at more than $1,000 and therefore must be sold at a public auction rather than traded.

That the mandamus suit should be brought into court by Hilltop instead of the two commissioners since the dealer is the only person who benefits from the outcome.

Whether the County Court has the authority to purchase cruisers for the sheriff's department, since the state code states the sheriff and deputies are to be compensated for each mile tey travel while doing their duties in their personal cars but makes no mention of whether the County Court should purchase cruisers.

Judge Pryor said he feels the whole case hinges on whether the meeting was adjourned before the vote to purchase the cruisers was taken or whether the vote was taken at a continuation of that day's regular meeting.

He said the County Court minutes are supposed to be signed by the county clerk. The judge said the minutes had the name typed rather than written.

The judge also said that if the minutes of the meeting are impeached it will necessitate testimony from Don Stewart, county clerk, as to what took place during the meeting.

Judge Pryor pointed out that the final briefs are being filed at noon on Dec. 28 so he can have time to make his decision on the case before the end of the year.

This is being done because Pryor will leave the Hancock County bench to be replaced for the next two years by Judge James McClure of Wheeling, the other First District judge.

Woman Faces Charge Of Abandoning Child

CINCINNATI (AP)—Mrs. Katherine Moore DeZarn faces trial on a child abandonment charge as a result of leaving her 23-month-old son with a babysitter for four months.

Hamilton County Common Pleas Court returned an indictment against Mrs. DeZarn Wednesday. She returned here from Beaumont, Texas, and was arrested when she tried to pick up the boy, Davey Moore, at the Welfare Department.

Dayton Dentist Killed When Auto Rams Pole

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A 30-year-old Dayton dentist was killed early today when the car in which he was a passenger struck a utility pole.

Police identified the victim as Dr. Philip C. Williams.

He was thrown from the car, police said, which was driven by Gary Girelach, 23, of Dayton. Police were holding Girelach for investigation.

THE AUTHORITY also referred to the engineers for study and action, along with Atty. Robert Masters, solicitor, the matter of electrical service on buildings of Lester's Bakery and the dairy store which are on the parking lot property. The owner of the dairy building has given permission for a service line to run across part of the store property to the light for the lot.

Kester, also reported on additional work for the grit chamber at the sewage treatment plant and on the new hi-service pump at the water department.

Craik submitted names of 38 persons delinquent in their water bills. Their water has already been shut off. Craik asked that their names be taken from the books. Dr. Sigal asked that Craik and Atty. Masters go over the names and the list will be acted on at the next meeting Jan. 16.

IT WAS pointed out that some of the bills might be paid if the authority posts the name and $10 with a justice of the peace for collection.

A list of 16 complaints and six recommendations, concerning the operation of the sewage treatment plant, as submitted by the two operators, will be discussed at a special meeting to be set later. Councilmen are expected to meet with the authority members also concerning the matter.

Danny Orlando and Sam Jarovich, operators, were present and asked if they might attend a meeting on the complaints and recommendations.

Rudolph Presutti, labor chairman, reported some progress is being made in contract talks with the representative of the water department employes' union. He said a special meeting of the authority and the representative will be set later. The contract covering about 10 employes expired Oct. 1.

APPROVAL was given to ask Snodgrass & Co. of Pittsburgh to make an annual audit of the authority's books in January. The organization meeting is set for Jan. 10.

The authority has received no official word yet concerning its request for a $140,000 grant under the federal accelerated public works program for a proposed expansion of the water department.

mail for Harrisburg, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York state and some New England states. No parcel post from the East Liverpool office was included in the loss.

The air mail was the residue of mail deposited at the local office between 4 and 6 p. m. Tuesday, Brown said.

Two pouches of air mail and two full sacks of air parcel post had been sent to Chester prior to the truck's departure for forwarding to Pittsburgh.

An estimated 10 sacks of mail from this area were damaged but it was only a small portion of the load carried by the leased truck driven by William Bowersock of Steubenville R. D. 1 when the fire was discovered about two miles south of Toronto.

Bowersock had loaded 115 sacks of parcel post and 35 pounches of first class mail here and had also picked up mail in Wellsville, Salineville, Hammondsville and Irondale.

Although there's plenty of mail to process, the Christmas rush appears to be slackening, Brown said.

He suggested residents use air mail or special delivery for cards or parcels to be certain of delivery.

British Industry Puts Cork On Yule Parties

LONDON (AP)—Big British industrial organizations have put the cork on office Christmas parties to cut down on drunken drivers.

The Ford Motor Co., the Glaxo Pharmaceutical group, the Dunlop Tire Co. and several other major firms have told employes: No office whoopie this Christmas.

U.S. Plays Down Role In Cuban 'Deal'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration is playing a passive role onstage in the negotiations for the release of 1,113 Bay of Pigs prisoners, but it is moving with full force behind the scenes.

The involvement of the U.S. government in the negotiations can be demonstrated by any close check of the statements and activities of negotiators and government officials since negotiations began shortly after the abortive invasion of Cuba in April 1961.

Reports from Havana indicate the negotiators may be very close to securing the release of the Cubans captured in the U.S.-directed invasion. Fidel Castro, in exchange for 53-million worth of food, drugs and equipment, may send the men back to the United States before Christmas.

President Kennedy has tried to disassociate himself from the negotiating committee's efforts. "This is being done by the private committee," he said at his Dec. 12 news conference, "and I am very sympathetic to their efforts."

But the committee, to stage the kind of operation the exchange involves, would need more than sympathy from the President.

The American Red Cross has reported that railroads, airlines and trucking firms are working round-the-clock to push the thousands of pounds of food and medicine into Florida for quick shipment to Cuba in case the deal is completed.

There have been reports that the President's brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, is directing the government operation in support of the committee and its chief negotiator, lawyer James B. Donovan.

In New York, business sources said that Atty. Gen. Kennedy had made the requests for some of the food and drugs being readied for shipment to Cuba.

These sources said Kennedy described himself as acting as a private person, rather than as an administration official. Kennedy told the sources they said, that the operation had the full support of the President but there were legal objections to his direct participation.

They said the attorney general also told them Castro might raise his price if he believed the government, rather than private parties, was supplying the food and drugs.

Edwin Guthman, public information officer for the Justice Department, acknowledged Wednesday night that it and the Internal Revenue Service made staff members available to advise lawyers working with Donovan on tax questions and similar matters.

"We have been expediting rulings and assisting it in an advisory way, but it is entirely a committee operation," he said.

Guthman was asked for comment after Dr. Arnold Beckman, president of Beckman Instrument Co. of Fullerton, Calif., said a Washington attorney called him from the Justice Department and asked for $60,000 worth of equipment.

Beckman called the exchange "Castro blackmail—not in keeping with the dignity of the United States."

Guthman said private lawyers working on the exchange had used Justice Department phones, but that the committee would pay for the calls.

Beckman said some of the requested instruments have been considered of strategic importance and shouldn't be sent to a Communist country. Guthman commented that any goods that might be sent to Cuba would be cleared first by the Commerce Department.

Drug industry sources said in New York initial contacts on the exchange were made with individual companies in October by Donovan.

Lincoln White, press officer of the State Department, declined comment Monday when asked if the government itself was donating money or food or drugs to the negotiating committee.

The Internal Revenue Service ruled Wednesday night that any person or any firm that donates medicine or food in the prisoner exchange may list the value as a charity tax deduction.

Hancock

the bids submitted by Hilltop can be beat by some $600 by more competitive bidding.

Graham claims there is a market difference in price of about $500 between Studebaker Larks offered by Hilltop and Pontiacs offered by Highland Motors — yet the bids are virtually the same.

Most of the contentions of both Moore and Prosecutor Floyd R. Tarr contain technicalities of law and hinge on interpretation of the state code.

At a hearing last Friday, Tarr contended that once two members of the County Court agree upon a decision to make a purchase the president has only the administrative duty to sign the checks and has no authority to prohibit the purchase.

However, Moore's demurrer, which was read to the court in its entirety, contends four basic points.

Judge Pryor said the main contention in the demurrer is that Virden and Finley made their decision to purchase the cruisers after the regular meeting on Sept. 4 was adjourned and without the knowledge of Graham.

The other three contentions are: That a 1961 Chevrolet cruiser, which was offered to Hilltop Motors as a trade - in on the new cruisers, is valued at more than $1,000 and therefore must be sold at a public auction rather than traded.

That the mandamus suit should be brought into court by Hilltop instead of the two commissioners since the dealer is the only person who benefits from the outcome.

Whether the County Court has the authority to purchase cruisers for the sheriff's department, since the state code states the sheriff and deputies are to be compensated for each mile tey travel while doing their duties in their personal cars but makes no mention of whether the County Court should purchase cruisers.

Judge Pryor said he feels the whole case hinges on whether the meeting was adjourned before the vote to purchase the cruisers was taken or whether the vote was taken at a continuation of that day's regular meeting.

He said the County Court minutes are supposed to be signed by the county clerk. The judge said the minutes had the name typed rather than written.

The judge also said that if the minutes of the meeting are impeached it will necessitate testimony from Don Stewart, county clerk, as to what took place during the meeting.

Judge Pryor pointed out that the final briefs are being filed at noon on Dec. 28 so he can have time to make his decision on the case before the end of the year.

This is being done because Pryor will leave the Hancock County bench to be replaced for the next two years by Judge James McClure of Wheeling, the other First District judge.

Woman Faces Charge Of Abandoning Child

CINCINNATI (AP)—Mrs. Katherine Moore DeZarn faces trial on a child abandonment charge as a result of leaving her 23-month-old son with a babysitter for four months.

Hamilton County Common Pleas Court returned an indictment against Mrs. DeZarn Wednesday. She returned here from Beaumont, Texas, and was arrested when she tried to pick up the boy, Davey Moore, at the Welfare Department.

Dayton Dentist Killed When Auto Rams Pole

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A 30-year-old Dayton dentist was killed early today when the car in which he was a passenger struck a utility pole.

Police identified the victim as Dr. Philip C. Williams.

He was thrown from the car, police said, which was driven by Gary Girelach, 23, of Dayton. Police were holding Girelach for investigation.

Tshombe Has No Choice

The United Nations is turning on the heat to melt Katanga's resistance to being taken into the Leopoldville government. Cyrille Adoula, premier of the central government, and Moise Tshombe, president of Katanga province, will be back in the news again.

Tshombe has no choice but to fight for autonomy for his wealthy province, no matter how much pressure is turned on him by U.N. soldiers now receiving additional arms. He has everything to gain and nothing to lose by fighting, just as he had nothing to lose in 1960 when he led Katanga into secession.

He sees nothing to be gained by sharing either the poverty or the confusion of the Leopoldville government. He thinks the Congo is too large in its original form to be governed properly. He believes its leaders are too weak to govern it properly in any event. As the leader of the strongest and wealthiest province, he prefers to go it alone until the other provinces and their new central government have achieved stability.

The argument on the other side is that no stability can be achieved without funds and Katanga Province has all the money. If the United Nations, meaning the United States, would put up the money for a broad-scale war, Katanga Province could be subdued and the income from its mines split up among all the Congolese.

This might take strange forms. It is reported, for example, that with an empty treasury and teachers drawing no pay, the new breed of native leadership saw its way clear to vote $12,000 a year and expenses to all members of Parliament.

President Tshombe has no choice. He must fight. The United States, on the other hand, has a choice. It does not have to put up any more money to go with the $300 million it already has wasted in fruitless military adventures in the Congo. It can join the countries that have contributed nothing and do not intend to contribute anything.

Only When Profit Is Shared

The historic weakness of profit-sharing plans has been their inability to guarantee profits to share.

This will be as true of the proposed Kaiser Steel-United Steel Workers agreement for easing the pinch of automation as it has been of other plans.

The merit of the plan would be the incentive it gives to workers displaced by automation to retrain themselves for profitable production as quickly as they can, under employer auspices.

As they developed skill in new operations, their income would rise.

In no event would their income be allowed to fall below the minimums set in union contracts with Big Steel. So far so good. It is a step in the right direction to think of such a plan, and Kaiser Steel and its employes would be taking a step in the right direction if they put it into effect.

But not all employes will be retrainable on a profitable basis. Kaiser Steel has no guarantee it will bring down costs; automation is not that fool-proof. Nor does it have assurance it can satisfy the steel union if the union demands more whenever the agreement is renegotiated.

Hence, the historic weakness of profit-sharing, which looks attractive to employes only when there is profit to share and otherwise looks like an illusory carrot on a too-long stick.

Letter From Max

By Martin Miller

Dear Truman Twill:

You have known me long enough to know I always try to do things the easy way. I have one of the world's biggest collections of labor-saving gadgets. Why break your back or finger if you can get a machine to break its back or finger?

Where do people get off saying, "As long as we have machines we will need people to keep the machines running right"?

What they mean is, "As long as we have people we will need machines to keep the people running right."

The fondest hopes of the industrial revolution have long since been surpassed, and this is only the beginning.

You get up when the alarm goes off, go to bed when the clock says it is time to, and your every action is improved by some sort of machine in between times.

You drive to work in a jalopy. When you get to work you punch a time clock, then you make like a typewriter jockey with one eye on the time.

This started when the second cave man borrowed the first cave man's club to use as a lever to move a boulder from the mouth of the cave.

From that early day, things kept getting better. Someone even put a whistle on a tea kettle for people who couldn't tell when the water was boiling.

Automobiles have special lights that flash to tell homo sapiens when he is exceeding the speed limit.

You look at the thermostat to see if you are warm enough.

Only primitive peoples use knives to sharpen pencils. The civilized use pencil sharpeners, and the most civilized use electric ones.

As for that malarkey about people being necessary to keep machines going: how many times has your alarm clock or clock radio come on at dawn on your day off when you forgot to turn it off the night before? So who's smarter?

You get your finger smashed when the screen door closes but the screen door was doing its job and it was your error. Any way you look at it, machines do their job better than humans and that is why we grouse so much about mechanization. You would like to be able to sew as fancy and fast as a sewing machine.

Don't worry about Frankenstein; he wants to be friendly. All you have to worry about is being brainy enough not to mash your thumb in his mechanism.

And this has not even mentioned another great field: Cosmetics and a multitude of devices to enhance the human silhouette. Men employ the simplest of artifices, such as padded shoulders, to make them look more like men, but women employ fiendishly complex contrivances to make them look more like women.

In the spirit of the season, here's wishing you all the best for Christmas, and knowing your penchant for things mechanical may Santa bring you what you've always wanted; an electric train.

Faithfully yours,
MAX

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: Every Christmas we get a letter from you wondering if things were as purely wonderful in your boyhood as you think they were.

They were. You can quit wondering. We were there and witnessed the whole thing. Your childhood was wonderful from beginning to end.

It was uncomplicated.

It was just a little short of austere.

Every point of pleasure in it stuck up a mile high because no one was making sure you had a good time.

You were not underprivileged, though you would think you were underprivileged if you had to live the same way now.

You lived in a typical lower middle class environment. You had no one to envy and no one to hate. As you have told us, you never knew there was racial and religious prejudice until you grew up. You never saw any of it practiced around here. To this day, we're like some of those small New England towns where prejudice is unknown because nobody's afraid.

Christmas shopping was not a binge but a gesture of love and respect. It didn't matter what was given as a gift but it mattered that some gift be given. Your aunt and I can remember when a pen-wiper you made in school was as appreciated as if it had been an ermine wrap.

People listened to the bells ring on Christmas Eve. Our music was homemade. We sang our own carols. We popped our own popcorn and made our own candy.

It was a simple, logical, functional, no-frills way to live. No one who participated in it could say his appetite was jaded or the world had lost its savor.

The present was livable and the best was yet to be better. We went in for plain living and high thinking. No one had thought of affluent living. Most of us were still finding it hard to believe America was achieving a rising standard of living.

The wonder of it all flabbergasted us.

If a kid got a pair of skates he hoped the pond would freeze solid; he didn't expect a skating rink.

And speaking of skates, I recall you always wanted shoe skates and never got any because the price put them beyond reach. You had to make do with clamp-on skates and nobody could make them stay on shoes with wet spongy soles.

Your mellowing auntie and I can remember when the biggest thing a kid expected at Christmas was an orange in the toe of his stocking. Yet today I hear about kids who think they've been short-changed on the affluent life if they get a middle-price bike instead of the de luxe model.

That's what made your boyhood seem wonderful. It truly was wonderful. America had learned how to live well but had not sated its appetite. It was the difference between sitting down to Christmas dinner and wondering afterward if there's room for Christmas pudding.

We'll arrive according to plan and don't bother with the step stool for the angel on the top of the tree. I'll fly up there and put her in place. I'm a Christmas Eve astronaut. Whee.

This and That

The first motel in the U.S. opened in 1926, and at present there are more than 60,000 of them open for business, with the prediction of more than 95,000 by 1970. The big reason for this boom is, of course, the automobile. A little more than 85 per cent of American vacationists and 71 per cent of businessmen travel by car.

The United States will see three total solar eclipses during the remainder of the 20th century — on July 20, 1963; on March 7, 1970, and on Feb. 26, 1979.

Bone Of Contention

Former Anti-Nazi Heads Labor Unit

By Victor Riesel

GENEVA

A few years ago in Dusseldorf, Germany, I dined with a family named Marx. It was Friday night in a Jewish home. We ate the traditional dumpling-filled soup and boiled chicken. There were no lights. Only the flickering glow of the candles.

Victor Riesel

Later my host and I walked out amid the wreckage of an industrial city still partially in the ruins left by our bombers. I asked why he had returned. To publish a little paper, he said. For whom, I asked. For some 30,000 Jewish folk to whom Germany once had been a home. They, too, had returned. The next morning I visited another who had come back.

I met him in the dramatically modern new building of the DGB (Deutscher Gewerkschaftsbund). This is the German Trade Union Federation. The man I saw that morning was a handsome, witty, easy-to-talk-with intellectual, Ludwig Rosenberg.

HE WAS CHAIRMAN, then of the DGB, Department of Economic Policy. Over the years the interview with Ludwig Rosenberg blended with the fading memories of a thousand stories across the world.

But here in Geneva some labor people mentioned him. I inquired of his activities. The news of him was surprising and good.

Ludwig Rosenberg, son of a Jewish merchant, once a refugee from Hitler's Gestapo, director during the war of a London-headquartered underground operation, has just been elected president of the DGB. This is a powerful labor federation. It has 6½ million members.

What is most surprising is that Mr. Rosenberg was chosen at the DGB triennial convention in Hanover by 373 out of 411 votes. This is the greatest majority ever cast for a DGB president.

STILL MORE surprising is the fact that Mr. Rosenberg has no real trade union power base inside the DGB. His predecessor, Willi Richter, for example, had a strong following in Frankfurt before and after Hitler. But Mr. Rosenberg comes from a small office workers union. In fact, he has spent many of his years working for the DGB national headquarters itself.

During those years, under the guidance of Rosenberg and others in the DGB leadership, the labor federation abandoned the class struggle, junked its Socialist philosophy and became a strong reform movement.

Rosenberg, himself, is not a Socialist. Liken his beliefs rather to the social welfare policies of some of the Scandinavian nations.

THROUGHOUT the formative period of the post-Hitler era, the DGB showed great responsibility. For years it dispatched letters to its affiliated unions urging them to be circumspect in their demands on the burgeoning German industries. For years the economic policy of the DBG was to avoid bargaining German industrialism and the government into inflation.

When the DBG had national conventions, the fraternal delegates from other European labor movements assailed it for not calling more strikes, or making heavier demands on the employers. But the DGB was determined to keep its home country competitive. And it did. Now with Germany in fantastic prosperity, the working people will get more and more.

All this is not meant to insinuate that West Germany is a paradise. But some of those who have returned, have returned to leadership. And look across the Berlin Wall. Look into the East German government. There in the Soviet zone, you will find at least 500 men who were high indeed in Hitler's cadres and who are East German Communist government leaders today.

THERE ARE among the 500 such men as Willi Stoph, now Communist deputy prime minister of East Germany. During the Nazi days, he wrote glowingly of the Reichwehr in which he served.

There is Dr. Herbert Kroger, now director of Walter Ulbricht's Academy for Political and Legal Sciences in Babelsberg. Dr. Kroger served under Heinrich Himmler as a Nazi state judge. He decreed the expropriation of the property of anti-Nazis in Wriezen. He was a Nazi judge too in Frankfurt, Berlin, and Neustadt.

There is former Nazi SS. Lt. Col. Kurt Lange. He now is on the staff of the ministry of state security — the secret police which he helped set up for the Communists.

It is a narrow wall which slices Berlin. But the worlds on either side are far apart.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — The East Liverpool District Boy Scout Council elected W. C. Hultz chairman for 1933.

A campaign to buy American-made products in an effort to aid home industry was launched by American Legion Post 4.

L. P. Perry was elected president of the Hillcrest Community Club.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Mrs. Pearl McCoy of 3rd St., Chester, entertained members of the Senior Women's Club with a Christmas tea.

East Liverpool's tax rate for 1942 was $18.60 per thousand, an increase of 35 cents a thousand over the 1941 rate.

TEN YEARS AGO — Clair Williams, East Liverpool football star, was voted the "outstanding opponent" by Sandusky High during the 1952 season.

The Poinsettia

The poinsettia is blooming on acres of gift-wrapping paper, greeting cards, and window ledges.

Unlike such ancient and traditional Christmas symbols as holly and mistletoe, the red and green poinsettia originated in tropical America.

Joel Robert Poinsett, who went to Mexico in 1825 as the first United States minister there, so admired the wild scarlet plant that he brought the first specimens to the United States. He successfully grew them on his estate at Charleston, South Carolina.

It was later found that a German botanist, Karl Ludwig Willdenow, already had described and catalogued the plant as Euphorbia pulcherrima, or "the very beautiful Euphorbia". But the popular name poinsettia stuck.

Other countries call it the Fireplant, Mexican Flame Leaf, Shepherdess and Lobster Plant.

Promotion of the potted poinsettia as a special Christmas plant was begun in 1911 by Paul Ecke of San Diego County, Calif. The 400-acre Ecke ranch is today the world's largest poinsettia farm.

More than 90 per cent of all Unted States commercial poinsettias are grown in San Diego County.

Without Regret

By David Lawrence

Kennedy Maintains Position On Steel Prices

President Kennedy has dashed cold water on the hopes of businessmen generally for a better relationship with the administration. He now says that, if he had it to do all over again, he would act exactly as he did in the controversy over steel prices in April of this year. This means he condones the use of coercive measures — threatening to withdraw defense contracts, hauling the steel companies before a federal grand jury, sending out FBI men to wake up newsmen to elicit from them what steel executives might previously have said about prices. It was this whole series of tragic blunders that led to a break in the stock market and a downturn in American business, as tens of thousands of workers were forced out of jobs in the steel industry alone.

David Lawrence

Is the President merely disinclined for reasons of pride to concede when he has made an error? Or does he really feel as hostile to business today as he did in the steel episode? Is this an indication of what could happen again?

What the President said over television and radio on the three major networks on Monday night was not refuted before the big audience and only one side of the story was given to the American people.

HERE, IN FULL text, is what Mr. Kennedy said about the steel dispute:

"Though I don't like to rake over old fires, I think it would have been a serious situation if I had not attempted, with all my influence, to try to get a rollback (of prices) because there was an issue of good faith involved. The steel union had accepted the most limited settlement that they had had since the end of the second war. They had accepted it three or four months ahead. They did it in part, I think, because I said that we could not afford another inflationary spiral, that it would affect our competitive position abroad. So they signed up. And then when their last contract was signed, which was the Friday or Saturday before, then steel put its prices up immediately.

"It seemed to me that the question of good faith was involved, and that if I had not attempted, after asking the unions to accept the noninflationary settlement, if I had not attempted to use my influence to have the companies hold their prices stable, I think the unions could have rightly felt that they had been misled.

"In my opinion, it would have endangered the whole bargaining between labor and management, would have made it impossible for us to exert any influence from the public point of view in the future on these great labor-management disputes which do affect the public interest. So I have no regrets. The fact is, we were successful.

"Now, supposing we had tried and made a speech about it and then failed. I would have thought that would have been an awful setback to the office of the presidency. Now, I just think that, looking back on it, I would not change it at all. There's no sense in raising hell, and then not being successful. There's no sense in putting the office of the presidency on the line on an issue and then being defeated.

"Now, an unfortunate repercussion of that was the strong feeling that the government might interfere in a good many labor-management matters, or that it might interfere in the whole question of the free-enterprise system. It was regrettable that that general conclusion was drawn from this particular incident. Given the problem that I had on that Tuesday night, I must say I think we had to do everything we could to get it reversed."

WHAT ARE the facts? The President didn't give all of them. He didn't tell his audience that Roger Blough, head of the U.S. Steel Corp., did reveal in a published interview as early as Feb. 26 that there would have to be a price rise. Mr. Kennedy also didn't mention that the steel companies had granted wage increases for three years without an increase in their own prices.

The President argues that he was troubled by a "question of good faith." But "good faith" with whom?

He explains that he had persuaded the steel unions to accept a "noninflationary settlement." What did his promises to the labor unions have to do with the conditions faced by the companies, which were already in a "profit squeeze" due to three years of wage increases without any corresponding increase in prices?

So the President admits that, in order to please the unions, he used pressure to keep the steel companies from setting their own prices, though he had no authority under law to do so. As a consequence, steel production fell off and profits declined.

JUST THREE weeks ago — ON Dec. 3 — Joseph L. Block, chairman of Inland Steel Co., which refused to go along with the price increase announced by U.S. Steel and other companies, made a speech at Harvard University in which he reviewed what happened last April. He said:

"Like many others, I was shocked by the threatened use of coercive power in this situation, and fervently hope it will not happen again . . .

"The storm of public opposition to some of the methods used by the government to thwart the price increase may have — and I hope did — impressed governmental officials that these methods are not consistent with the concept of a free economy and should not be employed again."

But Mr. Kennedy now says:

"I have no regrets. . . . I just think that, looking back on it, I would not change it at all. There's no sense in raising hell, and then not being successful."

These are disquieting words from a president of the United States in a nationwide radio and television statement to the American people, and particularly to the businessmen who have been trying to regain the confidence so necessary in planning for the future of the American economy.

Lollipop Troubles

By Carolina Windisch—Graetz

NEW YORK

"Lollipops are more trouble than they are worth," complains Dr. Hedwig Denes, a Hungarian pediatrician. The children cry for a lollipop until it's time to go home. "But I want it now," screams the child with the mother joining in to keep him quiet. However, neither tears nor screams have ever broken the rule, but Dr. Denes wonders how the lollipop tradition was ever started among American doctors and dentists for as she says, "European children never expect anything."

The origin of the name "Lollipop" is a deep dark mystery although it has been familiar to English children and perhaps their parents for more than a 150 years. It only became known to American children in 1908 when the first confectionery machine to make lollipops was producing 40 a minute. The manufacturers were worried that they would make more lollipops in a week than they could sell in a year. However, they needn't have worried at all as a recent survey shows that more than two billion lollipops were eaten by children last year.

Most children's hospitals would rather give the youngsters anything but lollipops—since everything soon gets sticky—but nurses carry them in their pockets for special treats only. Many confectioners give monthly donations of lollipops to hospitals and in 1953 Mrs. Charles Berns established the Perpetual Lollipop Jar at Bellevue in the ward where most of the children have congenital heart disease.

The jar is never empty and Mrs. Berns has a standing order at Schrafft's for five pounds of lollipops every month.

With such a big demand, lollipops are getting more and more decorative and come in just about any flavor you can think of. They are often used to decorate birthday cakes, and they even make an instant lollipop set and a do-it-yourself tree.

Every year they grow bigger and bigger, either as Halloween witches and goblins or monster Christmas trees and chocolate coated Santa Clauses which are always useful for the top of Christmas stockings.

You may ask "Does a lollipop hurt my child's teeth?" The answer is "Yes," but not as much as chewing gum.

Tshombe Has No Choice

The United Nations is turning on the heat to melt Katanga's resistance to being taken into the Leopoldville government. Cyrille Adoula, premier of the central government, and Moise Tshombe, president of Katanga province, will be back in the news again.

Tshombe has no choice but to fight for autonomy for his wealthy province, no matter how much pressure is turned on him by U.N. soldiers now receiving additional arms. He has everything to gain and nothing to lose by fighting, just as he had nothing to lose in 1960 when he led Katanga into secession.

He sees nothing to be gained by sharing either the poverty or the confusion of the Leopoldville government. He thinks the Congo is too large in its original form to be governed properly. He believes its leaders are too weak to govern it properly in any event. As the leader of the strongest and wealthiest province, he prefers to go it alone until the other provinces and their new central government have achieved stability.

The argument on the other side is that no stability can be achieved without funds and Katanga Province has all the money. If the United Nations, meaning the United States, would put up the money for a broad-scale war, Katanga Province could be subdued and the income from its mines split up among all the Congolese.

This might take strange forms. It is reported, for example, that with an empty treasury and teachers drawing no pay, the new breed of native leadership saw its way clear to vote $12,000 a year and expenses to all members of Parliament.

President Tshombe has no choice. He must fight. The United States, on the other hand, has a choice. It does not have to put up any more money to go with the $300 million it already has wasted in fruitless military adventures in the Congo. It can join the countries that have contributed nothing and do not intend to contribute anything.

Only When Profit Is Shared

The historic weakness of profit-sharing plans has been their inability to guarantee profits to share.

This will be as true of the proposed Kaiser Steel-United Steel Workers agreement for easing the pinch of automation as it has been of other plans.

The merit of the plan would be the incentive it gives to workers displaced by automation to retrain themselves for profitable production as quickly as they can, under employer auspices.

As they developed skill in new operations, their income would rise.

In no event would their income be allowed to fall below the minimums set in union contracts with Big Steel. So far so good. It is a step in the right direction to think of such a plan, and Kaiser Steel and its employes would be taking a step in the right direction if they put it into effect.

But not all employes will be retrainable on a profitable basis. Kaiser Steel has no guarantee it will bring down costs; automation is not that fool-proof. Nor does it have assurance it can satisfy the steel union if the union demands more whenever the agreement is renegotiated.

Hence, the historic weakness of profit-sharing, which looks attractive to employes only when there is profit to share and otherwise looks like an illusory carrot on a too-long stick.

Letter From Max

By Martin Miller

Dear Truman Twill:

You have known me long enough to know I always try to do things the easy way. I have one of the world's biggest collections of labor-saving gadgets. Why break your back or finger if you can get a machine to break its back or finger?

Where do people get off saying, "As long as we have machines we will need people to keep the machines running right"?

What they mean is, "As long as we have people we will need machines to keep the people running right."

The fondest hopes of the industrial revolution have long since been surpassed, and this is only the beginning.

You get up when the alarm goes off, go to bed when the clock says it is time to, and your every action is improved by some sort of machine in between times.

You drive to work in a jalopy. When you get to work you punch a time clock, then you make like a typewriter jockey with one eye on the time.

This started when the second cave man borrowed the first cave man's club to use as a lever to move a boulder from the mouth of the cave.

From that early day, things kept getting better. Someone even put a whistle on a tea kettle for people who couldn't tell when the water was boiling.

Automobiles have special lights that flash to tell homo sapiens when he is exceeding the speed limit.

You look at the thermostat to see if you are warm enough.

Only primitive peoples use knives to sharpen pencils. The civilized use pencil sharpeners, and the most civilized use electric ones.

As for that malarkey about people being necessary to keep machines going: how many times has your alarm clock or clock radio come on at dawn on your day off when you forgot to turn it off the night before? So who's smarter?

You get your finger smashed when the screen door closes but the screen door was doing its job and it was your error. Any way you look at it, machines do their job better than humans and that is why we grouse so much about mechanization. You would like to be able to sew as fancy and fast as a sewing machine.

Don't worry about Frankenstein; he wants to be friendly. All you have to worry about is being brainy enough not to mash your thumb in his mechanism.

And this has not even mentioned another great field: Cosmetics and a multitude of devices to enhance the human silhouette. Men employ the simplest of artifices, such as padded shoulders, to make them look more like men, but women employ fiendishly complex contrivances to make them look more like women.

In the spirit of the season, here's wishing you all the best for Christmas, and knowing your penchant for things mechanical may Santa bring you what you've always wanted; an electric train.

Faithfully yours,
MAX

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: Every Christmas we get a letter from you wondering if things were as purely wonderful in your boyhood as you think they were.

They were. You can quit wondering. We were there and witnessed the whole thing. Your childhood was wonderful from beginning to end.

It was uncomplicated.

It was just a little short of austere.

Every point of pleasure in it stuck up a mile high because no one was making sure you had a good time.

You were not underprivileged, though you would think you were underprivileged if you had to live the same way now.

You lived in a typical lower middle class environment. You had no one to envy and no one to hate. As you have told us, you never knew there was racial and religious prejudice until you grew up. You never saw any of it practiced around here. To this day, we're like some of those small New England towns where prejudice is unknown because nobody's afraid.

Christmas shopping was not a binge but a gesture of love and respect. It didn't matter what was given as a gift but it mattered that some gift be given. Your aunt and I can remember when a pen-wiper you made in school was as appreciated as if it had been an ermine wrap.

People listened to the bells ring on Christmas Eve. Our music was homemade. We sang our own carols. We popped our own popcorn and made our own candy.

It was a simple, logical, functional, no-frills way to live. No one who participated in it could say his appetite was jaded or the world had lost its savor.

The present was livable and the best was yet to be better. We went in for plain living and high thinking. No one had thought of affluent living. Most of us were still finding it hard to believe America was achieving a rising standard of living.

The wonder of it all flabbergasted us.

If a kid got a pair of skates he hoped the pond would freeze solid; he didn't expect a skating rink.

And speaking of skates, I recall you always wanted shoe skates and never got any because the price put them beyond reach. You had to make do with clamp-on skates and nobody could make them stay on shoes with wet spongy soles.

Your mellowing auntie and I can remember when the biggest thing a kid expected at Christmas was an orange in the toe of his stocking. Yet today I hear about kids who think they've been short-changed on the affluent life if they get a middle-price bike instead of the de luxe model.

That's what made your boyhood seem wonderful. It truly was wonderful. America had learned how to live well but had not sated its appetite. It was the difference between sitting down to Christmas dinner and wondering afterward if there's room for Christmas pudding.

We'll arrive according to plan and don't bother with the step stool for the angel on the top of the tree. I'll fly up there and put her in place. I'm a Christmas Eve astronaut. Whee.

The first motel in the U.S. opened in 1926, and at present there are more than 60,000 of them open for business, with the prediction of more than 95,000 by 1970. The big reason for this boom is, of course, the automobile. A little more than 85 per cent of American vacationists and 71 per cent of businessmen travel by car.

The United States will see three total solar eclipses during the remainder of the 20th century — on July 20, 1963; on March 7, 1970, and on Feb. 26, 1979.

Bone Of Contention

Former Anti-Nazi Heads Labor Unit

By Victor Riesel

GENEVA

A few years ago in Dusseldorf, Germany, I dined with a family named Marx. It was Friday night in a Jewish home. We ate the traditional dumpling-filled soup and boiled chicken. There were no lights. Only the flickering glow of the candles.

Victor Riesel

Later my host and I walked out amid the wreckage of an industrial city still partially in the ruins left by our bombers. I asked why he had returned. To publish a little paper, he said. For whom, I asked. For some 30,000 Jewish folk to whom Germany once had been a home. They, too, had returned. The next morning I visited another who had come back.

I met him in the dramatically modern new building of the DGB (Deutscher Gewerkschaftsbund). This is the German Trade Union Federation. The man I saw that morning was a handsome, witty, easy-to-talk-with intellectual, Ludwig Rosenberg.

HE WAS CHAIRMAN, then of the DGB, Department of Economic Policy. Over the years the interview with Ludwig Rosenberg blended with the fading memories of a thousand stories across the world.

But here in Geneva some labor people mentioned him. I inquired of his activities. The news of him was surprising and good.

Ludwig Rosenberg, son of a Jewish merchant, once a refugee from Hitler's Gestapo, director during the war of a London-headquartered underground operation, has just been elected president of the DGB. This is a powerful labor federation. It has 6½ million members.

What is most surprising is that Mr. Rosenberg was chosen at the DGB triennial convention in Hanover by 373 out of 411 votes. This is the greatest majority ever cast for a DGB president.

STILL MORE surprising is the fact that Mr. Rosenberg has no real trade union power base inside the DGB. His predecessor, Willi Richter, for example, had a strong following in Frankfurt before and after Hitler. But Mr. Rosenberg comes from a small office workers union. In fact, he has spent many of his years working for the DGB national headquarters itself.

During those years, under the guidance of Rosenberg and others in the DGB leadership, the labor federation abandoned the class struggle, junked its Socialist philosophy and became a strong reform movement.

Rosenberg, himself, is not a Socialist. Liken his beliefs rather to the social welfare policies of some of the Scandinavian nations.

THROUGHOUT the formative period of the post-Hitler era, the DGB showed great responsibility. For years it dispatched letters to its affiliated unions urging them to be circumspect in their demands on the burgeoning German industries. For years the economic policy of the DBG was to avoid bargaining German industrialism and the government into inflation.

When the DBG had national conventions, the fraternal delegates from other European labor movements assailed it for not calling more strikes, or making heavier demands on the employers. But the DGB was determined to keep its home country competitive. And it did. Now with Germany in fantastic prosperity, the working people will get more and more.

All this is not meant to insinuate that West Germany is a paradise. But some of those who have returned, have returned to leadership. And look across the Berlin Wall. Look into the East German government. There in the Soviet zone, you will find at least 500 men who were high indeed in Hitler's cadres and who are East German Communist government leaders today.

THERE ARE among the 500 such men as Willi Stoph, now Communist deputy prime minister of East Germany. During the Nazi days, he wrote glowingly of the Reichwehr in which he served.

There is Dr. Herbert Kroger, now director of Walter Ulbricht's Academy for Political and Legal Sciences in Babelsberg. Dr. Kroger served under Heinrich Himmler as a Nazi state judge. He decreed the expropriation of the property of anti-Nazis in Wriezen. He was a Nazi judge too in Frankfurt, Berlin, and Neustadt.

There is former Nazi SS. Lt. Col. Kurt Lange. He now is on the staff of the ministry of state security — the secret police which he helped set up for the Communists.

It is a narrow wall which slices Berlin. But the worlds on either side are far apart.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — The East Liverpool District Boy Scout Council elected W. C. Hultz chairman for 1933.

A campaign to buy American-made products in an effort to aid home industry was launched by American Legion Post 4.

L. P. Perry was elected president of the Hillcrest Community Club.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Mrs. Pearl McCoy of 3rd St., Chester, entertained members of the Senior Women's Club with a Christmas tea.

East Liverpool's tax rate for 1942 was $18.60 per thousand, an increase of 35 cents a thousand over the 1941 rate.

TEN YEARS AGO — Clair Williams, East Liverpool football star, was voted the "outstanding opponent" by Sandusky High during the 1952 season.

The Poinsettia

The poinsettia is blooming on acres of gift-wrapping paper, greeting cards, and window ledges.

Unlike such ancient and traditional Christmas symbols as holly and mistletoe, the red and green poinsettia originated in tropical America.

Joel Robert Poinsett, who went to Mexico in 1825 as the first United States minister there, so admired the wild scarlet plant that he brought the first specimens to the United States. He successfully grew them on his estate at Charleston, South Carolina.

It was later found that a German botanist, Karl Ludwig Willdenow, already had described and catalogued the plant as Euphorbia pulcherrima, or "the very beautiful Euphorbia". But the popular name poinsettia stuck.

Other countries call it the Fireplant, Mexican Flame Leaf, Shepherdess and Lobster Plant.

Promotion of the potted poinsettia as a special Christmas plant was begun in 1911 by Paul Ecke of San Diego County, Calif. The 400-acre Ecke ranch is today the world's largest poinsettia farm.

More than 90 per cent of all Unted States commercial poinsettias are grown in San Diego County.

Without Regret

By David Lawrence

Kennedy Maintains Position On Steel Prices

President Kennedy has dashed cold water on the hopes of businessmen generally for a better relationship with the administration. He now says that, if he had it to do all over again, he would act exactly as he did in the controversy over steel prices in April of this year. This means he condones the use of coercive measures — threatening to withdraw defense contracts, hauling the steel companies before a federal grand jury, sending out FBI men to wake up newsmen to elicit from them what steel executives might previously have said about prices. It was this whole series of tragic blunders that led to a break in the stock market and a downturn in American business, as tens of thousands of workers were forced out of jobs in the steel industry alone.

David Lawrence

Is the President merely disinclined for reasons of pride to concede when he has made an error? Or does he really feel as hostile to business today as he did in the steel episode? Is this an indication of what could happen again?

What the President said over television and radio on the three major networks on Monday night was not refuted before the big audience and only one side of the story was given to the American people.

HERE, IN FULL text, is what Mr. Kennedy said about the steel dispute:

"Though I don't like to rake over old fires, I think it would have been a serious situation if I had not attempted, with all my influence, to try to get a rollback (of prices) because there was an issue of good faith involved. The steel union had accepted the most limited settlement that they had had since the end of the second war. They had accepted it three or four months ahead. They did it in part, I think, because I said that we could not afford another inflationary spiral, that it would affect our competitive position abroad. So they signed up. And then when their last contract was signed, which was the Friday or Saturday before, then steel put its prices up immediately.

"It seemed to me that the question of good faith was involved, and that if I had not attempted, after asking the unions to accept the noninflationary settlement, if I had not attempted to use my influence to have the companies hold their prices stable, I think the unions could have rightly felt that they had been misled.

"In my opinion, it would have endangered the whole bargaining between labor and management, would have made it impossible for us to exert any influence from the public point of view in the future on these great labor-management disputes which do affect the public interest. So I have no regrets. The fact is, we were successful.

"Now, supposing we had tried and made a speech about it and then failed. I would have thought that would have been an awful setback to the office of the presidency. Now, I just think that, looking back on it, I would not change it at all. There's no sense in raising hell, and then not being successful. There's no sense in putting the office of the presidency on the line on an issue and then being defeated.

"Now, an unfortunate repercussion of that was the strong feeling that the government might interfere in a good many labor-management matters, or that it might interfere in the whole question of the free-enterprise system. It was regrettable that that general conclusion was drawn from this particular incident. Given the problem that I had on that Tuesday night, I must say I think we had to do everything we could to get it reversed."

WHAT ARE the facts? The President didn't give all of them. He didn't tell his audience that Roger Blough, head of the U.S. Steel Corp., did reveal in a published interview as early as Feb. 26 that there would have to be a price rise. Mr. Kennedy also didn't mention that the steel companies had granted wage increases for three years without an increase in their own prices.

The President argues that he was troubled by a "question of good faith." But "good faith" with whom?

He explains that he had persuaded the steel unions to accept a "noninflationary settlement." What did his promises to the labor unions have to do with the conditions faced by the companies, which were already in a "profit squeeze" due to three years of wage increases without any corresponding increase in prices?

So the President admits that, in order to please the unions, he used pressure to keep the steel companies from setting their own prices, though he had no authority under law to do so. As a consequence, steel production fell off and profits declined.

Ohio Town Gets Nativity Scene Despite Obstacles

BLUE ASH, Ohio (AP)—Building a Crib for Christmas has been a real eye-opener for residents of this Hamilton County community.

It all started when City Manager Carrol Pickens announced he wanted to build a "creche"—another name for the traditional representation of the birthplace of the Christ-child.

He had trouble making himself understood and had to start referring to the five-figure assemblage as a "Nativity scene."

A local farmer presented some live sheep for the Crib. They tried to break out of their pen earlier this week, and maintenance men were ordered to build a chicken wire barricade to hold them in.

The maintenance men had no trouble with that. But fixing feed was something else again.

Informants at City Hall confided the maintenance men put too much molasses in the feed Monday and Tuesday. This gave the sheep diarrhea.

Marv Stevens, a farm boy now employed as a policeman, came to the rescue with a new formula and Wednesday night the sheep appeared healthy, albeit a little sullen, as they stood behind the fence under a banner proclaiming "peace on earth."

Then the fire department entered the scene.

While workmen put up the straw and wood stable next to the wooden maintenance building, Fire Chief Ervin McNess walked over.

He said the stable was a fire hazard. But this being the Christmas season he allowed the Nativity scene to stay after he urged caution and periodic fire checks, plus putting up "no smoking" signs on both sides of the Crib.

The Crib is now complete with dressed up mannequins, and residents are waiting for some snow to make the Christmas scene complete.

But that just might bring new problems.

Owned by Charles W. Silvers of Euclid, the 1959 four-door drifted out of the E-Z Parking Lot, crossed Peach Alley and struck a building owned by the First National Bank and occupied by the Hartt Audit Co., police said.

Silvers told police the front of his car was damaged. He said he turned the auto over to an attendant, Ersel Tiller, who parked it on the lot. Later, the auto broke away and hit the corner of the building, police said. The lot is operated by Emerson Bartlett, 1514 St. Clair Ave.

A street marker at Bradshaw Ave. and Ravine St. was sheared off at ground level at 7:02 a. m. today when a young woman's car skidded out of control, police said.

The city-owned sign was struck by a 1956 sedan driven by Mary Louise Kapp, 20, of St. Clair Ave. Ext., police said. The crash damaged the left front fender, tire and door of the auto, which was turned around completely by the impact, police said.

The driver said she was traveling east on Bradshaw when her car hit a patch of ice, which threw it out of control and caused it to hit the curb.

Woodsman Gets Lost Following His Own Tracks

WARREN, Pa. (AP)—It can be pretty embarrassing when a woodsman can't find his way out of the woods.

That's what happened to lumberman Eugene Rodgers, 61, of nearby Sheffield.

Rodgers had started home at quitting time Tuesday from a lumber company where he works as a scraper. He was following his own tracks through the woods.

As darkness started to fall, Rodgers got sidetracked onto the trail of a hunter whose path had crossed his own. By the time he realized the mistake it was too dark to follow any tracks.

A 70-man volunteer search party found Rodgers early Wednesday, cold but unharmed.

Expense Report Filed By All Office-Seekers

Reports of campaign expenditures have been filed with the County Election Board by all candidates who sought office in the Nov. 6 election, the unsuccessful as well as the winners, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the board, said today.

The deadline for the reports, required by state law, is Friday at 4 p. m. O'Hanlon said reports apparently also have been filed by all committees that supported or opposed any candidate or issue.

The reports are required under the corrupt practices act, which puts a ceiling on campaign spending. Until the reports are filed, law prevents the board from issuing certificates of election to successful candidates.

Ohio Town Gets Nativity Scene Despite Obstacles

BLUE ASH, Ohio (AP)—Building a Crib for Christmas has been a real eye-opener for residents of this Hamilton County community.

It all started when City Manager Carrol Pickens announced he wanted to build a "creche"—another name for the traditional representation of the birthplace of the Christ-child.

He had trouble making himself understood and had to start referring to the five-figure assemblage as a "Nativity scene."

A local farmer presented some live sheep for the Crib. They tried to break out of their pen earlier this week, and maintenance men were ordered to build a chicken wire barricade to hold them in.

The maintenance men had no trouble with that. But fixing feed was something else again.

Informants at City Hall confided the maintenance men put too much molasses in the feed Monday and Tuesday. This gave the sheep diarrhea.

Marv Stevens, a farm boy now employed as a policeman, came to the rescue with a new formula and Wednesday night the sheep appeared healthy, albeit a little sullen, as they stood behind the fence under a banner proclaiming "peace on earth."

Then the fire department entered the scene.

While workmen put up the straw and wood stable next to the wooden maintenance building, Fire Chief Ervin McNess walked over.

He said the stable was a fire hazard. But this being the Christmas season he allowed the Nativity scene to stay after he urged caution and periodic fire checks, plus putting up "no smoking" signs on both sides of the Crib.

The Crib is now complete with dressed up mannequins, and residents are waiting for some snow to make the Christmas scene complete.

But that just might bring new problems.

St. and Peach Alley Wednesday at 4 p. m. and caused minor damage to a nearby building, police said.

Owned by Charles W. Silvers of Euclid, the 1959 four-door drifted out of the E-Z Parking Lot, crossed Peach Alley and struck a building owned by the First National Bank and occupied by the Hartt Audit Co., police said.

Silvers told police the front of his car was damaged. He said he turned the auto over to an attendant, Ersel Tiller, who parked it on the lot. Later, the auto broke away and hit the corner of the building, police said. The lot is operated by Emerson Bartlett, 1514 St. Clair Ave.

A street marker at Bradshaw Ave. and Ravine St. was sheared off at ground level at 7:02 a. m. today when a young woman's car skidded out of control, police said.

The city-owned sign was struck by a 1956 sedan driven by Mary Louise Kapp, 20, of St. Clair Ave. Ext., police said. The crash damaged the left front fender, tire and door of the auto, which was turned around completely by the impact, police said.

The driver said she was traveling east on Bradshaw when her car hit a patch of ice, which threw it out of control and caused it to hit the curb.

Parks Group To Meet

LISBON — The Columbiana County Forests and Parks Council will meet at 8 p. m. Dec. 28 in the County Extension Service offices on S. Market St. All members are expected to attend, according to Floyd Lower, secretary.

Woodsman Gets Lost Following His Own Tracks

WARREN, Pa. (AP)—It can be pretty embarrassing when a woodsman can't find his way out of the woods.

That's what happened to lumberman Eugene Rodgers, 61, of nearby Sheffield.

Rodgers had started home at quitting time Tuesday from a lumber company where he works as a scraper. He was following his own tracks through the woods.

As darkness started to fall, Rodgers got sidetracked onto the trail of a hunter whose path had crossed his own. By the time he realized the mistake it was too dark to follow any tracks.

A 70-man volunteer search party found Rodgers early Wednesday, cold but unharmed.

Expense Report Filed By All Office-Seekers

Reports of campaign expenditures have been filed with the County Election Board by all candidates who sought office in the Nov. 6 election, the unsuccessful as well as the winners, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the board, said today.

The deadline for the reports, required by state law, is Friday at 4 p. m. O'Hanlon said reports apparently also have been filed by all committees that supported or opposed any candidate or issue.

The reports are required under the corrupt practices act, which puts a ceiling on campaign spending. Until the reports are filed, law prevents the board from issuing certificates of election to successful candidates.

U.S. Starts Overhaul Of Moon Project

WASHINGTON (AP) — The space agency started a major overhaul of its trouble-plagued Ranger moon rocket program today.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration acknowledged that the action might delay its vital lunar research program —preparatory to manned landings on the moon—by several months.

But NASA said that the change should vastly improve the chances of success in obtaining the first close-at-hand television pictures of the moon, and of depositing on the moon instruments to measure moonquakes and to give clues of the moon's geography.

Information of this type is absolutely essential before the first man can dare venture onto the moon—hopefully by the end of the decade.

The space agency already has let contracts for construction of the three-man Apollo spacecraft that will orbit the moon, and the two-man capsules that will be detached to carry Apollo crews to the moon and back to their orbiting vehicles.

The agency has been increasingly concerned over the continued failure of the multimillion-dollar Ranger program.

Five Ranger vehicles have been launched.

The first two were engineering test vehicles that met with only limited success.

The three others were equipped to photograph the moon with television cameras and to send this data back to earth.

Only one of these hit the moon, and it failed to send back any information. Two others missed the moon and apparently went into orbit around the sun.

The failure to achieve Ranger test goals has been charged primarily to the Jet Propulsion Laboratory of the California Institute of Technology at Pasadena, which has had major responsibility for this program.

Under the space agency's requirement that its key men produce or get out of positions of responsibility, the agency already has reassigned some of the jet lab scientists. Further changes of top personnel are considered in prospect.

spots that used them failed to buy the $250 gambling stamps required by law.

Heaviest action came in Hamilton County. Agents confiscated 26 machines from 16 taverns in the Cincinnati suburbs of Cheviot, Forestville, Mount Healthy, North College Hill and Norwood. Carrying out the raids there were 32 T-men from Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Louisville, Ky.

Other agents seized nine pinball games from six establishments in Northern Ohio. Those were at Lima in Allen County, Orrville in Wayne County, Yorkville in Jefferson County and Litchfield in Medina County.

Although a compromise was reported in prospect, this in itself generated a maze of other complicated problems involving the whole Western defense posture.

Kennedy and Macmillan talked for four and a half hours at scheduled sessions Wednesday and also through a "working lunch."

HANOVERTON — The three teen - age children of suspended Marshal Donald Sheen testified Wednesday night as Village Council continued a hearing on charges of misconduct in office filed against the official.

Council said the hearing probably will be concluded at another meeting next Wednesday night. Mayor Howard Hart presided. The hearing for the marshal opened at a meeting Dec. 17.

Trial Turns To Autopsy

BEAVER — Dr. Allan Moritz of Cleveland, a medical specialist, is expected this afternoon to go into the autopsy report on Mrs. Loretta Dean Schultz at the Beaver County Court trial of Carroll Williams, ex-Monaca resident, charged with her murder.

He is to go over the report and pictures furnished by Dr. Hohn W. Colavincenzo, county coroner, and Dr. Thomas W. McCreary, who performed the autopsy on the body of the 23-year-old divorcee.

Twenty - two minutes were taken this morning to list the qualifications of Dr. Moritz, now of Western Reserve University. He developed the department of legal medicine at Harvard, the first of its kind.

As surgeon general of the U.S., he investigated 1,000 sudden deaths of young healthy soldiers.

Wednesday afternoon, Williams admitted and related the chain of circumstances that placed him at the death scene.

He was the first witness in his own defense. He acknowledged without any show of emotion that Mrs. Shultz died in his arms but denied repeatedly that he strangled her.

His testimony told of dragging the body to a dump on Crowe's Run Rd. near Conway, driving home, shaving off his mustache, cutting his hair differently, and forging a post card to her parents. He said he became frightened and panicked.

Mrs. Schultz of Freedom R.D. 1 was the mother of two children and her body was found July 31. It was determined that she died of strangulation.

people using the schools and churches.

A brief discussion was held on recent breakings and enterings in the town, and Mayor Harry Abrams, explained to Council the two police officers have been active in regular duties.

He said the men are stationed at the school crossing at Carolina Ave. and 6th St. four times daily, and because of work schedules, he has not been able to obtain the service of the special officer.

"The police chief and patrolman often times work until 2 or 3 o'clock in the morning," Mayor Abrams said.

Councilman Wayne Hutton asked if high school officials had been asked concerning the possibility of a student patrol at the corner.

Councilmen discussed use of a water works employe as a school guard, but Councilman Donald Hissam suggested that Council "get the water works straightened out before we put a man at the corner." No action was taken.

Council accepted the resignation of Lewis Govey as water works superintendent, and will meet in special session Friday night at 6 to consider naming a successor.

Graham said applications for city jobs, up for consideration Jan. 2, are being received. All employes except the water works superintendent and City Hall caretaker were retained on a temporary basis.

Hutton notified Council that the Public Service Commission at Charleston has advised Solicitor Ruth Cox Turner a date will be set sometime in January for a hearing on a proposed flat rate for water consumers of the city.

Councilman Charles Kology asked, "Where is the solicitor?" Mrs. Turner, absent last night, has missed the two previous meetings.

No action was taken on a suggestion by Councilman Donald Chaney that a 2-mill levy be placed up for consideration next year to finance civic improvements.

At the recommendation of the street committee, Council authorized a stop sign at Pan Ave. and 11th St., and ordered two hour parking limit signs erected on the west side of 6th St. between Carolina Ave. and the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks. The latter request was filed by Chaney.

Councilman Hutton, chairman of the water committee, reported material for a new double - entry bookkeeping system for the water works, ordered by the state, has arrived and will be set up in January.

Discussion was held on a complaint filed by Mrs. Dorothy Shawkey concerning a new water line she was instructed by the water department to install.

Councilman Hutton said Mrs. Shawkey had previously been on a line with another customer who was delinquent and who faced a water shutoff which would have affected her. He said she was not to blame, and the delinquent customer paid his bill after he saw her line being installed.

At a recent meeting, Council agreed to convene on the first and third Tuesdays of each month. However, last night Council authorized the next meeting Jan. 2—a Wednesday — because of the New Year holiday being on a Tuesday.

Visits In Turkey

LISBON — Machinist's Mate 2C Alexander L. Lease Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Lease of R. D. 4 visited Istanbul, Turkey, recently while serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt. The ship is a part of the 6th Fleet and will remain in the Mediterranean until March. She will visit Greece, Italy, France and Spain.

Wellsville Employes To Get Tetanus Shots

Wellsville's city employes and members of various boards and commissions are scheduled to receive free tetanus shots under a program set up by the city administration.

Mayor William Daugherty today announced that Dr. Dudley Beaumont, city health commissioner, will begin administering the shots at his office Friday.

Each department, such as police, firemen, street employes, etc., will be notified as to when they can receive the shots.

A total of 81 are eligible, the mayor commented. Each will be presented a wallet - size card designating the date they received the immunization.

Wednesday afternoon, Williams admitted and related the chain of circumstances that placed him at the death scene.

He was the first witness in his own defense. He acknowledged without any show of emotion that Mrs. Shultz died in his arms but denied repeatedly that he strangled her.

His testimony told of dragging the body to a dump on Crowe's Run Rd. near Conway, driving home, shaving off his mustache, cutting his hair differently, and forging a post card to her parents. He said he became frightened and panicked.

Mrs. Schultz of Freedom R.D. 1 was the mother of two children and her body was found July 31. It was determined that she died of strangulation.

people using the schools and churches.

A brief discussion was held on recent breakings and enterings in the town, and Mayor Harry Abrams, explained to Council the two police officers have been active in regular duties.

He said the men are stationed at the school crossing at Carolina Ave. and 6th St. four times daily, and because of work schedules, he has not been able to obtain the service of the special officer.

"The police chief and patrolman often times work until 2 or 3 o'clock in the morning," Mayor Abrams said.

Councilman Wayne Hutton asked if high school officials had been asked concerning the possibility of a student patrol at the corner.

Councilmen discussed use of a water works employe as a school guard, but Councilman Donald Hissam suggested that Council "get the water works straightened out before we put a man at the corner." No action was taken.

Council accepted the resignation of Lewis Govey as water works superintendent, and will meet in special session Friday night at 6 to consider naming a successor.

Graham said applications for city jobs, up for consideration Jan. 2, are being received. All employes except the water works superintendent and City Hall caretaker were retained on a temporary basis.

Hutton notified Council that the Public Service Commission at Charleston has advised Solicitor Ruth Cox Turner a date will be set sometime in January for a hearing on a proposed flat rate for water consumers of the city.

Councilman Charles Kology asked, "Where is the solicitor?" Mrs. Turner, absent last night, has missed the two previous meetings.

No action was taken on a suggestion by Councilman Donald Chaney that a 2-mill levy be placed up for consideration next year to finance civic improvements.

At the recommendation of the street committee, Council authorized a stop sign at Pan Ave. and 11th St., and ordered two hour parking limit signs erected on the west side of 6th St. between Carolina Ave. and the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks. The latter request was filed by Chaney.

Councilman Hutton, chairman of the water committee, reported material for a new double - entry bookkeeping system for the water works, ordered by the state, has arrived and will be set up in January.

Discussion was held on a complaint filed by Mrs. Dorothy Shawkey concerning a new water line she was instructed by the water department to install.

Councilman Hutton said Mrs. Shawkey had previously been on a line with another customer who was delinquent and who faced a water shutoff which would have affected her. He said she was not to blame, and the delinquent customer paid his bill after he saw her line being installed.

At a recent meeting, Council agreed to convene on the first and third Tuesdays of each month. However, last night Council authorized the next meeting Jan. 2—a Wednesday — because of the New Year holiday being on a Tuesday.

Deaths and Funerals

Death Claims Widow At 83

Mrs. Rose Miller, 511 Railroad St., widow of William Joseph Miller, died this morning at 9:05 at City Hospital after a long illness. She was 83.

Mrs. Miller was born Oct. 19, 1879, in Washington County to Alfred Haynes and Mary J. Carpenter Haynes, and resided here for 62 years.

Forty years ago she worked as a waredresser at the former Globe Pottery on the River Rd. She attended the Trinity United Presbyterian Church. Her husband died in 1935.

She is survived by six sons, Earl W. Miller at home, Gail O. Miller and Ralph Miller, both of East Liverpool, Ernest Miller of Lake Milton, Woodrow W. Miller of Farmdale, and Morris F. Miller of Newton Falls; two daughters, Mrs. Gordon Laughlin of East Liverpool and Mrs. Jane Gibbons of Buffalo; three brothers, Raymond Haynes and Alonzo Haynes, both of Youngstown, and Frank Haynes of East Liverpool; two sisters, Miss Billie Haynes of Youngstown and Mrs. Marie Jane Fulmer of Chester, and 26 grandchildren and 25 great-grandchildren.

Services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Martin Funeral Home by the Rev. H. Gene Toot, associate minister of the Trinity church. Burial will be in the Calcutta United Presbyterian Church Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Friday afternoon and evening.

Mrs. Thomas Vale

ROGERS — Mrs. Ethel Vale, 74, wife of Thomas B. Vale, died Wednesday at 10:45 p. m. at her home after a long illness.

She was born Feb. 8, 1888, in East Fairfield to Mr. and Mrs. Moses Chamberlain, and was married Sept. 12, 1912. She was a member of the Rogers Christian Church.

In addition to her husband, she leaves a sister, Mrs. Alta Neville of Lisbon, and two brothers, Ernest Chamberlain of Columbiana and Delbert Chamberlain of Apple Creek.

Services will be held Saturday at 1:30 p. m. at the Warrick Funeral Home in Columbiana by the Rev. Frank Lilly, pastor of the Columbiana Christian Church. Burial will be in East Carmel Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Friday from 7 to 9 p. m.

James Humes

The Rev. Paul Dippolito, minister of the Chester First Methodist Church, will conduct services for James M. Humes of near Hookstown Friday at 1 p. m. at the Chester Arner Funeral Chapel.

Burial will be in Columbiana County Memorial Park.

Mr. Humes died Tuesday morning at Trumbull Memorial Hospital at Warren after an illness of two weeks.

Friends may call at the chapel this evening.

Less T. Sandy

Less T. Sandy, 1818 Buckeye Ave., Wellsville, an employe at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co., and a World War II veteran, died this morning at 5 at the Osteopathic Hospital, where he had been a patient since Monday, following an illness at his home. He was 44.

He worked last at the Midland plant on Friday.

He was born Feb. 7, 1918, at Toll Gate, W. Va., to the late William Sandy and Hulda Spurgeon Sandy. He served with the Infantry from August 1942 to January 1946 as a rifleman. He was a member of the VFW Post and Eagles Lodge of Wellsville.

He leaves a sister, Mrs. Mary Shephard of Pennsboro, W. Va.; six brothers, Oris Sandy of Wellsville, Ollie Sandy of Wilsonburg, W. Va., Homer Sandy of Weirton, Roy Sandy of Great Bend, Kan., Bert Sandy of Marietta and Howard Sandy of Columbus, and several nephews and nieces.

The MacLean Funeral Home in Wellsville is arranging services.

Burglars Unable To Enter Salem Safe

SALEM — Burglars tried unsuccessfully Wednesday night or early today to cut through the door of a big safe in the Kroger Co. grocery on E. State St., just outside the city limits.

The chisel apparently was used to hack at the outer metal jacket of the big vault. The intruders entered the building by cutting a hole in the concrete block wall. It was the third burglary in four years at the store.

Meters Allow Long Parking On City's Site

Meters that allow up to 12 hours' parking time on one payment were installed Wednesday night on the city - operated off-street parking lot on the site of the former Ceramic Theater, replacing devices that allowed only a 2½-hour limit.

The new meters will accept any combination of nickels, dimes and quarters up to a total of $1.20, returning 12 hours' parking time. The rate is 10 cents hourly.

The meters removed from the lot will be installed along sections of Dresden Ave. and Market St. which became available for parking with the opening of the new freeway, Safety - Service Director Robert Owen said.

Robert Kelly, the city meter repairman who directed the installation job last night, turned to the task of placing the meters on Dresden and Market this morning. There are approximately 57 new parking spots on the two stretches — Market from 3rd St. to 5th St. and Dresden from the Diamond to W. 9th.

The city's specifications originally called for 12-hour meters on the Ceramic lot. When the supplier provided the wrong type, they were installed, regardless, in order to put the lot into use without further delay. Meanwhile, the new meters allowing 12 hours were placed on order.

The meters taken off the lot and destined for street service were provided by the M. H. Rhodes Co. of Hartford, Conn. The new meters placed on the lot last night were purchased from the Magee-Hale Park-o-Meter Co. of Oklahoma City.

Unmetered parking has been allowed on the west side of Market and the east side of Dresden for nearly two weeks. The opening of the freeway meant Route 30 no longer passed through the heart of the business district and the city was able to lift a long - standing parking ban on the two streets.

stem from use of the vaccine specifically from Type III viruses, one of the triumvirate of polio virus types.

In Wednesday's report, the panel said there were now 11 cases considered compatible—that is, 11 cases where the circumstantial evidence indicated the vaccine had caused some paralytic polio.

Of the 11 cases, eight were adults over 30 years old. There was no figure immediately available on the number of adults over 30 who received the vaccine. The report did say that 15 million persons of all ages had received the questionable Type III vaccine in non-epidemic areas in 1962. Most were children.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I repair some small holes in lineoleum?

A. By carefully filling these holes with a mixture of finely chopped cork and liquid glue, which is permitted to dry thoroughly and then given a coat of clear varnish.

Q. How can I bake a layer cake in one pan?

A. This can be done if the pan is of sufficient depth by cutting pieces of waxed paper and placing one between each layer.

Q. How can I fill an unsightly crack in an article of furniture?

A. Use beeswax, pressing in carefully, then stain and varnish.

Q. How can I clean gilt articles?

A. Gilt frames, or other such articles, can be restored to their original freshness by rubbing with a small sponge moistened with oil of turpentine, which soon evaporates.

Q. How can I mend some broken chinaware?

A. Make a thin paste of lime mixed with the white of egg. Apply this to the broken edges, press them tightly together, and put in a dry place for a day or two to harden.

Q. How can I make my own earrings to match a certain dress?

A. Purchase two buttons more than you need for your dress and then, with some colorless fingernail polish, fasten these buttons to the base of an old pair of earrings.

OSU Has Medical Program On Radio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Not all of the medical programs are on television this season. Ohio State University has one on FM radio.

Every other Wednesday at noon, some 1,150 doctors gather in a dozen hospitals in eight Ohio cities to participate in an hour's post - graduate training conducted by faculty members of Ohio State's College of Medicine. It is broadcast from the university's educational station and also from a commercial station.

The 12 hospitals are tied into the control center in Columbus by telephone line, so the audience may participate.

Best hitting streak in the National League in 1962 was compiled by Hank Aaron of Milwaukee. He hit safely in 25 straight games during August.

Computers May Be Used To Cite World's Crises

PALO ALTO, Calif. — Diplomats may someday use electronic computers to gauge the boiling point of the world's Castros and Khruschchevs.

A Stanford University team of behavioral scientists, led by political scientist Robert C. North, already has tried predicting the reaction of world leaders through a program developed for a computer.

North and his co-workers fed into the school's Burroughs 220 computer a behavior analysis of each leader's reactions to past events and a rating of how intense that reaction was.

The computer combines the judgments of the different experts working independently of each other and produces a complicated numerical pattern. This pattern is plotted on a "fever chart" — a graph that reveals the day-to-day variations in international tensions. North says reactions to diplomatic moves could be predicted before the moves are made, with a degree of scientific accuracy, by try - out plotting on the international tension chart.

Cumberland Crews Seeking Water Break

NEW CUMBERLAND — Repair crews continued work today trying to pinpoint a break in a water main serving New Cumberland Heights where some 50 homes remain without service.

Service was interrupted Tuesday afternoon by a break in the main and a broken pump shaft in the pumping station.

The crew, headed by Jake Baxter, maintenance department supervisor, completed repairs to the pump Wednesday night and began today searching for the break in the main.

Although the service has been interrupted, the New Cumberland Heights area is being supplied by village firemen hauling water in the fire truck.

Contractor Continues Cumberland Project

NEW CUMBERLAND — The P. N. Spanos Co. of Wheeling continued work today on sandblasting the exterior of the Hancock County Courthouse.

Employes complained of dust and dirt leaking inside the many offices and the contractor agreed to seal the windows before any further work Wednesday.

The $6,450 project is about half completed. Spanos was awarded the contract by Hancock County commissioners.

Policeman Sentenced For Burglary Series

CLEVELAND (AP) — William Marlowe, a veteran policeman who was arrested Dec. 3 for burglary and touched off a wide-ranging investigation, was sentenced to 3-50 years in the Ohio Penitentiary today.

The 40-year-old former patrolman, who spent 11 years in the department, pleaded guilty Monday to 13 counts of burglary, grand larceny, forcible entry and possession of burglary tools. The loot was about $3,000 in an 18-month period.

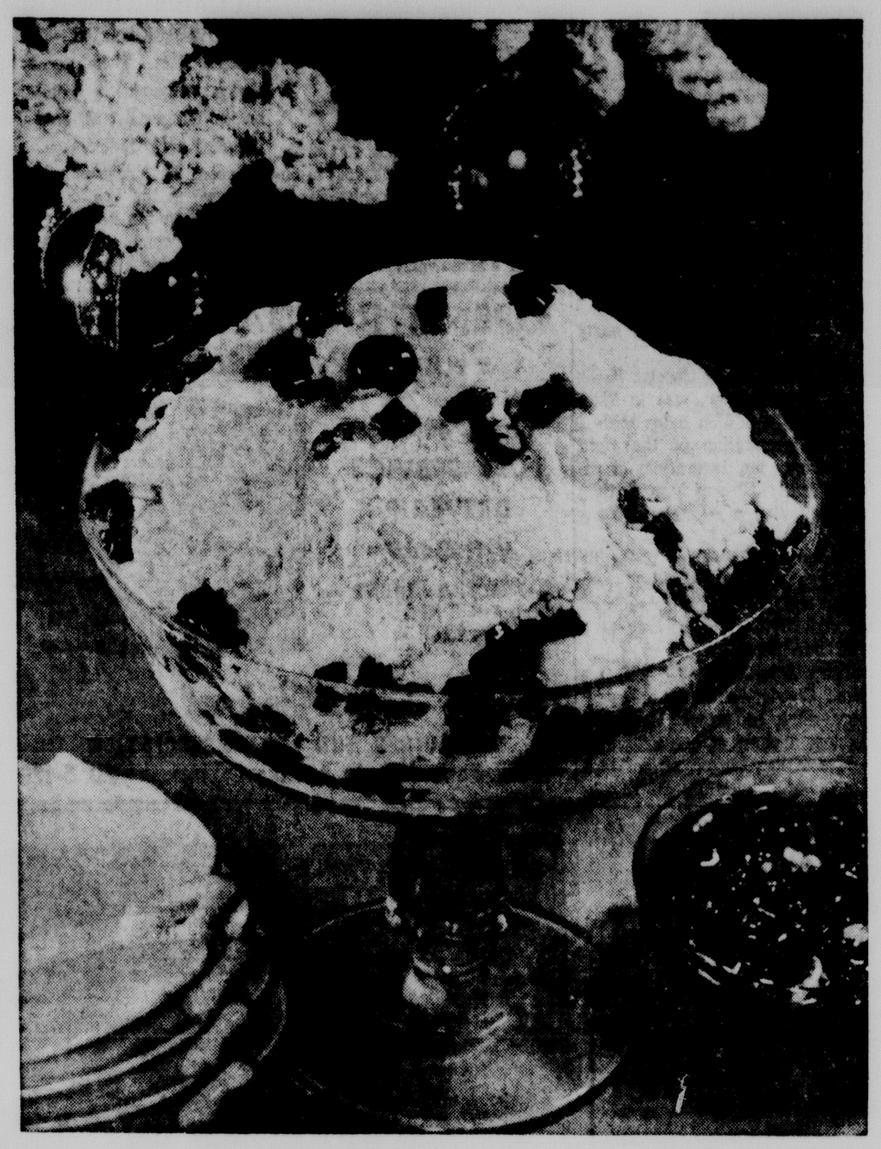
Honey Fruit Sunday Tributes The Holiday



What could be a more festive finale for your holiday dinner than this special Honey Fruit Sundae?

Chewy, colorful candied fruits and crunchy nuts in a honey spiced sauce creates a glowing cap for a snowy mound of vanilla ice cream. Simple to make, yet elegantly festive, this glamourous dessert deserves a repeat performance throughout the holiday season.

- ¾ cup honey
- ¾ cup sugar
- 1-3 cup orange juice
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 jar (8-ounce)mixed candied fruits (1 cup)
- ¼ cup chopped walnuts or pecans
- 2 teaspoons grated orange or lemon rind

Combine honey, sugar and orange juice; heat until sugar is dissolved, stirring constantly. Bring to full rolling boil; boil 1 minute. Remove from heat.

Add butter, fruits, nuts and orange or lemon rind; stir until butter is melted. Chill. Serve with vanilla ice cream. Makes 6 servings, 2½ cups of sauce.

Honey Fruit Sunday Tributes The Holiday

What could be a more festive finale for your holiday dinner than this special Honey Fruit Sundae?

Chewy, colorful candied fruits and crunchy nuts in a honey spiced sauce creates a glowing cap for a snowy mound of vanilla ice cream. Simple to make, yet elegantly festive, this glamourous dessert deserves a repeat performance throughout the holiday season.

¾ cup honey
¾ cup sugar
1-3 cup orange juice
2 tablespoons butter
1 jar (8-ounce)mixed candied fruits (1 cup)
¼ cup chopped walnuts or pecans
2 teaspoons grated orange or lemon rind

Combine honey, sugar and orange juice; heat until sugar is dissolved, stirring constantly. Bring to full rolling boil; boil 1 minute. Remove from heat.

Add butter, fruits, nuts and orange or lemon rind; stir until butter is melted. Chill. Serve with vanilla ice cream. Makes 6 servings, 2½ cups of sauce.

Wellsville Residents May Phone In Items

Wellsville residents with social items are invited to phone the Review directly during the convalescence of Miss Ruth Urie, correspondent.

Miss Urie suffered a shoulder injury in a fall on the walk near her home Wednesday and will be hospitalized indefinitely.

Christmas Skit Given For Neville Meeting

A skit, "Christmas at the Shoehouse," by the first and second grade pupils, and a playlet, "The Happy Christmas," highlighted the Yule program at a meeting of the Neville Home and School Association Tuesday evening. Mrs. Martha White was pianist and William Patton, sixth grade teacher, announcer.

The Fifth and Sixth Grades Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Langdon, sang a medley of songs on the theme "Bells."

Next meeting is in January and the date will be announced.

100 At Christmas Fete Of Township Firemen

More than 100 attended a Christmas party held by the Liverpool Township East volunteer fire department at the Dixonville station Wednesday night for the firemen and auxiliary members and their families.

Treats were distributed to the children by Santa Claus. Each also was given a silver dollar.

Refreshments were served. A community party for children of the township will be held Saturday afternoon at 1:30.

261 Students Receive Immunization Shots

LISBON — The Columbiana County health department gave 261 immunizations, six polio shots and 99 vaccinations pupils of kindergarten through sixth grades at the McKinley School Monday through Wednesday.

This completes the 1962 immunization program in the schools but makeup immunizations will be provided in health department offices Dec. 28 at 1 p. m., according to Dr. C. S. Palmer, county health commissioner.

Extension Group Has Exchange Of Handmade Gifts

Handmade gifts were exchanged at the Christmas party of the Beaver Local Home Extension Group Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Emma Bomberger of the Cannons Mill Rd.

Covers were arranged for 14 at the coverdish dinner. The tables and home were decorated in keeping with the holiday season.

Mrs. Mary Thompson conducted games and contests with prizes going to Mrs. Eleanor Aliulis and Mrs. Margie Jacobs.

Mrs. Mildred Wilson sang a humorous Christmas song and led carols. Mrs. Beulah Holden was accompanist.

Mrs. Mary Ellen Broadbent, president, presided for business. Mrs. Alberta Allen read the minutes.

Mrs. Bomberger, Mrs. Elda Lyons and Mrs. Ruth Sheets were named to the nominating committee.

Mrs. Broadbent reported on the recent councilors' meeting in Lisbon and the Christmas tea at Salem.

Instructions in smocking will be given by Mrs. Jean Porter for the meeting Jan. 8 with Mrs. Jacobs of Calcutta.

3 Area Drivers Fined On Traffic Violations

Three district drivers were fined a total of $12 and costs Tuesday by County Judge James L. MacDonald at Lisbon on traffic charges filed by the State Highway Patrol.

William R. Kelly of Forsyth Pl. was fined $2 and costs on a speeding charge. Thomas W. Price, 20, of Salineville paid $5 and costs for failure to stop in the assured clear distance. Thomas A. Johnston, 31, of Toronto was fined $5 and costs for driving with an expired operator's permit.

Patrol Officer Picked

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)—Lt. C. P. Shambaugh, 49, of Massillon has been appointed commander of District 8 headquarters of the State Highway Patrol. He succeeds Capt. A. B. Cook, who is being transferred to the driver's license division at Columbus. Both appointments are effective Jan. 1.

200 At Program At Highlandtown

Over 200 adults attended the Christmas program presented by students at Highlandtown School Wednesday night.

Each homeroom gave a portion of the program. The first graders had a rhythm band. The second and third grades presented a pantomime play with Carol Leatherberry reader.

Flutophone selections and songs were presented by fourth graders and the fifth and sixth grades gave the Christmas story from the Bible with carols. Jerry Wallace was accompanist and Cindy Dornick reader.

An operetta, "Ye Who Sit by the Fire," was presented by the seventh and eighth graders.

Parties will be held in all rooms Friday afternoon. Gift exchanges will be held. The Parent - Teacher Association will present a treat and the children also will receive a special treat, according to Jerry Russell, principal.

Garage Floor Flushed Of Leaking Gasoline

Firemen were called to flush gasoline from a garage floor early this morning after a report a refrigerator was leaking.

The call was received at 12:28 a. m. from Grace Treleven, 108 E. Drury Ln., who believed her refrigerator was leaking, firemen said.

However, investigation showed the odor came from gasoline leaking from a truck owned by the Frank Crook Co. in an adjoining garage, they said.

The department was called at 11:45 p. m. Wednesday to investigate leaking ammonia at the Armour Industrial Chemical Co. on Dresden Ave. and summoned the manager.

500 At Concert Held At Beaver Local High

Some 500 attended the annual holiday concert presented by the instrumental and vocal music departments at Beaver Local High School Wednesday night.

Portions of the program will be presented at the annual high school assembly Friday afternoon at 1:30.

The annual Christmas Snow Ball dance will be held at the auditorium Saturday from 8 to 11 p. m., for all high school students and alumni.

French Painting Arrives

'Mona Lisa' Smile Kept Hidden Until Next Month

WASHINGTON (AP) — In Vault X of the National Gallery of Art, a celebrated lady rested today, waiting for somebody to let her out of a box so she can turn her inscrutable smile on Americans.

Under security guard seldom accorded a queen, the Mona Lisa of Leonardo da Vinci, the world's most famous portrait, arrived Wednesday from the Paris Louvre.

An ambassadress of good will, she will be unveiled Jan. 8 by President Kennedy before a throng of notables, including members of the new Congress.

After three weeks in Washington, the 450-year-old painting will move on to the Metropolitan Museum in New York, then possibly to other American cities, before going home to France.

The Mona Lisa made the Atlantic crossing on the liner France. At New York Wednesday, her aluminum and plastic box, airconditioned to duplicate the humidity and temperature of the Louvre, was loaded with ceremony into a small black van.

In a seven-car caravan, the van sped to the capital. Eyes of Secret Service men, assigned by Kennedy, roved right and left. Soldiers turned out to guard the way. In every state en route, state police formed a motorcycle escort. Tunnels were closed to ordinary traffic.

The Mona Lisa is priceless, although one figure mentioned as her value is $100 million. No insurance was taken out for her trans-Atlantic passage—the rates would have been prohibitive.

In France, some art critics and others had raised protests against the painting's voyage to the New World. They thought of the storms at sea, of possible portrait pirates, and, above all, of chances in humidity that might flake the paint off the aged panel of poplar wood.

Why then, did the French permit the Mona Lisa to come?

Mainly, it is a gesture of amity. The French know, for example, that Jacqueline Kennedy has an insatiable yearning for art.

First Aid Instruction Continued For Class

The seventh lesson in advanced first aid was held Wednesday night, sponsored by the St. Clair Township Civil Defense, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Skelton of Glenmoor.

Fifteen attended. Bernard Shone, Red Cross first aid instructor, directed the meeting. He was presented a gift. Herman Heiney, CD director, attended.

Shone reviewed the principles of first aid and the needs for first aid kits. The last lesson will be Jan. 8 at 7:30 p. m. at the Mary Patterson Memorial.

Regular Civil Defense meetings will begin the third week of January. A mock airplane crash is being planned for the complete group. Heiney will direct the practice.

Woman's Fall Causes Injury

A city woman injured in a fall, a man injured in a farm accident and another man hurt over the weekend were admitted Wednesday to City Hospital where four area residents were treated Wednesday and early today.

Miss Isabella Wollrich of S. Surrey Rd., Fisher Park, was in "good" condition with a pelvic injury suffered when she fell while en route to work early Wednesday morning.

Wilbert Hobbs of Chester R. D. 1, a dairy farmer, was in "satisfactory" condition today with a partial amputation of the right little finger and lacerations of another finger. He was injured when a cow pulled a rope through his hand.

Richard Wilk, 42, of Wellsville R. D. 1 was "fairly good" condition with a head injury suffered when he fell while working at a city bar Saturday.

Jerry Ash, 20, of 551 California Ave., Chester, suffered a toe injury when he struck his foot against a chair at home.

Mrs. Esther Lower, wife of Jack Lower of Negley R. D. 1, was treated for a whiplash injury of the neck suffered in an auto accident Tuesday in Mahoning County.

Nick Grossocco, 813 Pierce St., Toronto, was struck on the head by a falling brick while working on a house.

Jerry Adkins Jr., 3½, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Adkins, 2207 Michigan Ave., suffered contusions of the lower right leg and a possible fracture when he fell from his mother's arms early this morning.

Ex-Sen. Green Listed In Coma After Attack

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Former Sen. Theodore Francis Green remained in a coma and on the danger list at Jane Brown Hospital early today.

Green, 95, oldest member ever to serve in the U.S. Senate, was admitted to the hospital Wednesday in a coma. He had been stricken at his home.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Pants creasers in blue jeans do help. But I never use them the way you would ordinarily in regular pants. I put them in sideways! That is, from in-seam to out-seam.

Denim will crease anyway but if creasers are inserted sideways as described, they hasten drying, completely eliminate all wrinkles, and enable one to fold the jeans just as they come from the store!

BETTY DEMING.

DEAR HELOISE: How do you pronounce your name? Is it Heloise or is the H silent, or just what? I am completely disgusted with the neighbors fighting over this question?

COFFEE BATCH.

DEAR COFFEE BATCH: I have said before, and I say again . . . pronounce it any way you want to . . . so long as you don't forget it.

Here's the way my husband pronounces it: HELL-OH-WEESE. I am well aware that there is no W in the name itself! However, since my 200-pound husband pronounces it that way, how can I possibly argue?

HELOISE.

Handy Drier

DEAR HELOISE: My husband bought a length of 1x2-inch wood, cut it into two 16-inch and two 24-inch lengths and nailed them together to form a rectangle. He then nailed 16 clothespins to each long side.

I screwed cuphooks into each corner, and took a heavy cord to hook under all of the cup hooks so I could hang the gadget up.

I screwed two cup hooks above a doorway under which a floor furnace outlet happened to be placed. Here . . . I hung up my "clothes dryer."

I also use this outdoors when it is warm. I use it mainly for diapers but it works fine for towels, socks and just anything. Just attach small articles to the 32 clothespins!

BUSY.

DEAR HELOISE: For goodness sakes, will somebody tell us how to remove the ballpoint pen ink that our children have scribbled all over the cushions of our plastic sofas, chairs, and hassocks.

I will be forever grateful to anyone who can come to my rescue. I sure cannot afford new covers.

MOTHER OF SIX.

DEAR FOLKS: If any of you have ever found anything that will remove these ballpoint pen marks from plastic and leather, please do let us know. Get out those ballpoint pens — not the ones that ruined your couch —and let us know what you used!

There must be lots of inquisitive kids in this world! We asked this question once before and most of the answers that came in said, "Take a paddle and use it on the kid's other end!" This was real cute but it did not remove some people's ink marks! Sure will love ya' if you can answer this.

Grain Shipments Rise, Lake Carriers Report

CLEVELAND (AP)—November grain shipments totaling 2,869,934 tons were the highest for the month on the Great Lakes since 1945, according to the Lake Carriers' Association.

Cargoes of iron ore, coal and grain delivered last month amounted to 11,225,204 tons, down from 14,578,795 tons shipped in November 1961, the association reports.

November coal shipments fell to 5,399,426 tons from 5,408,929 tons in the corresponding period last year, and iron ore shipments dropped to 2,639,146 tons from 5,844,849 tons a year ago.

Canaveral Marks 6th Success For 'Titan 2'

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Titan 2, the United States' most powerful military missile, has recorded its sixth success in nine test launchings.

The 103-foot-tall rocket raced 5,000 miles from Cape Canaveral to the south Atlantic Ocean Wednesday on a flight described by one project official as "the best yet" for Titan 2.

Yule Dinner Attracts 100

About 100 attended the annual Christmas coverdish dinner meeting of the Fairview Grange Tuesday night in the Grange Hall in Ohioville.

The program presented by the Juvenile Grange, under the direction of Mrs. Charles Richards, included group singing, solos, drills and a piano duet by Misses Arlene and Nettie Doutt.

Gifts were presented to adults and children and special treats to juveniles and teen-agers.

F. Paul Dawson, master, presided for business.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Welsh were obligated in the third and fourth degrees by Robert Dawson. Mrs. Earl Sherman was elected Ceres to replace Mrs. Warren Turner, who resigned.

Walter Schuffert was presented a silver star certificate for the 1962 Lecturers' Award and Fairview Grange won second prize for ritual work.

Grangers extended thanks to Mrs. Sam McKinney for her work as community service chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. John Smyda Jr. were appointed sponsors of the newly-organized Fairview Grange Youth Club. The first dance, a New Year's Hop, will be held in the Grange Hall Jan. 5 for students of the 9th to 12th grades. It will be open to the public. Officers elected are James Welch, president; Dennis Krizan, vice president; Rosaleen Gibson, secretary; Dave Carothers, treasurer, and Tanna Welsh, chaplain.

The home economics committee will sponsor a fish fry the second Friday of each month, beginning Jan. 11.

A general fair committee meeting will be held Jan. 8 at 8 p. m. in the hall.

Frank Mosura was awarded a prize at the Juvenile Grange meeting for his work in the Christmas project.

The first meeting in January has been canceled and the next is Jan. 15. Slides will be shown by state deputy, Henry Smith, on Grange ritual.

A New Year's Eve coverdish dinner will be held at 6:30 in the hall. Each family is to bring sauerkraut and spareribs to be cooked in the kitchen and served at midnight.

Success Marks Final Test In Rocket Series

POINT MUGU, Calif. (AP)—Successful firing of a Nike Zeus anti-missile rocket brought the Army's current test series to a conclusion here, officials said.

The launching Wednesday gave the Army 10 successful shots out of 19 efforts. Nine of the rockets were destroyed in flight.

Designed to intercept and destroy missiles at altitudes above 100 miles, the Nike Zeus has been under development since 1957, but Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has said he doubts that it is ready for full-scale production.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bee Jay Broadcasting Co. has applied to the Communications Commission for permission to construct an FM station in Germantown near Dayton, Ohio. It would operate on 98.3 megacycles, 3 kilowatts.

2 Children Die As Car Rolls In Michigan River

ST. CLAIR, Mich. (AP) — A family Christmas shopping trip ended in tragedy Wednesday night when an unattended auto rolled into the St. Clair River carrying two youngsters to their death.

The victims were 2-year-old Judy Solgot and her year-old brother, Walter, children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Solgot of St. Clair. A third child, Robert 3, was rescued from the icy waters.

State police said the children's uncle, Walter Solgot, 18, was babysitting with them while Mr. and Mrs. Solgot went shopping.

Solgot took the three children along later in his convertible and parked near a drug store. He saw his sister-in-law in the store and went in to join her as she finished her shopping.

Police said the car, which was parked on an incline, suddenly began to roll forward. They theorized one of the children might have pulled the gear shift into place.

The car, picking up speed in its 75-foot run, rolled across the Main Street of St. Clair, across a park and plunged nose first into 20 feet of water.

The uncle, who came out of the store just in time to see his car rolling away, tried frantically to catch up with it. He plunged into the dark waters and brought Robert to safety.

Skin divers recovered the bodies of Judy and Walter.

Debbie Reynolds Gets Ovation At Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Debbie Reynolds made her Las Vegas debut Wednesday night, and many celebrities joined the audience in giving her a standing, cheering ovation.

"It's the greatest evening I've had in years," said Judy Garland, one of the many star ringsiders.

The Hotel Riviera reportedly paid Debbie $50,000 a week, the highest any entertainer has received in this gambling city.

Mission Set To Visit U.N. Congo Force

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Lt. Gen. Louis Truman planned more talks at the United Nations today before leading a U.S. military mission to the Congo to check the needs of U.N. forces.

The Truman mission has been linked with reports, from Washington and President Kennedy's Nassau conference with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, that the United States is concerned over prospects of a new Soviet bid for influence in the Congo.

Truman told reporters Wednesday night, however, after meeting more than an hour with Secretary-General U Thant, "my mission has nothing to do with that whatsoever."

He said the United States has "no plans that I know of" to send troops to the Congo and that his purpose is to see what useful military equipment "we can give to the Congo."

State Department officials said earlier the mission will assess the ability of the 18,000-man U.N. force to keep order.

Gen. Truman was to confer with Robert K. A. Gardiner, the chief of the U.N. Congo mission, and Ralph J. Bunche, U.N. undersecretary who has had a big advisory role in Congo affairs.

His eight-man mission, made up of specialists in planning, logistics and equipment, expects to remain in the Congo five to seven days.

Antique Toys Shown At Plant Nurse Party

Antique toys were displayed at the Christmas dinner party of the Tri - State Valley Industrial Nurses Association Tuesday night in the Gold Room at the Ft. Steuben Hotel in Steubenville.

Members spoke on the heritage of the toys as they were shown. Christmas customs revealed were those of Scottish, Swedish and Pennsylvania Dutch descent. Christmas traditions at the Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore were discussed.

Mrs. Rhea Nile of the Sterling China Co., president, presided for brief business.

Covers were arranged for 20 at the table centered with a pink nylon tulle tree. Next meeting is Jan. 15 at the Ft. Steuben.

Senator Asks Cuban Status

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, said today the Kennedy administration should fully inform Congress of any commitments made during the Cuban crisis that could affect future action against the Fidel Castro government.

Hickenlooper, who heads the Senate Republican Policy Committee and is a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he is not proposing any "excitable investigation."

"But Congress should be fully informed of what went on," he said. "It is essential that we know, also, what promises or agreements were made, if any, about not invading Cuba."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana indicated in a separate interview he expects the Kennedy administration to review its actions for congressional committees directly concerned. But he said he sees little to gain in hashing over all the details of a critical period.

Students 'Eager Beavers'

School Mascot Sculptured In Snow

Western Beaver County Junior-Senior High School students in Industry are shown with three beavers, sculptured from the fast disappearing snow and modeled from the school's mascot, the Golden Beaver.

The beavers were colored golden, the mound between them, green, and the base, light purple. Purple snowballs were hung on the limbs of the small tree inserted in the mound.

The art work was made by students of the elective art classes of Thomas Kozar, art instructor.

VA Contact Service In Area Discontinued

Michael Blischak, service officer for the Jefferson County American Legion Council, said the Veterans Administration Tuesday discontinued the services of a contact representative. The VA closed its Steubenville offices last January, then provided a contact officer for weekly visits on Tuesday.

Service officers of the 16 county posts now may be contacted for information and assistance. Another service that is available is provided by the Jefferson County Soldiers Relief Commission at the War Memorial Building, 421 North St., Steubenville, where a county veterans' service officer can provide advice and assistance in cases concerning veterans or their dependents. The VA office at Steubenville served the East Liverpool area until it was closed.

Salineville Chairmen Named For March Of Dimes Drive

Appointment of Atty. J. Warren Bettis as chairman and Mrs. Charles E. Mundy as co-chairman for Salineville for the March of Dimes drive was announced today by Richard G. Brian, Columbiana County campaign director.

Brian said the 25th anniversary "march" this January promises to be the most successful in years.

"Our campaign theme this year is 'Give for the Life of a Child'," Brian said, "and we're asking residents of Columbiana County to do just that."

"Through the contributions of the American people during the National Foundations first-quarter century, March of Dimes - supported research developed the Salk and Sabin vaccines and polio has been eliminated as a threat to the lives and well-being of children all over the world, even though millions of dollars are still needed to aid stricken in former years.

"Now we are striving to bring expert medical care to every community in the nation to help the thousands of infants and children disabled by birth defects and arthritis."

The chairman explained that 250,000 infants are born every year in the United States with significant birth defects—almost 700 such babies born each day. There are fully 11 million Americans — including thousands of children — afflicted with some form of arthritis or rheumatic disease, he added, and most communities just don't have the medical personnel or facilities to care adequately for persons stricken by these disabilities.

Brian said, "To meet this desperate need, the March of Dimes has already helped finance more than 50 treatment centers for birth defects, arthritis and polio in many parts of the country.

"Teams of medical specialists are providing the early diagnosis and comprehensive medical care which can often cure or minimize the disabling effects of birth defects and arthritis."

That is why community volunteer leaders will urge residents of Columbiana County to give as generously as possible.

Smiths Ferry IOOF Will Hold Yule Party

Final plans for a Christmas party Friday at 7:30 p. m. for members and their families were completed at a meeting of Line Island IOOF Lodge of Smiths Ferry Tuesday night.

The party will be held at the lodge hall. Santa Claus will distribute gifts and treats to the children.

It was announced the lodge's dartball committee will go to Edith Lodge 812 at Freedom Thursday evening to make plans for the last half of the series of games.

George Vlaich was reported ill and John Eckstein still on the sick list. Rudy Zetz, noble grand, presided. Next meeting, which would fall on Christmas, will be announced.

Shiloh Man, 74, Killed As Train Rams Truck

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — One mar. was killed and two other persons were injured here Wednesday when a strain smashed into a semi-truck tractor, showering debris into a barroom near the scene. Dead is Harold Keiser, 74, of Shiloh, Richland County, who was riding in the truck cab with the driver, his son, Thomas, 25, of Marion, Va. The son was injured.

A waitress in the bar, Mrs. Doris Norris, suffered leg injuries. The rear wheels of the tractor were knocked through a wall and the cab went through the bar window.

Yule Money Sent Akron Family By Unknown 'Santa'

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Thanks to a $300 gift from an anonymous donor, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Arnold and their nine children will have a happy Christmas although the parents have had a streak of bad luck lately.

Business has been bad at the beauty shop operated by Mrs. Arnold in their home, Arnold has been ill recently and the family has been on relief, but the $300 will provide Christmas gifts for the couple and their children, ages 7 to 21.

The money was sent to the Akron Beacon Journal for the Arnolds. This is the 10th Christmas in a row the family has received cash from the unidentified benefactor and the gifts have totaled $2,400.

It all started in 1953, when Mrs. Arnold was doing her Christmas shopping with only $37 and a man in a department store asked if the eight children accompanying her were hers. When told that they were, the man placed a $20 bill on the counter and walked away, wishing her a merry Christmas.

A letter of thanks from Mrs. Arnold was printed by the Beacon Journal the following day and a man brought another $80 to the newspaper for her. Each year after that an envelope containing money has been sent to the paper for delivery to Mrs. Arnold. The envelopes have had an Akron postmark.

"This is our Christmas miracle," said Mrs. Arnold, "What more can I say after all these years?"

Industry School Dance Set Friday

A "Winter Frolic Dance" for 58 seniors of Western Beaver County Junior - Senior High School in Industry will be held Friday from 9 to midnight at the school.

The Beaver Area Bopcats swing band, made up of students of Beaver Area High School and headed by William Schwartz, will furnish music. Refreshments will be served.

A post - prom party will follow, luncheon will be served and seniors will dance to records.

A brass ensemble also played traditional Christmas carols.

There are 50 students in the chorus and five in the brass ensemble. The program was presented Wednesday to junior high students. Leo Curto, music supervisor, directed the program.

300 Attend Glenmoor Community Yule Fete

About 300 attended the annual community Christmas party held Wednesday night at the Glenmoor fire station by the volunteer firemen and Penova Citizens' Band Radio Club.

Santa Claus distributed candy and gifts to the children. The men served coffee and cookies to the adults.

All were given oranges and popcorn balls. Group singing was enjoyed.

Newell Youngsters Receive Treats After Santa Parade

A report on the annual affair was submitted by William Gamble, child welfare officer, at the meeting of American Legion Post 114, one of the sponsoring organizations, last night.

Gamble also reported on the progress of the Christmas basket program co-sponsored by the Legion and the Lions Club.

The post representatives included Dewayne Staley, commander, Larry Rush, Norman R. Haynes and Gamble while John Merriman and Roscoe Wilson represented Chester Post 121.

Musical selections were presented by Staley, Wilson and son and Cecil Smith of Newell.

The post authorized the trustees to meet with Rush to make a survey of insurance needs.

It also approved room reservations for delegates and alternates to the department convention at Bluefield in July. Staley presided.

Next meeting is Jan. 2.

Fire Levels 9 Homes In Pennsylvania City

STEELTON, Pa. (AP) — An early morning blaze destroyed nine row houses today, routing more than 100 persons from their homes. No injuries were reported.

Fire Chief Wilbur Stehman said the first call on the fire came in at 1:58 a. m. All six Steelton fire companies answered the alarm. The blaze was brought under control about 6:30 a. m.

"This could have been a disaster if it had not been for the good work of our police," said Mayor Bayard Reider.

He said Police Lt. Stephen Cordas and patrolman Virgil McGrady heard the fire call on their police radio. They went to the area, awakening residents.

Wheat Crop Listed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department's winter wheat crop report shows Ohio with 1,486,000 acres seeded for 1963 harvest, expected to produce 44,580,000 bushels.

Bar Operators Adopt 'One For Road' Slogan

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — The Mahoning County Tavern Owners' Association has adopted the slogan "make that one for the road coffee" for the Christmas holiday period as its part in a campaign to keep the area's traffic death toll down.

Mahoning Valley Trucking Association members will burn headlights 24 hours a day to call attention to traffic safety during the five-day period.

Iron Ore Firm Halts Operations At 2 Mines

CLEVELAND (AP) — Because the ore tonnage inventory is the highest it has ever been, Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. will suspend operations at two of its underground iron ore mines in Michigan for January.

The announcement Wednesday said the mines affected are the Cliffs Shaft and the Mather. The latter is owned jointly with Bethlehem Steel Co.

Spirit Of Season Brings Leniency In Fathers' Case

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff commented today it was only the spirit of the season that prevented him from ordering a jail term for an East Liverpool father of three jailed for intoxication Wednesday night after he allegedly chased his children outside into sub - freezing temperatures.

Patrolman Kenneth H. Mooney and Howard Frontz filed the intoxication charge against Dale Brooks, 818 Green Ln., after answering the second complaint of a disturbance at the Brooks' home.

Pleading guilty, Brooks was fined $25 and costs this morning by Judge Chertoff. However, the fine was suspended on payment of costs.

"If it was any other time of the year, you would go to jail," the judge told Brooks. "The suspension is based on an order to you to refrain from drinking for the balance of the year."

The officers said they went to the Brooks home first on a complaint from his wife. Because of the Christmas season, he was given a warning instead of being jailed, they said. The second complaint came from neighbors, who said they heard screams in the Brooks home, police said. The children, 16, 14 and 9, "had been chased outside into the snow," the officers said.

If you're serving soup at dinner, it's wise to fill the soup plates and have them on the table just before the family sits down. A tray of crackers, melba toast or cheese straws — if these are to accompany the soup — should also be on the table ready for passing. Smooth table service, with as little jumping - up as possible, helps to make a meal enjoyable.

Pughtown Girls Present Carols

The Pughtown Camp Fire Girls sang carols in the community Wednesday night as part of Christmas activities, and also plan to present a cheer basket to a needy child.

The youngsters met Tuesday night with Mrs. Alta Holbrook, leader of the Bluebirds.

Group singing and a gift exchange were highlights. The home was decorated with a tree and the ornaments were made by the girls with help of their parents.

Lunch was served by Miss Nova Board at tables decorated with evergreens. The program also included a puppet show.

Salineville Waits Santa

SALINEVILLE — Santa will pay his yearly visit to the Salineville fire station at 3:30 p. m. Monday to distribute treats to community children, Joseph Knight, department secretary, said today.

It was announced the lodge's dartball committee will go to Edith Lodge 812 at Freedom Thursday evening to make plans for the last half of the series of games.

George Vlaich was reported ill and John Eckstein still on the sick list. Rudy Zetz, noble grand, presided. Next meeting, which would fall on Christmas, will be announced.

Shiloh Man, 74, Killed As Train Rams Truck

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — One man was killed and two other persons were injured here Wednesday when a strain smashed into a semi-truck tractor, showering debris into a barroom near the scene. Dead is Harold Keiser, 74, of Shiloh, Richland County, who was riding in the truck cab with the driver, his son, Thomas, 25, of Marion, Va. The son was injured.

A waitress in the bar, Mrs. Doris Norris, suffered leg injuries. The rear wheels of the tractor were knocked through a wall and the cab went through the bar window.

Yule Money Sent Akron Family By Unknown 'Santa'

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Thanks to a $300 gift from an anonymous donor, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Arnold and their nine children will have a happy Christmas although the parents have had a streak of bad luck lately.

Business has been bad at the beauty shop operated by Mrs. Arnold in their home, Arnold has been ill recently and the family has been on relief, but the $300 will provide Christmas gifts for the couple and their children, ages 7 to 21.

The money was sent to the Akron Beacon Journal for the Arnolds. This is the 10th Christmas in a row the family has received cash from the unidentified benefactor and the gifts have totaled $2,400.

It all started in 1953, when Mrs. Arnold was doing her Christmas shopping with only $37 and a man in a department store asked if the eight children accompanying her were hers. When told that they were, the man placed a $20 bill on the counter and walked away, wishing her a merry Christmas.

A letter of thanks from Mrs. Arnold was printed by the Beacon Journal the following day and a man brought another $80 to the newspaper for her. Each year after that an envelope containing money has been sent to the paper for delivery to Mrs. Arnold. The envelopes have had an Akron postmark.

"This is our Christmas miracle," said Mrs. Arnold, "What more can I say after all these years?"

Industry School Dance Set Friday

A "Winter Frolic Dance" for 58 seniors of Western Beaver County Junior - Senior High School in Industry will be held Friday from 9 to midnight at the school.

The Beaver Area Bopcats swing band, made up of students of Beaver Area High School and headed by William Schwartz, will furnish music. Refreshments will be served.

A post - prom party will follow, luncheon will be served and seniors will dance to records.

A Fred Waring presentation of the Christmas Crib, a tableaux, highlighted the Christmas program for seniors this morning.

A brass ensemble also played traditional Christmas carols.

There are 50 students in the chorus and five in the brass ensemble. The program was presented Wednesday to junior high students. Leo Curto, music supervisor, directed the program.

300 Attend Glenmoor Community Yule Fete

About 300 attended the annual community Christmas party held Wednesday night at the Glenmoor fire station by the volunteer firemen and Penova Citizens' Band Radio Club.

Santa Claus distributed candy and gifts to the children. The men served coffee and cookies to the adults.

All were given oranges and popcorn balls. Group singing was enjoyed.

Newell Youngsters Receive Treats After Santa Parade

A report on the annual affair was submitted by William Gamble, child welfare officer, at the meeting of American Legion Post 114, one of the sponsoring organizations, last night.

Gamble also reported on the progress of the Christmas basket program co-sponsored by the Legion and the Lions Club.

The post representatives included Dewayne Staley, commander, Larry Rush, Norman R. Haynes and Gamble while John Merriman and Roscoe Wilson represented Chester Post 121.

Musical selections were presented by Staley, Wilson and son and Cecil Smith of Newell.

The post authorized the trustees to meet with Rush to make a survey of insurance needs.

It also approved room reservations for delegates and alternates to the department convention at Bluefield in July. Staley presided.

Next meeting is Jan. 2.

Fire Levels 9 Homes In Pennsylvania City

STEELTON, Pa. (AP) — An early morning blaze destroyed nine row houses today, routing more than 100 persons from their homes. No injuries were reported.

Fire Chief Wilbur Stehman said the first call on the fire came in at 1:58 a. m. All six Steelton fire companies answered the alarm. The blaze was brought under control about 6:30 a. m.

"This could have been a disaster if it had not been for the good work of our police," said Mayor Bayard Reider.

He said Police Lt. Stephen Cordas and patrolman Virgil McGrady heard the fire call on their police radio. They went to the area, awakening residents.

Wheat Crop Listed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department's winter wheat crop report shows Ohio with 1,486,000 acres seeded for 1963 harvest, expected to produce 44,580,000 bushels.

Bar Operators Adopt 'One For Road' Slogan

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — The Mahoning County Tavern Owners' Association has adopted the slogan "make that one for the road coffee" for the Christmas holiday period as its part in a campaign to keep the area's traffic death toll down.

Mahoning Valley Trucking Association members will burn headlights 24 hours a day to call attention to traffic safety during the five-day period.

Iron Ore Firm Halts Operations At 2 Mines

CLEVELAND (AP) — Because the ore tonnage inventory is the highest it has ever been, Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. will suspend operations at two of its underground iron ore mines in Michigan for January.

The announcement Wednesday said the mines affected are the Cliffs Shaft and the Mather. The latter is owned jointly with Bethlehem Steel Co.

Spirit Of Season Brings Leniency In Fathers' Case

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff commented today it was only the spirit of the season that prevented him from ordering a jail term for an East Liverpool father of three jailed for intoxication Wednesday night after he allegedly chased his children outside into sub - freezing temperatures.

Patrolman Kenneth H. Mooney and Howard Frontz filed the intoxication charge against Dale Brooks, 818 Green Ln., after answering the second complaint of a disturbance at the Brooks' home.

Pleading guilty, Brooks was fined $25 and costs this morning by Judge Chertoff. However, the fine was suspended on payment of costs.

"If it was any other time of the year, you would go to jail," the judge told Brooks. "The suspension is based on an order to you to refrain from drinking for the balance of the year."

The officers said they went to the Brooks home first on a complaint from his wife. Because of the Christmas season, he was given a warning instead of being jailed, they said. The second complaint came from neighbors, who said they heard screams in the Brooks home, police said. The children, 16, 14 and 9, "had been chased outside into the snow," the officers said.

If you're serving soup at dinner, it's wise to fill the soup plates and have them on the table just before the family sits down. A tray of crackers, melba toast or cheese straws — if these are to accompany the soup — should also be on the table ready for passing. Smooth table service, with as little jumping - up as possible, helps to make a meal enjoyable.

Pughtown Girls Present Carols

The Pughtown Camp Fire Girls sang carols in the community Wednesday night as part of Christmas activities, and also plan to present a cheer basket to a needy child.

The youngsters met Tuesday night with Mrs. Alta Holbrook, leader of the Bluebirds.

Group singing and a gift exchange were highlights. The home was decorated with a tree and the ornaments were made by the girls with help of their parents.

Lunch was served by Miss Nova Board at tables decorated with evergreens. The program also included a puppet show.

Salineville Waits Santa

SALINEVILLE — Santa will pay his yearly visit to the Salineville fire station at 3:30 p. m. Monday to distribute treats to community children, Joseph Knight, department secretary, said today.

Path To Normality

New Drugs Aid Mentally Disturbed Men, Women

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP)—"The devil still talks to me," she said, "but I don't bother to holler back."

Thus did a tranquilizer drug bring one woman a ticket back toward mental health. From then on, she could cooperate with psychiatrists to work out an understanding of her emotional illness.

The "mood drugs," such as tranquilizers to calm excited minds and psychic stimulants to combat depression, are part of an exciting chemical era in mental illness. There are two great objectives.

One is to develop far more effective drugs for various types of mental illness.

The other is increasing, if controversial, evidence that much mental illness may steam from faulty body chemistry.

If specific chemical errors could be pinpointed, they probably could be corrected to prevent or cure mental ills, much as vitamin C combats scurvy.

Psychiatrists are divided over prospects of such chemical controls.

Tranquilizers, coming on the scene about eight years ago, and antidepressants, are having tremendous impact. Men and women sick for months or years have described the mental effects as the lifting of a curtain or cloud, or brightening of a dark room.

Drugs have provided a bridge to home for many thousands of men and women. Many continue taking them.

With early, prompt use of drugs, through clinics or private physicians, many persons would never have to go to mental hospitals in the first place, declares Dr. Nathan S. Kline, director of research at Rockland State Hospital, New York.

Other psychiatrists are less convinced of the value of drugs—some 30 different tranquilizers and more than a dozen antidepressants are available now. Some say equally good or better results are obtained with intensive psychiatric treatment of patients, but admit to the shortage of psychiatrists.

The National Institute of Mental Health has set up the Psychopharmacology Service Center to speed the screening and testing of new compounds.

To many researchers, a great, encouraging fact is that mood drugs do affect the brain, even though the mechanisms are not fully understood.

And certain other drugs, such as mescaline and LSD, actually produce hallucinations or other symptoms of severe mental illness in healthy persons — more reason to suspect that faulty body chemistry could be the reason for at least some types of mental illness.

In another sign, scientists have found abnormal chemicals, or abnormal amounts of regular body chemicals, in the blood and urine of schizophrenic patients. Whether these are the result or, possibly, the cause of mental illness is not yet known.

A few conditions now are known in which an inherited chemical defect or dietary deficiency causes mental retardation in children. Damage is avoided if the trouble is detected in time.

In the traditional view, mental illness is born from breakdown in human relationships, or from extreme emotional stress. The wounded mind may withdraw, or turn to behavior relieving its stress and pain. Some scientists believe mental illness is a result of both environmental reactions and faulty chemistry.

Psychotherapy presents puzzles. It is a method of listening to patients and helping them discover reasons for their behavior, and new insights. There are many approaches.

But psychiatrists do not understand how it works, or why one method helps some patients, but not others. It is difficult to prove conclusively that psychotherapy works at all.

Goodyear Given Balloon Contract

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Goodyear Aircraft Corp. announced today it has received a contract from General Electric Co. to build four 110 - foot - long inflatable fabric structures to support scientific equipment in the air.

The company said a specialized new fabric, stronger and more impermeable to gases than any predecessor, would be used in building the vee-balloon structures resembling two huge silver cigars fused together at one end.

The balloons can hold scientific instruments aloft for extended periods in almost any weather and because of their aerodynamic configuration they will ride at a higher vertical angle than round structures and are steadier than barrage balloons, GAC engineers said.

John Vokovich Named To Lisbon Police Post

LISBON — Mayor Dean Stockman announced John Vokovich, 34, of 63 Garfield Ave., has been appointed to the Lisbon police department and will begin his duties officially Jan. 1.

Vokovich was picked from 13 applications and he has started working part-time to become familiar with the work. He fills the vacancy created by the resignation of Chief Roy (Ching) Patterson.

Vokovich is presently employed by the Mackintosh - Hemphill Division of the E. W. Bliss Co. at Midland and is a Navy veteran of World War II.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Thoughts To Pass On To Children

You may want to read the following to your non-reading child and encourage the older child to read it. When you were very young, it was love in your mother and father and others that made them listen when you talked to them, that made them explain things to you and answer all your questions. Love made them read to you, listen to your yarns of imagination and enjoy your play at pretending and having fun with other children. It was love that made your mother and father cuddle and caress you when you were little and show affection for you in other ways as you grew older.

THEIR LOVE makes them listen to your troubles and sorrows as well as to your joys and happy experiences. No one else can comfort you in pain or trouble as well as they can, so much do they love you.

Did it ever occur to you that the love of your mother and father makes them try so hard to help you cultivate playmates and young friends and to cause all other persons to like you?

That's why they have not always let you have or do what you want to have or do, why they have urged or made you do some things you would rather not do.

That's why they have tried so hard to guide you in being always thoughtful of others. That's why they have tried to practice you in good manners. That's why they have had to rebuke or punish you sometimes.

YOU CAN SEE that if they always let you do as you please, it would not be long before you become so ugly and selfish that nobody could like you or be happy with you.

Whether you are two, eight, or twelve, how wonderful it is to enjoy being with your mother and father when you know they enjoy you! You just feel good and they feel good, whether anybody is saying or doing anything or not.

The more of such wonderful feelings you have while with your father or mother, the more often you feel this way when away from them. Such feelings help you to do right so you can enjoy telling your parents of what you did in their absence.

Love makes us all forget ourselves and think of others. It keeps us from thinking and saying, "Me first," but, instead, feeling and acting, "After you."

AS YOU YOURSELF have learned from your parents what is right to do and what is not right to do and as you have practiced not doing what is wrong and practiced doing what is right, you have grown more thoughtful of other persons, less selfish.

You have made yourself more likable to everybody.

This is the same as saying you have been getting more love in your own heart.

Motorists Prove A Suspicious Lot

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — You just can't do anything for suspicious motorists.

That's how Chamber of Commerce members feel as a result of their attempt to give people with cars a Christmas gift.

The chamber got city fathers to agree to let motorists park for free. Parking meters along the curbs were hooded — but some motorists persist in raising the hoods and feeding coins into the devices.

Mayor Bates Harcum thinks maybe the chamber's program didn't get enough advance publicity.

"If the merchants are going to have this again next year, I'm going to suggest they have a printed sign on the bags indicating what they are for," he said.

Woman Leader Dies

NEW HYDE PARK, N.Y. (AP) —Julia Surovell Katz, 52, former national secretary of the CIO Women's Auxiliary, died Wednesday of cancer. Mrs. Katz, a former New York City social worker, until recently had served as cultural program director for Mizrachi, a national women's Zionist group.

Needle Pattern

By LAURA WHEELER

One yard wonder! Make a party version in embroidery — another in plaid 'n' plaid.

Pin pattern to fabric, cut complete apron. Takes only one yard. Pattern 710: pattern medium size; one 2¼x7¾-inch motif; 2 smaller.

Send 35 cents in coins for this pattern to Laura Wheeler, in care of the East Liverpool Review, 45 Needlecraft Dept., P. O. Box 161, Old Chelsea Station, New York 11, N. Y. Print plainly your name, address and the pattern number.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Make Calories Count For Positive Health

Sometimes I think I don't promise enough on the nutrition score! We used to think of health in terms of absence of disease. With nutrition knowledge we think in terms of positive, wholesome, salubrious health to be genuinely enjoyed.

Ida Jean Kain

Does this hold true for reducing diets? Certainly! The protective foods which furnish the nutrition essentials are not the weight makers. You can reduce any amount of excess fat without drawing on vital tissue or draining your vitality. The aim is to provide every essential but calories generously.

In this push - button age everybody counts calories, more or less. What is important is to make those calories count for positive health. You get out of a diet exactly what you put into it.

WHILE REDUCING, the body requires just as much high quality protein, minerals and vitamins as when on full fare. When you budget calories, which you must do in order to turn stored fat back into energy, make sure to spend your calories wisely.

All foods furnish calories, but some foods are rich sources of the essential nutrients and for that reason they are termed protective. The body is constantly repairing and renewing itself.

The protective foods make good the wear and tear of daily living. When they form the backbone of your reducing diet, you are on the best diet in the world.

Check to see if you include the protective foods in adequate amounts daily: A pint of skim milk or buttermilk (in soup or as a beverage); lean meat, fish or fowl, 4 to 6 ounces cooked weight; 2 or 3 vegetables, one a dark green leafy or yellow; 2 fruits, on a citrus fruit, an egg or four eggs weekly, plus whole grains in cereal and bread, with butter or margarine.

Exchanges: If meat is limited to 4 ounces, include a half cup of cottage cheese to insure adequate protein.

When you regard the protective foods in terms of glowing health and more joie de vivre, you want to make them the backbone of your menus. On the protective plan of eating you will be better nourished than on your former fattening ways.

Aim to make this change in your food habits permanent, for when that is achieved, your weight worries are over.

BY APPLYING modern nutrition knowledge to daily meals we can extend the prime of life and stay young all through middle age, which by the way is from 40 to 70.

That promise is as exciting as finding the fountain of youth in middle age!

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Dr. Garry Meyers

You may want to read the following to your non-reading child and encourage the older child to read it. When you were very young, it was love in your mother and father and others that made them listen when you talked to them, that made them explain things to you and answer all your questions. Love made them read to you, listen to your yarns of imagination and enjoy your play at pretending and having fun with other children. It was love that made your mother and father cuddle and caress you when you were little and show affection for you in other ways as you grew older.

THEIR LOVE makes them listen to your troubles and sorrows as well as to your joys and happy experiences. No one else can comfort you in pain or trouble as well as they can, so much do they love you.

Did it ever occur to you that the love of your mother and father makes them try so hard to help you cultivate playmates and young friends and to cause all other persons to like you?

That's why they have not always let you have or do what you want to have or do, why they have urged or made you do some things you would rather not do.

That's why they have tried so hard to guide you in being always thoughtful of others. That's why they have tried to practice you in good manners. That's why they have had to rebuke or punish you sometimes.

YOU CAN SEE that if they always let you do as you please, it would not be long before you become so ugly and selfish that nobody could like you or be happy with you.

Whether you are two, eight, or twelve, how wonderful it is to enjoy being with your mother and father when you know they enjoy you! You just feel good and they feel good, whether anybody is saying or doing anything or not.

The more of such wonderful feelings you have while with your father or mother, the more often you feel this way when away from them. Such feelings help you to do right so you can enjoy telling your parents of what you did in their absence.

Love makes us all forget ourselves and think of others. It keeps us from thinking and saying, "Me first," but, instead, feeling and acting, "After you."

AS YOU YOURSELF have learned from your parents what is right to do and what is not right to do and as you have practiced not doing what is wrong and practiced doing what is right, you have grown more thoughtful of other persons, less selfish.

You have made yourself more likable to everybody.

This is the same as saying you have been getting more love in your own heart.

Motorists Prove A Suspicious Lot

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — You just can't do anything for suspicious motorists.

That's how Chamber of Commerce members feel as a result of their attempt to give people with cars a Christmas gift.

The chamber got city fathers to agree to let motorists park for free. Parking meters along the curbs were hooded — but some motorists persist in raising the hoods and feeding coins into the devices.

Mayor Bates Harcum thinks maybe the chamber's program didn't get enough advance publicity.

"If the merchants are going to have this again next year, I'm going to suggest they have a printed sign on the bags indicating what they are for," he said.

Woman Leader Dies

NEW HYDE PARK, N.Y. (AP) —Julia Surovell Katz, 52, former national secretary of the CIO Women's Auxiliary, died Wednesday of cancer. Mrs. Katz, a former New York City social worker, until recently had served as cultural program director for Mizrachi, a national women's Zionist group.

Make Calories Count For Positive Health

Ida Jean Kain

Sometimes I think I don't promise enough on the nutrition score! We used to think of health in terms of absence of disease. With nutrition knowledge we think in terms of positive, wholesome, salubrious health to be genuinely enjoyed.

Does this hold true for reducing diets? Certainly! The protective foods which furnish the nutrition essentials are not the weight makers. You can reduce any amount of excess fat without drawing on vital tissue or draining your vitality. The aim is to provide every essential but calories generously.

In this push - button age everybody counts calories, more or less. What is important is to make those calories count for positive health. You get out of a diet exactly what you put into it.

WHILE REDUCING, the body requires just as much high quality protein, minerals and vitamins as when on full fare. When you budget calories, which you must do in order to turn stored fat back into energy, make sure to spend your calories wisely.

All foods furnish calories, but some foods are rich sources of the essential nutrients and for that reason they are termed protective. The body is constantly repairing and renewing itself.

The protective foods make good the wear and tear of daily living. When they form the backbone of your reducing diet, you are on the best diet in the world.

Check to see if you include the protective foods in adequate amounts daily: A pint of skim milk or buttermilk (in soup or as a beverage); lean meat, fish or fowl, 4 to 6 ounces cooked weight; 2 or 3 vegetables, one a dark green leafy or yellow; 2 fruits, on a citrus fruit, an egg or four eggs weekly, plus whole grains in cereal and bread, with butter or margarine.

Exchanges: If meat is limited to 4 ounces, include a half cup of cottage cheese to insure adequate protein.

When you regard the protective foods in terms of glowing health and more joie de vivre, you want to make them the backbone of your menus. On the protective plan of eating you will be better nourished than on your former fattening ways.

Aim to make this change in your food habits permanent, for when that is achieved, your weight worries are over.

BY APPLYING modern nutrition knowledge to daily meals we can extend the prime of life and stay young all through middle age, which by the way is from 40 to 70.

That promise is as exciting as finding the fountain of youth in middle age!

Potters Are Given Slight Edge To Win First Friday

Scouting reports on Wheeling Linsly reveal that the East Liverpool Potters stand a good chance of gaining the victory column for the first time this season when they meet the Cadets Friday night at Memorial Auditorium.

And a victory can't come too soon for Coach Jim Harris, who is experiencing one of the most frustrating starts of his coaching career.

SO FAR in four starts it has been this way for the Potters: two overtime losses, a one-point decision and last Saturday night a defeat by four points at Wellsville after leading up until the last minute of the game.

This weekend will be another busy one for the Blue and White, which will play two games in two nights, but both will be at Memorial Auditorium.

Linsly, a team the Potters will be meeting for the first time in basketball, will bring a 2-2 record here. Saturday, it will be another Big 8 game with Massillon, a team which like the Potters hasn't hit the victory column in two starts.

—:—

MASSILLON plays host to Salem Friday night and the game Saturday at Memorial Auditorium will mark the first road tilt for Coach Nick Vrotsos' Tigers.

Linsly, Massillon To Appear At MA

After losing its first two games, Linsly has put together a pair of victories, defeating Warwood in an overtime, 55-51, and McKinley Vocational, 52-39, in its last outing. The loss to Linsly has been Warwood's only setback so far this season.

Linsly has dropped contests to Wheeling Central, 48-31, and St. Clairsville, 65-49.

THE CADETS boast some height and have four lettermen in the starting lineup.

George Morris, a 6-foot-3 senior, dropped in 20 points against Warwood, but the Linsly quint is labeled a balanced outfit, since scoring can come from anyone of the four veterans. The other starters include John Jelacic, 6-foot-2 senior, captain Wilson Wanner, 5-foot-10 senior, and Howard Meagle, 5-foot-9 junior, who lettered as a sophomore.

THE FIFTH starter will be taken from one of three according to Gene (Eudie) Joseph, the Cadet coach and a former star cager at Martins Ferry. The other three include Ron Fawcett, 6-foot-2, George Rodak, 6 feet and Ned Peck, 5-foot-11. All three are seniors.

Massillon has lost to Canton Lincoln, 51-46, and to Warren, 77-62. Warren defeated Massillon the night after nipping East Liverpool in an overtime.

FOUR lettermen will start for the Tigers, including high point men Floyd Pierce, a 5-foot-11 junior, and Dick Gerber, 6-foot-1 senior. Gerber will be the only senior in the junior - studded lineup, which also includes letter-winners Ed Buchanan, 6-foot-3, and Bill Blunt 5-foot-8.

Tom Gatsios, 5-foot-8, and Bob McAllister, 5-foot-11, two more juniors, will be vieing for the other starting sport.

Foes Seek New Owner For Titans

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — American Football League Commissioner Joe Foss, in town to find new backers for the league's sick New York franchise, said Wednesday the AFL "turned the corner this year."

"Everything will get better from here on," Foss predicted. "You can tell that from the rookies we are signing.

"We're not only getting some of the name players, but solid boys right down the list."

Foss admitted that he would like to settle quickly the ownership of the New York Titans, who became a league charge the last half of the season and currently are wallowing in debt and disinterest.

"There are several hot prospects" he said, "but if I were to tell you when the deal will be completed I would be only guessing."

The AFL commissioner said that Titan owner Harry Wismer would be completely out of any new Titan ownership picture. Wismer has run an unusual operation, feuding with coaches, players, front office help and the press, and losing gobs of money in the process.

It had been reported that Wismer's desire to retain some stock in a new ownership arrangement was one of the sticky problems in getting new Titan backing.

"The new people would own the club 100 per cent," Foss said. "They would keep it in New York, they are all New York people. The franchise has great potential."

Loyola Continues Potent Offense; Georgia Tech Drawing Attention

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Comes new Georgia Tech, a-ramblin' toward a national ranking and a-threatening to pose some problems for Southeastern Conference basketball teams.

Coach John Hyder's Engineers, generally picked among the also-rans in the pre-season predictions, now have won five straight and are making noises which are being heard with some apprehension in the SEC.

One of the louder noises was an 84-71 triumph Wednesday night over a good North Carolina State team which had lost only one game.

In other major action, fourth-ranked Chicago Loyola continued its rampage with a 106-94 win over Indiana, Xavier of Ohio upset St. Bonaventure 86-77, Wake Forest subdued Maryland 85-74, Princeton won its sixth without loss in an 84-69 rout of Rutgers and fifth ranked Mississippi State crushed Christian Brothers 106-71 for its fifth victory against a single loss.

Georgia Tech won only four conference games en route to a 10-16 record last season, and wasn't generally regarded as a major threat to such powerhouses as Mississippi State and Kentucky.

Georgia Tech, however, now owns victories over such highly regarded opponents as Furman, Rice, Southern Methodist and Wednesday night's victim, North Carolina State.

Leslie Hunter produced 17 points and 19 rebounds for Chicago Loyola, which went over 100 points for the sixth straight game against Indiana.

Wake Forest's triumph over Maryland allowed the Deacons to tie idle Duke for the Atlantic Coast Conference lead, each with 3-0 league marks.

Sophomore standout Bill Bradley turned in another sparkling performance for Princeton, hitting eight of 14 field goal attempts and all nine free throws against Rutgers.

Mississippi State got 22 points from Joe Dan Gold and 20 from Stan Brinker in the easy conquest of Christian Brothers.

Braves Claim Top Defense

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves captured team and individual defensive honors in the National League in 1962, the official averages released Wednesday disclosed.

The Braves had three fielding leaders—first baseman Joe Adcock .997, second baseman Frank Bolling .989 and catcher Del Crandall .994. Other pace-setters were shortstop Jose Pagan of San Francisco .873, third baseman Don Hoak, Pittsburgh .969, outfielder Tony Gonzalez, Philadelphia 1.000 and pitcher Dallas Green, also of the Phillies, 1.000.

Milwaukee had the highest collective average, .980, followed by St. Louis with .979. Philadelphia, Chicago, San Francisco and Cincinnati finished in a four-way deadlock for third at .977.

Gonzalez tied the major league record for the highest percentage by an outfielder in 100 or more games. He handled 276 chances in 114 games. The perfect mark was set by Danny Litwhiler of the Phillies in 1942 and equaled by Willard Marshall of the Boston Braves in 1951.

A total of 33 pitchers fielded 1.000 with Green handling the most chances, 45.

The closest battle for individual honors was at shortstop, where Leo Cardenas of Cincinnati and Roy Mcmillan, Milwaukee, each had a .972 average, one point less than the Giants' Pagan.

Joe Pepitone, Yankee youngster who will be given the No. 1 shot at first base next season, played the bag in 19 games for the Yankees in 1962. He played the out field in 32 games.

'The Branch' Is 81 Today

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Branch Rickey, who probably has "retired" more times than anyone else in baseball, was full of plans for still another venture as he celebrated his 81st birthday today.

Rickey, appointed recently as consultant to the St. Louis Cardinals, was looking ahead, paying little heed to his birthday.

"I'm all right," he said at his suburban Fox Chapel home. "I'm busy; I'm active; I'm not sick. I think I had a good year. But I don't want to pay much attention to birthdays. I don't care to count them any more."

The new job with the Cardinals "came as a great surprise" to baseball's elder statesman.

"I didn't have any idea of becoming interested again in any one club," he said. "I had retired."

93 Boys Sign Up In Midland Loop

A total of 93 boys registered for the Midland Hot Stove basketball program which is being conducted on Saturday mornings at Lincoln High School.

Sixteen are from grade five, 21 from grade six, 32 from grade seven, and 24 from grade eight have joined the program. It started Dec. 1.

The program is under the sponsorship of the Midland Board of Education and under the direct supervision of Edward Olkowski, high school instructor, for all boys attending the Midland schools.

Mickey Mantle of the Yankees had a perfect stolen bases record in 1962. He stole nine bases in as many attempts.

Meeting Set Tonight For Church Loop

Twenty teams are expected to open play Jan. 12 in the YMCA-Church Junior Basketball League. Carl A. "Pop" Werner said it is not certain how many teams will be represented but no more than 20 teams will be accepted because of scheduling difficulties. That number has expressed an interest.

A meeting of all manager and coaches will be held tonight at 8:15 when registration fees will be collected and pairings made.

Two divisions, a Collegiate division and an inter - collegiate division, will play a round robin schedule.

A trophy will be awarded the champion in each division with the league championship being decided by a tournament bringing the two top teams in each division together for a playoff.

Practice sessions have been set up for Dec. 22, 29 and Jan. 5.

11 Contests In District Before Santa Gets Here

Before Santa Claus pays his annual visit, district high school basketball teams will get 11 more games played on this long weekend which opens tonight with Chester visiting South Side.

Going into the holiday break, three of the area's 17 teams still remain undefeated with Midland, New Cumberland and Lisbon still able to show clean slates.

All three are scheduled this weekend with Midland facing a very stiff test at Aliquippa. The Leopards with a 5-0 record not only have to play a tough customer but the game is on Aliquippa's floor.

New Cumberland returns home, after walloping West Liberty, to play host to Bethany Friday night. Coach John Kuzio's team has checked off five straight victories.

Lisbon doesn't play Friday but puts a 3-0 mark on the line Saturday at United where the Eagles can be very stubborn at times even with a 1-3 record.

Rounding out the seven - game schedule Friday, Wheeling Linsly (2-2) visits East Liverpool (0-4) while Columbiana (2-1) visits Beaver Local (1-2).

United is busy twice this weekend playing at Stanton Local (1-2) Friday night then entertaining the unbeaten Blue Devils Saturday.

West Branch visits East Palestine (2-2) and Leetonia (1-1) goes to Greenford.

Three games Saturday which winds up the pre-Christmas activity shows Massillon at East Liverpool, Stanton Local seeking revenge for an early season loss at Brilliant and Lisbon at United.

Here's District Cage Schedule This Week

Tonight
Chester at South Side
Friday
Wheeling Linsly at East Liverpool
Midland at Aliquippa
United at Stanton Local West Branch at East Palestine
Bethany at New Cumberland
Columbiana at Beaver Local Leetonia at Greenford
Saturday

Sub Fullback Selected AFL's Rookie Of Year

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Jack Spikes, Dallas' star fullback, went out with an injury Oct. 12 in the game with Boston.

There was gloom in the ranks of the Dallas Texans but it lasted only until the following week when a cyclone from Kansas—Curtis McClinton—was hurled into the breach.

McClinton played nine games at fullback for the Texans because Spikes, when he got off the injury list, couldn't get his place back. The reasons were obvious.

McClinton carried the ball 111 times for 604 yards, caught 29 passes for 333 yards and did a terrific job of blocking.

So, Wednesday, McClinton was named Rookie-of-the-Year in the American Football League and Coach Hank Stram of the Texans heartily agreed with the choice.

"He didn't get an opportunity to play until Spikes was injured but he took advantage of the opportunity and contributed greatly to the success of our football team," said Stram. "He has all the natural ability, intelligence and temperament to be one of the truly great fullbacks of football."

The 230-pound McClinton, with speed to burn, was one of the big reasons Dallas won the Western Division of the AFL and plays at Houston Sunday for the championship.

Bonnent Teams Are Delayed By Fog At Houston

HOUSTON (AP)—Missouri and Georgia Tech, weather permitting, were to fly to Houston today for Saturday's Bluebonnet bowl game.

A dense fog that has plagued Houston the past four days prevented Missouri from arriving Wednesday night. Coach Dan Devine decided not to risk the flight and held his team in Kansas City overnight.

Bluebonnet officials, brass bands, and alumni delegations were to greet the teams at the International Airport.

Linsly has dropped contests to Wheeling Central, 48-31, and St. Clairsville, 65-49.

THE CADETS boast some height and have four lettermen in the starting lineup.

George Morris, a 6-foot-3 senior, dropped in 20 points against Warwood, but the Linsly quint is labeled a balanced outfit, since scoring can come from anyone of the four veterans. The other starters include John Jelacic, 6-foot-2 senior, captain Wilson Wanner, 5-foot-10 senior, and Howard Meagle, 5-foot-9 junior, who lettered as a sophomore.

THE FIFTH starter will be taken from one of three according to Gene (Eudie) Joseph, the Cadet coach and a former star cager at Martins Ferry. The other three include Ron Fawcett, 6-foot-2, George Rodak, 6 feet and Ned Peck, 5-foot-11. All three are seniors.

Massillon has lost to Canton Lincoln, 51-46, and to Warren, 77-62. Warren defeated Massillon the night after nipping East Liverpool in an overtime.

FOUR lettermen will start for the Tigers, including high point men Floyd Pierce, a 5-foot-11 junior, and Dick Gerber, 6-foot-1 senior. Gerber will be the only senior in the junior - studded lineup, which also includes letter-winners Ed Buchanan, 6-foot-3, and Bill Blunt 5-foot-8.

Tom Gatsios, 5-foot-8, and Bob McAllister, 5-foot-11, two more juniors, will be vieing for the other starting sport.

Foes Seek New Owner For Titans

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — American Football League Commissioner Joe Foss, in town to find new backers for the league's sick New York franchise, said Wednesday the AFL "turned the corner this year."

"Everything will get better from here on," Foss predicted. "You can tell that from the rookies we are signing.

"We're not only getting some of the name players, but solid boys right down the list."

Foss admitted that he would like to settle quickly the ownership of the New York Titans, who became a league charge the last half of the season and currently are wallowing in debt and disinterest.

"There are several hot prospects" he said, "but if I were to tell you when the deal will be completed I would be only guessing."

The AFL commissioner said that Titan owner Harry Wismer would be completely out of any new Titan ownership picture. Wismer has run an unusual operation, feuding with coaches, players, front office help and the press, and losing gobs of money in the process.

It had been reported that Wismer's desire to retain some stock in a new ownership arrangement was one of the sticky problems in getting new Titan backing.

"The new people would own the club 100 per cent," Foss said. "They would keep it in New York, they are all New York people. The franchise has great potential."

Loyola Continues Potent Offense; Georgia Tech Drawing Attention

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Comes new Georgia Tech, a-ramblin' toward a national ranking and a-threatening to pose some problems for Southeastern Conference basketball teams.

Coach John Hyder's Engineers, generally picked among the also-rans in the pre-season predictions, now have won five straight and are making noises which are being heard with some apprehension in the SEC.

One of the louder noises was an 84-71 triumph Wednesday night over a good North Carolina State team which had lost only one game.

In other major action, fourth-ranked Chicago Loyola continued its rampage with a 106-94 win over Indiana, Xavier of Ohio upset St. Bonaventure 86-77, Wake Forest subdued Maryland 85-74, Princeton won its sixth without loss in an 84-69 rout of Rutgers and fifth ranked Mississippi State crushed Christian Brothers 106-71 for its fifth victory against a single loss.

Georgia Tech won only four conference games en route to a 10-16 record last season, and wasn't generally regarded as a major threat to such powerhouses as Mississippi State and Kentucky.

Georgia Tech, however, now owns victories over such highly regarded opponents as Furman, Rice, Southern Methodist and Wednesday night's victim, North Carolina State.

Leslie Hunter produced 17 points and 19 rebounds for Chicago Loyola, which went over 100 points for the sixth straight game against Indiana.

Wake Forest's triumph over Maryland allowed the Deacons to tie idle Duke for the Atlantic Coast Conference lead, each with 3-0 league marks.

Sophomore standout Bill Bradley turned in another sparkling performance for Princeton, hitting eight of 14 field goal attempts and all nine free throws against Rutgers.

Mississippi State got 22 points from Joe Dan Gold and 20 from Stan Brinker in the easy conquest of Christian Brothers.

Braves Claim Top Defense

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves captured team and individual defensive honors in the National League in 1962, the official averages released Wednesday disclosed.

The Braves had three fielding leaders—first baseman Joe Adcock .997, second baseman Frank Bolling .989 and catcher Del Crandall .994. Other pace-setters were shortstop Jose Pagan of San Francisco .873, third baseman Don Hoak, Pittsburgh .969, outfielder Tony Gonzalez, Philadelphia 1.000 and pitcher Dallas Green, also of the Phillies, 1.000.

Milwaukee had the highest collective average, .980, followed by St. Louis with .979. Philadelphia, Chicago, San Francisco and Cincinnati finished in a four-way deadlock for third at .977.

Gonzalez tied the major league record for the highest percentage by an outfielder in 100 or more games. He handled 276 chances in 114 games. The perfect mark was set by Danny Litwhiler of the Phillies in 1942 and equaled by Willard Marshall of the Boston Braves in 1951.

A total of 33 pitchers fielded 1.000 with Green handling the most chances, 45.

The closest battle for individual honors was at shortstop, where Leo Cardenas of Cincinnati and Roy Mcmillan, Milwaukee, each had a .972 average, one point less than the Giants' Pagan.

Joe Pepitone, Yankee youngster who will be given the No. 1 shot at first base next season, played the bag in 19 games for the Yankees in 1962. He played the outfield in 32 games.

'The Branch' Is 81 Today

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Branch Rickey, who probably has "retired" more times than anyone else in baseball, was full of plans for still another venture as he celebrated his 81st birthday today.

Rickey, appointed recently as consultant to the St. Louis Cardinals, was looking ahead, paying little heed to his birthday.

"I'm all right," he said at his suburban Fox Chapel home. "I'm busy; I'm active; I'm not sick. I think I had a good year. But I don't want to pay much attention to birthdays. I don't care to count them any more."

The new job with the Cardinals "came as a great surprise" to baseball's elder statesman.

"I didn't have any idea of becoming interested again in any one club," he said. "I had retired."

93 Boys Sign Up In Midland Loop

A total of 93 boys registered for the Midland Hot Stove basketball program which is being conducted on Saturday mornings at Lincoln High School.

Sixteen are from grade five, 21 from grade six, 32 from grade seven, and 24 from grade eight have joined the program. It started Dec. 1.

The program is under the sponsorship of the Midland Board of Education and under the direct supervision of Edward Olkowski, high school instructor, for all boys attending the Midland schools.

Mickey Mantle of the Yankees had a perfect stolen bases record in 1962. He stole nine bases in as many attempts.

Meeting Set Tonight For Church Loop

Twenty teams are expected to open play Jan. 12 in the YMCA-Church Junior Basketball League. Carl A. "Pop" Werner said it is not certain how many teams will be represented but no more than 20 teams will be accepted because of scheduling difficulties. That number has expressed an interest.

A meeting of all manager and coaches will be held tonight at 8:15 when registration fees will be collected and pairings made.

Two divisions, a Collegiate division and an inter - collegiate division, will play a round robin schedule.

A trophy will be awarded the champion in each division with the league championship being decided by a tournament bringing the two top teams in each division together for a playoff.

Practice sessions have been set up for Dec. 22, 29 and Jan. 5.

11 Contests In District Before Santa Gets Here

Before Santa Claus pays his annual visit, district high school basketball teams will get 11 more games played on this long weekend which opens tonight with Chester visiting South Side.

Going into the holiday break, three of the area's 17 teams still remain undefeated with Midland, New Cumberland and Lisbon still able to show clean slates.

All three are scheduled this weekend with Midland facing a very stiff test at Aliquippa. The Leopards with a 5-0 record not only have to play a tough customer but the game is on Aliquippa's floor.

New Cumberland returns home, after walloping West Liberty, to play host to Bethany Friday night. Coach John Kuzio's team has checked off five straight victories.

Lisbon doesn't play Friday but puts a 3-0 mark on the line Saturday at United where the Eagles can be very stubborn at times even with a 1-3 record.

Rounding out the seven - game schedule Friday, Wheeling Linsly (2-2) visits East Liverpool (0-4) while Columbiana (2-1) visits Beaver Local (1-2).

United is busy twice this weekend playing at Stanton Local (1-2) Friday night then entertaining the unbeaten Blue Devils Saturday.

West Branch visits East Palestine (2-2) and Leetonia (1-1) goes to Greenford.

Here's District Cage Schedule This Week

Sub Fullback Selected AFL's Rookie Of Year

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Jack Spikes, Dallas' star fullback, went out with an injury Oct. 12 in the game with Boston.

There was gloom in the ranks of the Dallas Texans but it lasted only until the following week when a cyclone from Kansas—Curtis McClinton—was hurled into the breach.

McClinton played nine games at fullback for the Texans because Spikes, when he got off the injury list, couldn't get his place back. The reasons were obvious.

McClinton carried the ball 111 times for 604 yards, caught 29 passes for 333 yards and did a terrific job of blocking.

So, Wednesday, McClinton was named Rookie-of-the-Year in the American Football League and Coach Hank Stram of the Texans heartily agreed with the choice.

"He didn't get an opportunity to play until Spikes was injured but he took advantage of the opportunity and contributed greatly to the success of our football team," said Stram. "He has all the natural ability, intelligence and temperament to be one of the truly great fullbacks of football."

The 230-pound McClinton, with speed to burn, was one of the big reasons Dallas won the Western Division of the AFL and plays at Houston Sunday for the championship.

Bonnent Teams Are Delayed By Fog At Houston

HOUSTON (AP)—Missouri and Georgia Tech, weather permitting, were to fly to Houston today for Saturday's Bluebonnet bowl game.

A dense fog that has plagued Houston the past four days prevented Missouri from arriving Wednesday night. Coach Dan Devine decided not to risk the flight and held his team in Kansas City overnight.

Bluebonnet officials, brass bands, and alumni delegations were to greet the teams at the International Airport.

Walkie-Radio In Auto Taken

A walkie-talkie model citizens' band radio was stolen from a parked auto on St. Clair Ave. Wednesday, police reported.

Eddie Firestone, 2245 St. Clair Ave., told police the 10-transistor model transceiver was removed from the back seat of his auto while it was parked at his home.

Officers notified Firestone a box and a case which had contained the radio had been found near his driveway. The owner then checked and reported the radio had been stolen from the car sometime between 10 p. m. Tuesday and 7 a. m. Wednesday.

Officers said a sheet of instructions for the radio and some spare parts were found early today on Inez Ave. in Maplewood.

Meanwhile, Wright's Cash & Carry Lumber Co. in the Carroll Building on Dresden Ave. filed a supplemental report with the department listing the loot taken in a burglary discovered yesterday morning.

The loss included a half-inch drill, a three-eighths inch saber saw and a disc sander, officers said. When the entry first was discovered yesterday, the firm started an inventory to determine the loss.

Mrs. Ted Helms, 315 E. 3rd St., told police at 4:18 p. m. yesterday her daughter's coat was stolen about noon Wednesday at the High School. Valued at $29.95, the coat is size 7, she said. It is a reversible model in red and black plaid, she said.

Pay Hikes Eyed For Top Officials In West Virginia

CHARLESTON (AP) — The West Virginia Legislature convening Jan. 9 will be asked to provide handsome salary increases for State Board of Public Works members and the five State Supreme Court judges.

Under the bills' provisions, the governor, presiding officer of the board, would get a raise from $17,500 a year to $30,000.

Salaries for the attorney general and state school superintendent would be increased from $12,000 to $22,500 annually.

The other board members — state treasurer, agriculture commissioner, secretary of state and auditor — would get pay raises from $11,000 a year to $22,500.

The supreme court judges salaries would be hiked from $17,500 to $25,000.

Under state law, which prohibits salary increases for elected officials during their current terms, only the state school superintendent and supreme court judges could immediately benefit from the proposed pay raise bills.

At present, one of the state's highest paid offices is that of president of West Virginia University. The position pays $30,000 annually.

Kaycees To Hold Wellsville Party

Wellsville Knights of Columbus Council 507 will hold a Christmas party Friday night at 7:30 at the K. of C. home for the children of members.

Plans for the event were outlined at a meeting Tuesday night. James McPeak, grand knight, presided.

William Chema, chairman, announced that the Christmas party for members and their wives scheduled for Saturday night has been canceled because of remodeling under way. It will be held in conjunction with a New Year's Eve party.

Members were urged to make reservations as soon as possible.

John Kozora, remodeling chairman, reported on progress of the project. No meeting will be held next week because of Christmas.

PUC Says Rate Bids Were Cut 39 Per Cent

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's Public Utilities Commission says it chopped an average of about 39 cents out of every dollar before granting revenue increases asked by telephone, natural gas, electric and water companies in the past three years.

Citing 52 cases in which slightly over $17.5 million in increased revenue was asked, the commission said total increases authorized amounted to about $10.7 million, with some reductions going as high as 50 per cent.

In addition, the commission noted, 18 cases were dismissed and 7 applications denied.

The figures are included in a report prepared this month which covers the period from Dec. 1, 1959, to last Nov. 30.

Franklin Driver Dies

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Butler County's traffic fatality toll rose to 40 Wednesday night when Lynnwood Conley, 27, Franklin, died of injuries he suffered last Sunday. Police said Conley's car went off Todhunter Road just outside Monroe and ended up straddling a culvert.

Tamburitzans Will Be On TV Christmas Day

The St. George Junior Tamburitzans of the St. George Serbian Orthodox Church of Midland will present a taped performance Dec. 25 — Christmas Day — from 12:30 to 1 p.m. on Steubenville television station WSTV, Channel 9.

There are about 22 boys and girls in the group, ages 10 to 15. They play string instruments.

The Junior Tamburitzans will present Serbian folk songs and dances and also Christmas carols and other songs, such as "Silver Bells," "White Christmas" and "Winter Wonderland."

Knezevich is an alumnus of the well - known Duquesne Tamburitzans. He was graduated from Duquesne University in 1956 with a bachelor of music degree and in 1956 received his master's. He also teaches in the Aliquippa school system.

The group will rehearse again Saturday morning and tape the show later Saturday at the television studios.

Mr. Shnoo's Zoo

BY LUCRECE BEALE

CHAPTER 16

Molly was stuck in the hole like a stopper in a bottle and not all the water in the pipe could shove her out again until she was good and ready to leave.

Santa and Mr. Shnoo put down their paddles and looked around. Never had there been such a mess at the zoo! The water was going down but it would be a long time before it had all run off and the animals calmed down and their cages cleaned up.

Mr. Shnoo hailed an attendant who was drifting by on a raft made of a broken door.

"Go call the city water works!" he shouted.

The attendant did as he was told. The water men turned off the water at the main pipe and rushed to the zoo. Fortunately they brought boats with them. Otherwise they would have had to swim once they go inside the zoo gates.

When Molly had unplugged the pipe the men looked at the hole and exclaimed in surprise.

"This pipe didn't break by itself. Someone has busted it open with an ax!" The men pointed out the marks on the pipe that proved this was so.

"Yes," said Santa. "Someone did it and I know who."

"Who?" said Mr. Shnoo.

—:—

"THE SAME one who gave a firecracker to Honeybun and broke a window in the bird house and staked Henrietta to the wrong wall and set fire to the monkey house."

"But who?" demanded Mr. Shnoo.

"Impossible!"

"Crookshank," repeated Santa. "He has schemed and worked to prevent your getting an award from the Queen. Since you fixed up so fine a zoo he wants it back and he's determined you shall not be able to pay him off today. And he's not done yet. Since the flood has been stopped he will think of something else. Wait and see."

"Oh, dear," moaned Mr. Shnoo in despair. "What shall I do?"

"Face him with the charge at once," advised Santa. "I think you have not a moment to lose."

"But I must clean up the zoo! Everything is turned about and heaven knows what the Queen will think!"

"Do that later," said Santa. "Crookshank comes first!"

"I suppose you're right," said Mr. Shnoo.

He borrowed a plank from one of the water men and he sat on one end and Santa sat on the other end and off they paddled to hunt for Crookshank.

They had gone only a few yards when they heard from far off a hullabaloo of automobile horns honking and bells ringing. The din came closer and closer until it stopped at the gate of the zoo and there came a great fanfare of trumpets and the rolling tattoo of drums.

"Good heavens!" cried Mr. Shnoo. "It's the Queen!"

'I wish to sponsor a well cared for zoo,' said the Queen.

HE PADDLED furiously until the water was too shallow to hold the plank. Then he and Santa jumped off and rushed to the gates of the zoo. There sat the Queen, all regal and stiff, in a fine open carriage surrounded by guards dressed in purple and ermine.

"Your Highness," said Mr. Shnoo, bending low. "Welcome to Shnoo's Zoo."

The Queen gazed at him in astonishment. His clothes were sopping and his face was covered with dirt. Behind him stood Santa and the two of them together looked like mud pies set out to dry.

The Queen stepped down from the carriage, wincing a little as her heel sank into mud.

"Mr. Shnoo?" she said uncertainly.

"Mr. Shnoo bowed again. "The same," he muttered unhappily.

"As you know," said the Queen, "I wish to sponsor a happy and well cared for zoo. I also wish to award the owner 1,000 pieces of gold. I have visited all the zoos in the land. I have saved your zoo for last because I have heard such wonderful reports about how beautifully you keep it and how tenderly you treat the animals.

"I must say," she added looking about her. "It seems rather muddy and unkempt out here but I know inside the gates it will be different."

"Eh — yes, Your Majesty — eh —very different! stammered Mr. Shnoo miserably and bowing low he led her into the zoo.

Tomorrow: Merry Christmas to All.

State Park Authorized In Zanesville District

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Dillon Reservoir five miles northwest of Zanesville has been designated officially an Ohio state park.

The action was taken at a recent meeting of the Natural Resources Commission. At the same time Lawrence King was named park manager.

The reservoir, built by the U.S. Corps of Engineers and embracing an area of 7,454 acres, has been under control of the department of Natural Resources since Sept. 27 when a 50-year license agreement was signed with the Corps.

Development plans call for future construction of a swimming beach, marina and camping area by the Division of Parks.

52 Need Not Die Over Christmas, Ohio Patrol Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Fifty-two people don't have to meet death on the road as predicted for the Christmas and New Year's holiday periods combined, says Col. Scott B. Radcliffe, Ohio Highway Patrol superintendent.

He's telling motorists the Highway Patrol will make every effort to see the toll doesn't reach expectations. But he warns that it's mostly up to drivers themselves.

Responsibility behind the wheel is the key, Radcliffe says.

Obeying the speed laws, not driving after drinking, paying strict attention to highway signs and signals, staying alert for other drivers' mistakes and exercising courtesy themselves should keep holiday motorists safe, he says.

Motorists observed breaking traffic laws and nabbed by the patrol on its around-the-clock vigil may not expect any leniency, Radcliffe emphasized.

Trial Set Jan. 3 On Charge Filed By Fire Marshal

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today set a hearing Jan. 3 at 9 a. m. for Robert H. Kaiser, 1221 Pennsylvania Ave., accused of failure to comply with an order from a deputy state fire marshal requiring him to repair a frame house at Central Ave. and Ridge Alley.

Kaiser was brought before the judge this morning on a warrant signed Nov. 30 by George Boston of Wintersville, deputy state fire marshal.

The warrant, served by police today, alleged that Kaiser "did wilfully or negligently fail, neglect or refuse to comply with a fire marshal's order" to make repairs to the two-story frame. The order was served in September, giving him 30 days to comply, the affidavit said.

Judge Chertoff set the trial date after Kaiser requested a continuance to secure counsel. He was released on his own recognizance. No plea was entered.

The fire marshal's order listed a series of repairs which Kaiser was instructed to make on the house to restore it to "liveable" condition.

3 County Courts Pay $3,411 To Treasurer

LISBON — A total of $3,411.55 was paid to the county treasurer by the three County Courts during November, according to Clerk of Courts Carl L. Stacey.

A breakdown shows $2,091.50 from fines and $1,320.05 in civil cases and court costs.

The state treasurer received $1,444.50 for its 45 per cent of the State Highway Patrol fines.

Walkie-Radio In Auto Taken

Eddie Firestone, 2245 St. Clair Ave., told police the 10-transistor model transceiver was removed from the back seat of his auto while it was parked at his home.

Officers notified Firestone a box and a case which had contained the radio had been found near his driveway. The owner then checked and reported the radio had been stolen from the car sometime between 10 p. m. Tuesday and 7 a. m. Wednesday.

Officers said a sheet of instructions for the radio and some spare parts were found early today on Inez Ave. in Maplewood.

Meanwhile, Wright's Cash & Carry Lumber Co. in the Carroll Building on Dresden Ave. filed a supplemental report with the department listing the loot taken in a burglary discovered yesterday morning.

The loss included a half-inch drill, a three-eighths inch saber saw and a disc sander, officers said. When the entry first was discovered yesterday, the firm started an inventory to determine the loss.

Mrs. Ted Helms, 315 E. 3rd St., told police at 4:18 p. m. yesterday her daughter's coat was stolen about noon Wednesday at the High School. Valued at $29.95, the coat is size 7, she said. It is a reversible model in red and black plaid, she said.

Pay Hikes Eyed For Top Officials In West Virginia

CHARLESTON (AP) — The West Virginia Legislature convening Jan. 9 will be asked to provide handsome salary increases for State Board of Public Works members and the five State Supreme Court judges.

Under the bills' provisions, the governor, presiding officer of the board, would get a raise from $17,500 a year to $30,000.

Salaries for the attorney general and state school superintendent would be increased from $12,000 to $22,500 annually.

The other board members — state treasurer, agriculture commissioner, secretary of state and auditor — would get pay raises from $11,000 a year to $22,500.

The supreme court judges salaries would be hiked from $17,500 to $25,000.

Under state law, which prohibits salary increases for elected officials during their current terms, only the state school superintendent and supreme court judges could immediately benefit from the proposed pay raise bills.

At present, one of the state's highest paid offices is that of president of West Virginia University. The position pays $30,000 annually.

Kaycees To Hold Wellsville Party

Plans for the event were outlined at a meeting Tuesday night. James McPeak, grand knight, presided.

William Chema, chairman, announced that the Christmas party for members and their wives scheduled for Saturday night has been canceled because of remodeling under way. It will be held in conjunction with a New Year's Eve party.

Members were urged to make reservations as soon as possible.

John Kozora, remodeling chairman, reported on progress of the project. No meeting will be held next week because of Christmas.

PUC Says Rate Bids Were Cut 39 Per Cent

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's Public Utilities Commission says it chopped an average of about 39 cents out of every dollar before granting revenue increases asked by telephone, natural gas, electric and water companies in the past three years.

Citing 52 cases in which slightly over $17.5 million in increased revenue was asked, the commission said total increases authorized amounted to about $10.7 million, with some reductions going as high as 50 per cent.

In addition, the commission noted, 18 cases were dismissed and 7 applications denied.

The figures are included in a report prepared this month which covers the period from Dec. 1, 1959, to last Nov. 30.

Franklin Driver Dies

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Butler County's traffic fatality toll rose to 40 Wednesday night when Lynnwood Conley, 27, Franklin, died of injuries he suffered last Sunday. Police said Conley's car went off Todhunter Road just outside Monroe and ended up straddling a culvert.

Tamburitzans Will Be On TV Christmas Day

The St. George Junior Tamburitzans of the St. George Serbian Orthodox Church of Midland will present a taped performance Dec. 25 — Christmas Day — from 12:30 to 1 p.m. on Steubenville television station WSTV, Channel 9.

There are about 22 boys and girls in the group, ages 10 to 15. They play string instruments.

The Junior Tamburitzans will present Serbian folk songs and dances and also Christmas carols and other songs, such as "Silver Bells," "White Christmas" and "Winter Wonderland."

Knezevich is an alumnus of the well-known Duquesne Tamburitzans. He was graduated from Duquesne University in 1956 with a bachelor of music degree and in 1956 received his master's. He also teaches in the Aliquippa school system.

The group will rehearse again Saturday morning and tape the show later Saturday at the television studios.

Mr. Shnoo's Zoo

BY LUCRECE BEALE

CHAPTER 16

Molly was stuck in the hole like a stopper in a bottle and not all the water in the pipe could shove her out again until she was good and ready to leave.

Santa and Mr. Shnoo put down their paddles and looked around. Never had there been such a mess at the zoo! The water was going down but it would be a long time before it had all run off and the animals calmed down and their cages cleaned up.

Mr. Shnoo hailed an attendant who was drifting by on a raft made of a broken door.

"Go call the city water works!" he shouted.

The attendant did as he was told. The water men turned off the water at the main pipe and rushed to the zoo. Fortunately they brought boats with them. Otherwise they would have had to swim once they go inside the zoo gates.

When Molly had unplugged the pipe the men looked at the hole and exclaimed in surprise.

"This pipe didn't break by itself. Someone has busted it open with an ax!" The men pointed out the marks on the pipe that proved this was so.

"Yes," said Santa. "Someone did it and I know who."

"Who?" said Mr. Shnoo.

—:—

"THE SAME one who gave a firecracker to Honeybun and broke a window in the bird house and staked Henrietta to the wrong wall and set fire to the monkey house."

"But who?" demanded Mr. Shnoo.

"Impossible!"

"Crookshank," repeated Santa. "He has schemed and worked to prevent your getting an award from the Queen. Since you fixed up so fine a zoo he wants it back and he's determined you shall not be able to pay him off today. And he's not done yet. Since the flood has been stopped he will think of something else. Wait and see."

"Oh, dear," moaned Mr. Shnoo in despair. "What shall I do?"

"Face him with the charge at once," advised Santa. "I think you have not a moment to lose."

"But I must clean up the zoo! Everything is turned about and heaven knows what the Queen will think!"

"Do that later," said Santa. "Crookshank comes first!"

"I suppose you're right," said Mr. Shnoo.

He borrowed a plank from one of the water men and he sat on one end and Santa sat on the other end and off they paddled to hunt for Crookshank.

They had gone only a few yards when they heard from far off a hullabaloo of automobile horns honking and bells ringing. The din came closer and closer until it stopped at the gate of the zoo and there came a great fanfare of trumpets and the rolling tattoo of drums.

"Good heavens!" cried Mr. Shnoo. "It's the Queen!"

'I wish to sponsor a well cared for zoo,' said the Queen.

HE PADDLED furiously until the water was too shallow to hold the plank. Then he and Santa jumped off and rushed to the gates of the zoo. There sat the Queen, all regal and stiff, in a fine open carriage surrounded by guards dressed in purple and ermine.

"Your Highness," said Mr. Shnoo, bending low. "Welcome to Shnoo's Zoo."

The Queen gazed at him in astonishment. His clothes were sopping and his face was covered with dirt. Behind him stood Santa and the two of them together looked like mud pies set out to dry.

The Queen stepped down from the carriage, wincing a little as her heel sank into mud.

"Mr. Shnoo?" she said uncertainly.

"Mr. Shnoo bowed again. "The same," he muttered unhappily.

"As you know," said the Queen, "I wish to sponsor a happy and well cared for zoo. I also wish to award the owner 1,000 pieces of gold. I have visited all the zoos in the land. I have saved your zoo for last because I have heard such wonderful reports about how beautifully you keep it and how tenderly you treat the animals.

"I must say," she added looking about her. "It seems rather muddy and unkempt out here but I know inside the gates it will be different."

"Eh — yes, Your Majesty — eh —very different! stammered Mr. Shnoo miserably and bowing low he led her into the zoo.

Tomorrow: Merry Christmas to All.

State Park Authorized In Zanesville District

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Dillon Reservoir five miles northwest of Zanesville has been designated officially an Ohio state park.

The action was taken at a recent meeting of the Natural Resources Commission. At the same time Lawrence King was named park manager.

The reservoir, built by the U.S. Corps of Engineers and embracing an area of 7,454 acres, has been under control of the department of Natural Resources since Sept. 27 when a 50-year license agreement was signed with the Corps.

Development plans call for future construction of a swimming beach, marina and camping area by the Division of Parks.

52 Need Not Die Over Christmas, Ohio Patrol Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Fifty-two people don't have to meet death on the road as predicted for the Christmas and New Year's holiday periods combined, says Col. Scott B. Radcliffe, Ohio Highway Patrol superintendent.

He's telling motorists the Highway Patrol will make every effort to see the toll doesn't reach expectations. But he warns that it's mostly up to drivers themselves.

Responsibility behind the wheel is the key, Radcliffe says.

Obeying the speed laws, not driving after drinking, paying strict attention to highway signs and signals, staying alert for other drivers' mistakes and exercising courtesy themselves should keep holiday motorists safe, he says.

Motorists observed breaking traffic laws and nabbed by the patrol on its around-the-clock vigil may not expect any leniency, Radcliffe emphasized.

Out Of The Air

By ALAN GILL

Martin Agronsky Visits Polaris Sub

At the height of the Adlai Stevenson-Saturday Evening Post imbroglio, Hugh Downs interviewed our U.N. ambassador on the "Today" show and it was a mess.

Alan Gill

Downs, who wasn't listening to Stevenson, was asking him the pesty little questions Stevenson had just answered, and Stevenson on his part was getting peevish. "Today's" error was in not using its own best interviewer — the man who knows how to do homework, how to ask questions, how to listen, how to get the complete story—Martin Agronsky.

-:-

AGRONSKY, a tall, slender, frighteningly articulate man has been up to his ears, though, in other matters of considerable moment — specifically, a one-hour NBC News special called "Polaris Submarine: Journal of an Undersea Voyage."

With an associate producer and a camera team, Agronsky spent 16 midsummer days on the USS George Washington and at long last had the story to tell. He told it Wednesday night.

"We shot almost 21 hours of film," he was saying the other day, "and we've got it down to an hour.

"We followed two threads — one political, one human. Politically we must understand that the Polaris sub is our last-ditch nuclear deterrent, with a firepower in its 16 missiles equal to all the World War II bombs, including those dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki. Its full complement could take out England.

"CONCEIVABLY, the enemy could have a system to take out our SAC bombers. Conceivably, and with reasonable accuracy, he could darn near cripple our soft (meaning above-ground) and hard (underground) missile bases.

"That leaves Polaris, the last invulnerable means of massive retaliation. At least, from what we know of underwater detection and antisub weapons, it's invulnerable.

"And because the purpose of this last, ultimate weapon is deterrence, it would be a failure if it ever were used. America would already have been attacked and, to a large degree — well, gone.

"The human thread of our story is in the fact that every guy on that sub understands all this — the terrible finality of it — and the show was oriented to show how these 125 to 130 officers and men live with the fact.

"WE GOT conversations in the wardroom and mess, and you could see how articulate and intelligent, how very sophisticated these guys are. After all, they are technicians in the most sophisticated kind of electronic apparatus."

Agronsky, flushed with enthusiasm, went on to tell of the many strange ways of the submerged life: the many decks and "Occasional vistas" of the large ship; the fantastic compartment where the missiles are stacked ("Sherwood Forest"); the inertial navigating system which fixes automatically on an unseen star; the sonarman who knows the sounds that fish make; and the safeguards against an "accidental" launch.

The report is an important one, and I think you will find it sobering and, in many ways, reassuring.

WHAT NEXT (meanwhile) for Martin Agronsky?

"The day after the President's State of the Union message, I hope to start on 'Today,' a series of half-hour-weekly State of the Union interviews with the Cabinet members, starting, of course, with Dean Rusk.

"Interviews of this sort require some tact. You have to know, too, when to keep quiet. In other interviews, the trick is to be abrasive. I got Jimmy Hoffa so mad once, the argument went on in the studio for two and a half hours after we went off the air.

"Another thing: You must let your man know when to stop. I generally signal him to furnish by tapping him on the knee with my hand.

"I did that to Wayne Morse once, and he showed no signs of stopping. I tapped again. Nothing. Finally, I kicked him under the table and Sen. Morse said, 'Don't kick me under the table, Martin. I'm going right on until I've had my say.'

"We threw up our hands and sat back. He had his say."

Dick Powell Reported Suffering Cancer Pain

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor-producer Dick Powell is in severe pain from a cancer that apparently has spread to his lower back, his physician says.

Dr. John C. Sharpe reported that Powell, 57, is under almost continuous sedation.

Dr. Sharpe said the malignancy, although not detectable by X-ray, apparently has spread to Powell's lower back.

The physician said cobalt treatments have practically cleared up cancer in Powell's lymph glands and upper right chest cavity, where it was first discovered.

Powell entered a hospital Nov. 27, for treatment of what was then believed to be a muscle spasm resulting from a heavy cold.

Air Officer Killed

URBANA, Ill. (AP)—An officer at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio, 1st Lt. Keith E. Kidwell, 22, was killed when his auto collided with a gas truck a mile south of here Wednesday. Police said Kidwell, of Yale, Ill., failed to make a curve.

Accountant Convicted In New York Murder

NEW YORK (AP)—James Mullooly, who believed he had "a divine calling" to kill his spinster sister's employer because he suspected they were having an affair, was convicted Wednesday of second-degree murder.

Mullooly, 41, a gray-haired accountant, shot and mortally wounded oil executive Taylor S. Gay last June 11 as Gay stood in a New York terminal of the Hudson & Manhattan Railroad.

The 55-year-old vice president of the Phillips Petroleum Co. had escorted Mullooly's sister, Mary, 42, to the terminal following one of a series of occasional dinner dates described by Miss Mullooly as purely platonic. The woman, who worked as Gay's secretary, was returning to the Jersey City, N.J., home she shared with her brother.

Hancock Organization To Aid Child, Woman

Plans were approved to provide therapy for a woman and to pay for treatments received by a youngster at Children's Hospital in Pittsburgh when the Hancock County Society for Crippled Children and Adults met Tuesday night in Weirton.

An annual Christmas party, featuring a gift exchange, was held. Mrs. Richard Varner presided. Mrs. Ann Matthews led opening prayer.

Prizes in games were awarded Mrs. Varner, Mrs. David Hair, Mrs. Frank Irwin and Mrs. John Tisch. Lunch was served by Mrs. Howard Lydick, hostess.

$2.4 Billion Believed Needed For Soil And Water Projects

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department estimates expenditures of $2.4 billion would be required to meet the nation's full soil and water conservation needs next year.

No exact figures are available on the amount spent annually in recent years for these purposes, but officials say it is far below $2.4 billion.

The 1963 estimate was made by the department for use in allocating an estimated $210 million to the states for payments and other assistance to farmers carrying out approved soil and water conservation practices under its agricultural conservation program.

To get these payments, farmers must at least match the federal grants. In recent years about 30 per cent of the nation's farms have participated in this program.

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Agriculture Department report says the corn crop is the major use of fertilizer in this country.

Census figures were said to show that in 1959, corn used 40 per cent, hay and pasture 13 per cent, cotton 9, vegetables 9, fruits and nuts 4, and tobacco 3. The remainder of the supply was divided among other crops.

Officials said it is possible that corn now uses even a larger portion.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Next year's wheat crop may reverse this year's trend and add more of the grain to the nation's surplus.

An Agriculture Department report Wednesday said a 1963 winter wheat crop of 1,028,000,000 bushels is indicated on the basis of fall plantings and crop conditions. No estimate was given for spring wheat which will be seeded next spring.

But assuming an average spring crop of 252 million bushels, total production next year would be 1,280,000,000 bushels, or around 55 million more than may be needed domestically and for export. This extra would go to the reserve and surplus supply now expected to total 1.2 billion bushels at the beginning of the 1963 crop marketing year.

Offer Made In Cleveland Paper Strike

CLEVELAND (AP) — Attention was focused today on a proposal from the publishers on the key union security issue that has stalled negotiations in the 21-day Newspaper Guild strike against Cleveland's two daily newspapers.

The proposal was not disclosed.

Representatives of the newspapers—the Plain Dealer and the Press and News—and the Guild are to return to the bargaining table at 4:30 p.m. in an effort to settle the dispute.

A decision on acceptance or rejection is expected from the Guild negotiators, who spent the night studying the offer made in writing by the management of the afternoon Press and News.

The problem in talks so far has been centered on the commercial department of the Scripps-Howard newspaper. It was reported that the language in the offer involves those 278 employes.

The proposal was made late Wednesday.

Involved in the dispute over the question of union security are provisions dealing with maintenance of membership in the editorial departments and an agency shop for business employes at the press.

In another development Wednesday night, the Unity Group, consisting of nine AFL - CIO craft unions from the papers, rejected an invitation to attend a meeting the Teamsters Union has scheduled this morning.

The Unity Group previously expelled the independent Teamsters Union because 405 drivers had crossed picket lines set up by the Guild. The craft unions also are seeking contract settlements but are not on strike.

Clevelander Receives Life Term In Slaying

CLEVELAND (AP)—A panel of three Common Pleas Court judges has convicted Morris Brown, 26, of second-degree murder and sentenced him to life imprisonment.

Judges Daniel Wasserman, William McDermott and Victor Cohen Wednesday found Brown guilty of shooting Nancy Logan, 38, last June 21.

Out Of The Air

By ALAN GILL

Martin Agronsky Visits Polaris Sub

At the height of the Adlai Stevenson-Saturday Evening Post imbroglio, Hugh Downs interviewed our U.N. ambassador on the "Today" show and it was a mess.

Alan Gill

Downs, who wasn't listening to Stevenson, was asking him the pesty little questions Stevenson had just answered, and Stevenson on his part was getting peevish. "Today's" error was in not using its own best interviewer — the man who knows how to do homework, how to ask questions, how to listen, how to get the complete story—Martin Agronsky.

-:-

AGRONSKY, a tall, slender, frighteningly articulate man has been up to his ears, though, in other matters of considerable moment — specifically, a one-hour NBC News special called "Polaris Submarine: Journal of an Undersea Voyage."

With an associate producer and a camera team, Agronsky spent 16 midsummer days on the USS George Washington and at long last had the story to tell. He told it Wednesday night.

"We shot almost 21 hours of film," he was saying the other day, "and we've got it down to an hour.

"We followed two threads — one political, one human. Politically we must understand that the Polaris sub is our last-ditch nuclear deterrent, with a firepower in its 16 missiles equal to all the World War II bombs, including those dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki. Its full complement could take out England.

"CONCEIVABLY, the enemy could have a system to take out our SAC bombers. Conceivably, and with reasonable accuracy, he could darn near cripple our soft (meaning above-ground) and hard (underground) missile bases.

"That leaves Polaris, the last invulnerable means of massive retaliation. At least, from what we know of underwater detection and antisub weapons, it's invulnerable.

"And because the purpose of this last, ultimate weapon is deterrence, it would be a failure if it ever were used. America would already have been attacked and, to a large degree — well, gone.

"The human thread of our story is in the fact that every guy on that sub understands all this — the terrible finality of it — and the show was oriented to show how these 125 to 130 officers and men live with the fact.

"WE GOT conversations in the wardroom and mess, and you could see how articulate and intelligent, how very sophisticated these guys are. After all, they are technicians in the most sophisticated kind of electronic apparatus."

Agronsky, flushed with enthusiasm, went on to tell of the many strange ways of the submerged life: the many decks and "Occasional vistas" of the large ship; the fantastic compartment where the missiles are stacked ("Sherwood Forest"); the inertial navigating system which fixes automatically on an unseen star; the sonarman who knows the sounds that fish make; and the safeguards against an "accidental" launch.

The report is an important one, and I think you will find it sobering and, in many ways, reassuring.

WHAT NEXT (meanwhile) for Martin Agronsky?

"The day after the President's State of the Union message, I hope to start on 'Today,' a series of half-hour-weekly State of the Union interviews with the Cabinet members, starting, of course, with Dean Rusk.

"Interviews of this sort require some tact. You have to know, too, when to keep quiet. In other interviews, the trick is to be abrasive. I got Jimmy Hoffa so mad once, the argument went on in the studio for two and a half hours after we went off the air.

"Another thing: You must let your man know when to stop. I generally signal him to furnish by tapping him on the knee with my hand.

"I did that to Wayne Morse once, and he showed no signs of stopping. I tapped again. Nothing. Finally, I kicked him under the table and Sen. Morse said, 'Don't kick me under the table, Martin. I'm going right on until I've had my say.'

"We threw up our hands and sat back. He had his say."

Dick Powell Reported Suffering Cancer Pain

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor-producer Dick Powell is in severe pain from a cancer that apparently has spread to his lower back, his physician says.

Dr. John C. Sharpe reported that Powell, 57, is under almost continuous sedation.

Dr. Sharpe said the malignancy, although not detectable by X-ray, apparently has spread to Powell's lower back.

The physician said cobalt treatments have practically cleared up cancer in Powell's lymph glands and upper right chest cavity, where it was first discovered.

Powell entered a hospital Nov. 27, for treatment of what was then believed to be a muscle spasm resulting from a heavy cold.

Air Officer Killed

URBANA, Ill. (AP)—An officer at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio, 1st Lt. Keith E. Kidwell, 22, was killed when his auto collided with a gas truck a mile south of here Wednesday. Police said Kidwell, of Yale, Ill., failed to make a curve.

Estranged Partners

By Marguerite Higgins

Moscow and Peking are giving every sign of heading toward divorce on grounds, so far, of mental cruelty.

Washington, of course, knew that the two weren't getting along too well, but was exhilarated at the frankness, ferocity and new dimensions of this inter-bloc spat as revealed by Mr. Khrushchev's public dressing down of Peking and Peking's fiery response.

It was more than enjoyment of the enemy's misfortunes. It was as if this falling out among the "bad man" of the East might somehow decisively soften their cold war against the "good men" of the West.

What is the logic for such conclusions? The feeling seems to be that if Peking talks tougher than Moscow, it must be tougher than Moscow. This gets transposed to mean (without much logic) that Peking is therefore the real cause of Moscow's toughness. And if Peking gets a divorce, Communist style, from Moscow, it no longer will be a bad influence.

DOES THIS in turn mean that Moscow will abandon its rough, Communist party manners, and behave in a more civilized way?

Despite the rosy glow gripping many in the New Frontier, there remain some highly respected, diplomatic hands warning that the greatest mistake would be to assume that a Sino-Soviet break would bring a sudden betterment in Russia's international manners.

Consider the facts as compared with the oratory about the alleged greater toughness of the Red Chinese. It did not require much toughness to take on an Indian army equipped with Enfield rifles. Here was no risk of nuclear war. The Soviet Union ran an infinitely greater risk of losing everything that the Bolshevik revolution had gained when it took the risk of nuclear destruction by provoking the U.S. in the Caribbean.

Indeed — and this is crucial — the Red Chinese have always acted only when they were 90 per cent sure that they ran no risk of nuclear retaliation. Such was the case in Korea, North Vietnam and Laos.

In the only instance in which nuclear power was interposed between the Red Chinese and their ambitions, the Red Chinese drew back. This was, of course, in the Formosa Straits.

In his own inimitable way, Khrushchev devastatingly drove home that there may be some paper dragons out East to keep company with the alleged paper tigers out West. Even India, as he put it, had the strength to liquidate colonialism on its shores in the form of the Portuguese colony of Goa. But Red China, Khrushchev pointed out, tolerates on its own coast the Portuguese colony of Macao and the British colony of Hong Kong.

Said Khrushchev: "By virtue of a whole number of circumstances, one sometimes has to live not among the scented roses but surrounded by brambles, and at times even close to the colonizers lavatory.

"Now would anybody condemn the Chinese people's republic because these fragments of colonialism remain untouched? It would be wrong to push Red China into actions which it regards as untimely. . . . The hour will come when our Chinese friends will decide that such a situation is intolerable. But when this will be done our Chinese friends will decide themselves. We do not hurry them."

Estranged Partners

By Marguerite Higgins

Moscow and Peking are giving every sign of heading toward divorce on grounds, so far, of mental cruelty.

Washington, of course, knew that the two weren't getting along too well, but was exhilarated at the frankness, ferocity and new dimensions of this inter-bloc spat as revealed by Mr. Khrushchev's public dressing down of Peking and Peking's fiery response.

It was more than enjoyment of the enemy's misfortunes. It was as if this falling out among the "bad man" of the East might somehow decisively soften their cold war against the "good men" of the West.

What is the logic for such conclusions? The feeling seems to be that if Peking talks tougher than Moscow, it must be tougher than Moscow. This gets transposed to mean (without much logic) that Peking is therefore the real cause of Moscow's toughness. And if Peking gets a divorce, Communist style, from Moscow, it no longer will be a bad influence.

DOES THIS in turn mean that Moscow will abandon its rough, Communist party manners, and behave in a more civilized way?

Despite the rosy glow gripping many in the New Frontier, there remain some highly respected, diplomatic hands warning that the greatest mistake would be to assume that a Sino-Soviet break would bring a sudden betterment in Russia's international manners.

Consider the facts as compared with the oratory about the alleged greater toughness of the Red Chinese. It did not require much toughness to take on an Indian army equipped with Enfield rifles. Here was no risk of nuclear war. The Soviet Union ran an infinitely greater risk of losing everything that the Bolshevik revolution had gained when it took the risk of nuclear destruction by provoking the U.S. in the Caribbean.

Indeed — and this is crucial — the Red Chinese have always acted only when they were 90 per cent sure that they ran no risk of nuclear retaliation. Such was the case in Korea, North Vietnam and Laos.

In the only instance in which nuclear power was interposed between the Red Chinese and their ambitions, the Red Chinese drew back. This was, of course, in the Formosa Straits.

In his own inimitable way, Khrushchev devastatingly drove home that there may be some paper dragons out East to keep company with the alleged paper tigers out West. Even India, as he put it, had the strength to liquidate colonialism on its shores in the form of the Portuguese colony of Goa. But Red China, Khrushchev pointed out, tolerates on its own coast the Portuguese colony of Macao and the British colony of Hong Kong.

Said Khrushchev: "By virtue of a whole number of circumstances, one sometimes has to live not among the scented roses but surrounded by brambles, and at times even close to the colonizers lavatory.

"Now would anybody condemn the Chinese people's republic because these fragments of colonialism remain untouched? It would be wrong to push Red China into actions which it regards as untimely. . . . The hour will come when our Chinese friends will decide that such a situation is intolerable. But when this will be done our Chinese friends will decide themselves. We do not hurry them."

ANNOUNCEMENTS

2 IN MEMORIAM

IN loving memory of our wife and mother, Jessie Stockdale who passed away December 20, 1961. Dear Mother thou has left us. Thy sufferings are now o'er; At the dear Old home no longer can we gather as before. For our family tie is broken. You have found the heavenly glory, which your family has yet to do. Your busy hands are resting Your work on earth is done. Your worries are all ended, your heavenly crown is won. Let us think of all you have said, And all the kind advice you gave. And let us do it now that you are dead. Our hearts still ache with loneliness. Our eyes shed many a tear. God only knows how we miss you as it ends the first year. Sadly missed by husband Otto, daughter Peggy, son Daniel and grandchildren. O. B. Stockdale and family.

DEYARMON, Walter. In loving memory of my beloved husband, who departed this life 14 years ago tomorrow, Dec. 23, 1948. Before my eyes he faded, Growing weaker every day. Doing all I could to save him. Until God took him away. — Wife Irene.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

2 IN MEMORIAM

IN loving memory of our wife and mother, Jessie Stockdale who passed away December 20, 1961. Dear Mother thou has left us. Thy sufferings are now o'er; At the dear Old home no longer can we gather as before, For our family tie is broken. You have found the heavenly glory, which your family has yet to do. Your busy hands are resting Your work on earth is done. Your worries are all ended, your heavenly crown is won. Let us think of all you have said, And all the kind advice you gave. And let us do it now that you are dead. Our hearts still ache with loneliness. Our eyes shed many a tear. God only knows how we miss you as it ends the first year. Sadly missed by husband Otto, daughter Peggy, son Daniel and grandchildren. O. B. Stockdale and family.

DEYARMON, Walter. In loving memory of my beloved husband, who departed this life 14 years ago tomorrow, Dec. 23, 1948. Before my eyes he faded, Growing weaker every day. Doing all I could to save him. Until God took him away. — Wife Irene.

IMPORTANT REASONS

WHY FORD OWNERS SHOULD HAVE REGULAR MAINTENANCE SERVICE PERFORMED AT OUR DEALERSHIP

- Work is performed by skilled technicians specially trained in the care of Ford cars.
- Our service department is equipped with special tools that are scientifically designed by the factory for the repair of Ford cars. This means better quality maintenance, done with greater efficiency at an economical cost.
- A complete stock of FoMoCo Genuine and Rotunda parts is available at our dealership. These parts are built to the same quality standards as the original equipment components of Ford vehicles. They are made right—to fit right—to last longer.
- The exclusive Rotunda Oil Filter saves the Ford owner both time and money. Oil and filter changes are required only twice-a-year, or at 6,000 mile intervals.

ELKTON AUCTION, ELKTON, OHIO

Elkton Auction Market Report Dec. 15.

Due to bad weather and roads, we had a light sale, but the prices were stronger on all classes of cattle.

Hogs and calves were very strong.

If you have any fine stock to sell we would be glad to handle them for you.

We have good truck service. Please make your call early.

Our regular Horse, Pony, and merchandise Sale every Wednesday evening at 7 p. m. Cattle sold every Saturday at 1 p. m.

Your business will be highly appreciated.

IMPORTANT REASONS

WHY FORD OWNERS SHOULD HAVE REGULAR MAINTENANCE SERVICE PERFORMED AT OUR DEALERSHIP

- Work is performed by skilled technicians specially trained in the care of Ford cars.
- Our service department is equipped with special tools that are scientifically designed by the factory for the repair of Ford cars. This means better quality maintenance, done with greater efficiency at an economical cost.
- A complete stock of FoMoCo Genuine and Rotunda parts is available at our dealership. These parts are built to the same quality standards as the original equipment components of Ford vehicles. They are made right—to fit right—to last longer.
- The exclusive Rotunda Oil Filter saves the Ford owner both time and money. Oil and filter changes are required only twice-a-year, or at 6,000 mile intervals.

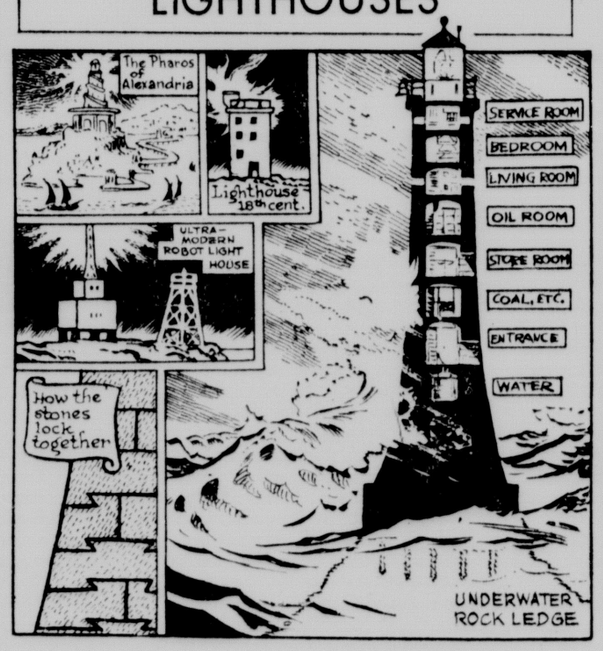
Junior Editors Quiz on LIGHTHOUSES



QUESTION: How are lighthouses built out in the ocean?

ANSWER: Lighthouses have been built as aids to mariners since the days of Egypt. The grandaddy of ancient lighthouses was the "Pharos," a large imposing tower constructed on the island of Pharos, near the city of Alexandria, between 283 and 242 B.C. This became so famous that is was called one of the seven wonders of the world and other lighthouses were called "pharos" after it. The first lighthouse did not have lamps but rather huge baskets of receptacles in which wood was burned, and this practice continued into the 18th century. A number of lighthouses seem to stand right in the sea itself, like the one in our picture. Actually, there is a reef or rock ledge underneath, as you can see by the dotted lines. These ledges are generally exposed at low tide, allowing the builders to get at them to bolt down the first tier of stones with metal rods. Sometimes a "cofferman" of sand bags is built around the spot to keep the water out. Notice (left) how each granite block locks into the next ones. When put together of blocks like these, a lighthouse will resist the fiercest storm.

FOR YOU TO DO: Look up the fascinating story of ancient Alexandria, where the Pharos was located. It lies on the Nile delta, where that river empties into the Mediterranean Sea. It is still a great city, with the name of El-Iskandariyah.

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, Dec. 20th the 354th day of 1962. There are 11 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1880, an English court ruled that the telephone company was an infraction of the telegraph company monopoly. As a result, all telephones in England now are operated by the government's Post Office Department.

On this day:

In 1792, the French government issued a decree of perpetual banishment against the Bourbon family.

In 1803, the United States took possession of Louisiana from France at a cost of $15 million.

In 1860, South Carolina became the first Southern state to secede from the Union.

In 1944, a Nazi offensive through Belgium continued to roll unchecked although American forces held firm along the rims of the enemy wedge.

Baseball executive Branch Rickey is 81. Australian Prime Minister Robert Menzies is 68.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My Christmas present came early this year. It was from you. I refer to the letter about teen-age girls backcombing their hair, torturing and teasing and spraying their lovely tresses until their hair looks like a deserted rat's nest.

Our own teen-age daughter used to sleep on iron rods every night. She complained of headaches at least twice a week. Every evening she devoted 45 minutes arranging the mop. Believe me, Ann, the time could have been better spent on her studies.

When your column appeared I said nothing. I knew she'd see it. She always does. The following Saturday she came bouncing into the house shouting, "Mother, I have a surprise for you. How do you like me?"

Her hair was cut, brushed back, delightfully natural, refreshingly girlish and ever so much more attractive. Now my daughter has hair instead of hay, and you did it, Ann. I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart.—GRATEFUL MOTHER.

Dear Mother: And you are welcome — from the bottom of mine.

Community Property

Dear Ann: I'm 24 and he is 29. We are engaged to be married in the spring.

Something is troubling me. During my working years I've accumulated more than $3,000 which I have invested in a mutual fund. When a woman marries should she change everything to joint ownership? He knows I have stock but never has made any suggestions. He has stock, too, but I don't know how much.

My fiance is sensible, mature and completely trustworthy. I'm inclined to want to hang on to just a little of my financial independence. Is this wrong? I feel guilty. Perhaps I am looking at it from a single-girl point of view and need someone to shake some sense into my head. How about it?—HIGH HOPES.

Dear High: In a first marriage, such as yours, I believe in joint ownership across the board. The more "ours" and the less "mine and thine" the better.

You and your fiance should frankly discuss what each of you owns and all holdings should be converted to joint ownership.

Tippling Wife

Dear Ann: My wife drinks. I don't mean just at parties. She drink at home, starting in the morning. The gin is in the mouthwash bottle.

Our oldest son is 11. He takes his mother's drinking as a matter of course. Last week he had a little friend in after school. The boy asked why his mother laughed so loud and talked so funny and kept saying the same things over. Our son replied, "She always acts like that when she's drunk."

My wife is an intelligent and fine person. Her mother was an accomplished musician and her father a distinguished attorney. I've tried to get her to see a doctor but she refuses. She says liquor makes her happy and relieves her of worry and tension. When I ask her what she is worried about she says she doesn't know.

I've suggested Alcoholics Anonymous but she says it wouldn't be dignified for a woman of her social standing to appear at a AA meeting. What can I do to help her?—D.

Dear D.: Alcoholism is democratic. It happens to people on all social levels. Perhaps your wife thinks it is more "dignified" to appear intoxicated before her children and their friends?

I suggest Al-Anon for you. This branch of AA helps members of the family learn how to live with an alcoholic and often this knowledge helps persuade the alcoholic to change his attitude about getting outside help.

PTA Meets At Glenmoor

A Christmas program featured the meeting of the Glenmoor Parent - Teacher Association Tuesday evening at the school with Mrs. Velma Gilbert, program chairman, in charge. About 25 attended.

Mrs. Carol McCormick and Mrs. Arlene Lanam presented the program, sang a duet and led group singing of Christmas carols. Mrs. Nell Pelley was the accompanist.

The Rev. James Donald, minister of the Glenmoor United Presbyterian Church, led devotions.

Business was conducted by Mrs. Clara Chapman, president. A letter was read from the Columbiana County PTA Area Council, announcing a meeting for Jan. 23 at the Beaver Public School. Judge Louis Tobin will be the guest speaker, discussing "Mental Health."

Tentative plans were made for a carnival in April and chairmen will be named later.

Mrs. Charles Leonard's third grade won the attendance banner.

Next meeting is Jan. 15.

75 At Wellsville Cub Pack's Party

Seventy - five attended a Christmas party held by Wellsville Cub Scout Pack 20 Tuesday night in the Covenant Presbyterian Church. A number of awards were presented.

There was group singing of carols around a tree that was decorated with ornaments made by each den.

Robert Seigler, cubmaster, presented roundup patches to Jeff Wellington, Darrell Nightingale, Lee Crooks Jr. and Art Fraser. John Carosiello received a bear book Crooks, a lion book and two-year pin and Glenn Baldwin a one-year pin.

Dr. William McCutcheon received a two - year pin and Lee Crooks received a one-year pin as committee members.

A gift exchange was held and each youngster was given a treat. Dr. McCutcheon screened movies. The den mothers served refreshments. John Smith offered the opening prayer.

Next meeting is Jan. 22.

12 At Brick Plant Will Receive Pins

The Globe Brick Co. of Newell today announced 12 employes will receive 15- and 25-year service pins Friday.

No special ceremony is planned. The men will be presented the pins when they report to the office for their pay.

Nine are receiving 15-year pins. They include Donald Arrington, Richard Carter and Ralph A. Hartill, all of East Liverpool, Kenneth Carter of Wellsville, Arthur DeLong, Willis B. Strum and Ed Tice, all of Newell, and Denzil Jones and William A. Siegman of New Cumberland.

Three are receiving 25 - year pins. They are Samuel J. Channels of East Liverpool and Adam J. Gibas and James H. Reese of Newell.

Christmas Program Set At Midland High

A Christmas program will be presented Friday afternoon at Midland Lincoln High School, prior to the dismissal at 2:45 p. m. for the Christmas holidays.

Cathy Roach will present a medley of Christmas carols at the organ and the Brass Choir will play carols.

The Latin, Spanish and French Classes will sing carols.

The high school choir will present selections.

"The Christmas Story" and poems will be presented by the speech class.

John E. Wilson, elementary supervising principal, announced that parties in the elementary schools will be held Friday in each homeroom.

Policeman Loses Uniform, Bullets To Thief In Gym

CINCINNATI (AP)—This isn't a call for "Car 54, where are you." It's a call for "Badge 631, where are you—and where is the uniform that goes with you?"

Patrolman James Holland went to the L.B. Harrison club Wednesday to practice basketball. When he finished his uniform, including his badge, shoes, socks and bullets, had been stolen from the locker. The thief didn't get Holland's gun because he had it with him.

Holland, clad only in sweatshirt and gym shorts, had to call a fellow officer to take him home.

Police still don't know whether it was an actual theft or a practical joke, but the badge and the uniform are missing.

Engineers Seek Bids For Ohio River Locks

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP) — Bids will be asked next month on the Belleville Locks and Dam project on the Ohio River. Estimated cost of the project is $10 million.

The locks and dam will be 20 miles downstream from Parkersburg, W.Va.

The U.S. Engineers, who sent advance notice to bidders Wednesday, said the invitation for bids would be issued about Jan. 18 and bids opened about Feb. 28.

The project involves construction of two concrete locks, operations building and guard walls.

Car Kills Pedestrian

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mrs. Sadie Liotta, 59, was killed Wednesday night when she was hit by an automobile at the intersection of Silverdale Avenue and Broadview.

School Plan Set In Beaver

BEAVER — Working between the diverse wishes of 41 school districts and the mandate of Act 561, the Beaver County School Board Tuesday night announced the best county plan for reorganization it could devise "under existing circumstances."

The county plan calls for setting up 10 school systems. The reorganization includes the formation of the New Brighton area and Northeastern area as one system. The Beaver Falls area would stand alone as would Aliquippa.

The proposed Unit C of the county plan would include Midland, Western Beaver County and Beaver area while Unit E would combine the Southern Beaver County Joint School District and the Hopewell - Independence - Raccoon District.

Philco Workers Given Job Transfer Options

DETROIT (AP)—The 300 employes of Philco Corp.'s Sandusky, Ohio, car radio plant being shut down will have the right to transfer to a Philco plant in Philadelphia on a seniority basis.

This was announced here Wednesday as result of an out-of-court settlement between Philco and its parent company, the Ford Motor Co. on one side and Local 701, International Union of Electrical Workers, on the other.

The union had sued in Federal Court to protect seniority rights of the employes. Most of them are women.

Community Property

Dear Ann: I'm 24 and he is 29. We are engaged to be married in the spring.

Something is troubling me. During my working years I've accumulated more than $3,000 which I have invested in a mutual fund. When a woman marries should she change everything to joint ownership? He knows I have stock but never has made any suggestions. He has stock, too, but I don't know how much.

My fiance is sensible, mature and completely trustworthy. I'm inclined to want to hang on to just a little of my financial independence. Is this wrong? I feel guilty. Perhaps I am looking at it from a single-girl point of view and need someone to shake some sense into my head. How about it?—HIGH HOPES.

Dear High: In a first marriage, such as yours, I believe in joint ownership across the board. The more "ours" and the less "mine and thine" the better.

You and your fiance should frankly discuss what each of you owns and all holdings should be converted to joint ownership.

Tippling Wife

Dear Ann: My wife drinks. I don't mean just at parties. She drink at home, starting in the morning. The gin is in the mouthwash bottle.

Our oldest son is 11. He takes his mother's drinking as a matter of course. Last week he had a little friend in after school. The boy asked why his mother laughed so loud and talked so funny and kept saying the same things over. Our son replied, "She always acts like that when she's drunk."

My wife is an intelligent and fine person. Her mother was an accomplished musician and her father a distinguished attorney. I've tried to get her to see a doctor but she refuses. She says liquor makes her happy and relieves her of worry and tension. When I ask her what she is worried about she says she doesn't know.

I've suggested Alcoholics Anonymous but she says it wouldn't be dignified for a woman of her social standing to appear at a AA meeting. What can I do to help her?—D.

Dear D.: Alcoholism is democratic. It happens to people on all social levels. Perhaps your wife thinks it is more "dignified" to appear intoxicated before her children and their friends?

I suggest Al-Anon for you. This branch of AA helps members of the family learn how to live with an alcoholic and often this knowledge helps persuade the alcoholic to change his attitude about getting outside help.

Next meeting is Jan. 15.

Car Kills Pedestrian

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mrs. Sadie Liotta, 59, was killed Wednesday night when she was hit by an automobile at the intersection of Silverdale Avenue and Broadview.

Policeman Loses Uniform, Bullets To Thief In Gym

CINCINNATI (AP)—This isn't a call for "Car 54, where are you." It's a call for "Badge 631, where are you—and where is the uniform that goes with you?"

Patrolman James Holland went to the L.B. Harrison club Wednesday to practice basketball. When he finished his uniform, including his badge, shoes, socks and bullets, had been stolen from the locker. The thief didn't get Holland's gun because he had it with him.

Holland, clad only in sweatshirt and gym shorts, had to call a fellow officer to take him home.

Police still don't know whether it was an actual theft or a practical joke, but the badge and the uniform are missing.

Engineers Seek Bids For Ohio River Locks

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP) — Bids will be asked next month on the Belleville Locks and Dam project on the Ohio River. Estimated cost of the project is $10 million.

The locks and dam will be 20 miles downstream from Parkersburg, W.Va.

The U.S. Engineers, who sent advance notice to bidders Wednesday, said the invitation for bids would be issued about Jan. 18 and bids opened about Feb. 28.

The project involves construction of two concrete locks, operations building and guard walls.

School Plan Set In Beaver

BEAVER — Working between the diverse wishes of 41 school districts and the mandate of Act 561, the Beaver County School Board Tuesday night announced the best county plan for reorganization it could devise "under existing circumstances."

The county plan calls for setting up 10 school systems. The reorganization includes the formation of the New Brighton area and Northeastern area as one system. The Beaver Falls area would stand alone as would Aliquippa.

The proposed Unit C of the county plan would include Midland, Western Beaver County and Beaver area while Unit E would combine the Southern Beaver County Joint School District and the Hopewell - Independence - Raccoon District.

Philco Workers Given Job Transfer Options

DETROIT (AP)—The 300 employes of Philco Corp.'s Sandusky, Ohio, car radio plant being shut down will have the right to transfer to a Philco plant in Philadelphia on a seniority basis.

This was announced here Wednesday as result of an out-of-court settlement between Philco and its parent company, the Ford Motor Co. on one side and Local 701, International Union of Electrical Workers, on the other.

The union had sued in Federal Court to protect seniority rights of the employes. Most of them are women.
